Russia Suggests Negotiations In Field

Allies Also Meet Strong Enemy Fire

Tokyo, Thursday (AP)—The Communists made strong probing attacks today on the central Korea front. They were hurled back. But Allied patrols stabbing at suspected Red buildup areas were showered with mortar and automatic weapon fire.

Fighting was bitter.

It came as the Russians reportedly suggested that any truce in the fighting be negotiated by the commanders of the North Korean and United Nations forces.

Associated Press Correspondent Nate Polowetzky said the Russian move caused mild surprise at Eighth Army. The offer, he noted, was startlingly similar to the proposal by Gen. Douglas MacArthur that he meet with Red field commanders to discuss steps for ending the Korean war.

Neither Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U. N. supreme commander, nor Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, would comment on the reported Russian proposal. A spokesman for Ridgway said the supreme commander would have to consult with the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington.

Fifth Air Force pilots reported sighting heavy southbound vehicular traffic on the main roads south of Wonsan and Yangdok on the east coast. They also reported enemy vehicles moving on the supply routes between Sinanju, northwestern Korea, and Pyongyang, Korean Communist capital.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker said frontline officers expect a Red attack in the western sector by the second week in July.

Elements of an Allied division in the Kumhwa sector of the central front battled all night.

A pooled dispatch said a battalion-size attack hit east of Kumhwa last night but, by early today, was driven back under a night-long artillery barrage.

The Reds hit in the same sector two hours later and made a slight dent in the U. N. position. But counterattacking Allied forces restored their line by morning after inflicting heavy losses on the Communists.

A third attack was turned back into the predawn hours. Then at 4:30 a.m. the Chinese charged just east of Kumhwa and were cut down by U. N. artillery.

North Korean Communists farther east unloosed several small attacks northeast of Yanggu, sped at the eastern end of the sprawling Hwachon reservoir.

These attacks were described in a pooled dispatch as "probing and harassing." They were broken up by Allied artillery and mortar fire.

Allied patrols met stubborn enemy resistance as they moved toward Kumsong, suspected hub of another Red buildup on the central front. Hundreds of dug-in Reds beat back U. N. attempts to move into the area.

In the west there was no significant fighting as patrols moved through the Imjin river area north of Seoul.

Yesterday, Allied forces were held to probing advances of one to three miles along the irregular 100-mile front.

Senate Defeats Disperal Bill

Washington (AP)—The Senate rejected last night a move for dispersing future industrial plants widely instead of concentrating them in relatively few areas.

By a rollcall vote of 56 to 25, the chamber defeated the O'Mahoney amendment to the pending price-wage controls bill.

Under this amendment, the approval of the President would be required for the location of any new defense plant. He would take into consideration such factors as vulnerability to attack and the availability of unused natural resources.

The vote followed a sharp debate over whether big corporations and crowded industrial areas are getting a top-heavy share of defense work and profits.

Truman Suspends Revenue Collector

Washington (AP) — Denis W. Delaney, collector of internal revenue at Boston, was suspended by President Truman yesterday pending an investigation of the manner in which he has conducted his office.

A House ways and means subcommittee called immediately for an official report on the suspension.

The White House announcement of action against Delaney was contained in a single sentence. It merely said "certain charges" had been made against the 54-year-old collector, and that these would be looked into.

Senate Keeps Rollback Ban In Price Bill

Washington, (AP)—The Senate dealt a body blow to President Truman's economic controls program last night amid a tangled legislative situation which threw the whole future of controls into doubt.

By a roll call vote of 61 to 26, the Senate refused to strike from its controls bill a provision forbidding any rollbacks on the price of live beef and other commodities which would send the prices lower than those prevailing in the period Jan. 25-Feb. 24.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston has warned that this prohibition would cost consumers between $10,000,000,000 and $12,000,000,000 in higher prices.

The Senate took its action in working on a controls bill to replace the existing defense production act, expiring Saturday.

While it drove at full speed to pass the bill by this afternoon at the latest, House leaders made a bipartisan agreement to extend the nation's economic controls through July on a stopgap basis.

They gave up hope of having a new defense production act ready by midnight Saturday, when current controls on prices, wages, rents and credit die.

But the Senate must concur in any stopgap legislation. And Senator McFarland of Arizona, the Senate's Democratic leader, told a reporter Senate leaders "are not thinking now" of going along with the House on any short-term extension.

He said he had conferred with House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) and told him the Senate hopes the House will get a complete bill passed instead of an extension resolution.

It is unlikely that Congress would permit its anti-inflation control to lapse, even temporarily.

But to avoid this situation the Senate will either have to go along with the House on emergency legislation or the House will have to turn on the steam and get a bill passed by the deadline.

Debate hasn't even started yet on the House bill. It will come on the floor with 57 separate committee amendments, each of which is subject to debate and separate roll calls.

Senator Douglas (D-Ill) led the fight to remove the anti-rollback provision from the Senate bill. It was considered a key test of the willingness of the Senate to go along with Mr. Truman on a program of sterner controls.

Republicans joined Democrats in the House in supporting a resolution by Chairman Spence (D-Ky) of the House Banking committee to extend the present controls for 31 days. It is expected to meet with little opposition when it comes up in the House Friday.

Author of the limitation on rollbacks was Senator Maybank (D-SC), who contended the threat of further orders to lower prices should be removed from American business. Senator George (D-Ga) joined him with an assertion that if the power to make rollbacks were left in the bill "it will virtually stagnate business."

Port Bill Passes

Harrisburg (AP) — The House yesterday unanimously approved a bill setting up the Delaware River Port Authority. The measure goes to the Governor for his signature. The measure provides for the appointment by New Jersey and Pennsylvania of members to the authority for the purpose of building and maintaining means of transportation across the river between the two states.

Contractors Start Building Road To Site Of Proposed Army Depot At Tobyhanna

Tobyhanna—Rochez Brothers, Inc., East Pittsburgh, Pa., contractors, have started to slash a right-of-way for a road leading to the site of the $30,000,000 Signal Corps Depot on a 1,400-acre section of the old military reservation here.

Actual work on site preparation has not started, but bulldozers and other heavy equipment are clearing brush, small trees and other obstructions to an approach to the site.

Capt. John A. Myers, Army Corps of Engineers resident engineer, noted yesterday that Rochez Bros. Inc., had been given "notice of contract award" last Thursday. The contract between the Army Corps of Engineers and the firm is now in process of negotiations.

Next step when contract is signed, Captain Myers explained, is for the Engineers Corps to give notice to the contractor to proceed with the work.

The East Pittsburgh firm was apparent low bidder with a figure of $2,899,579.50 when bids were opened earlier this month by Corps of Engineers district office in Philadelphia.

Dating from date of official notice contract has been awarded, the contract has 150 days to complete the project of grading and drainage.

In a letter received here yesterday, Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-20th District) said the Army Engineers will permit construction workers to be quartered in buildings on the reservation. However, it is up to contractors involved to provide housing for the works, and, should they use any of these buildings, they must pay expenses to make necessary repairs.

George Nicholson, general superintendent in charge of the Rochez Bros., Inc. project, has established an office on the site tract.

Heavy equipment continues to arrive on the site where it is being readied for formal notice that contract has been negotiated and approved. Meanwhile, the task of assembling a labor force to supplement key workers of Rochez Bros. Inc. is progressing.

Fine Proposes Pay Hike For State Workers

Harrisburg (AP) — Gov. John S. Fine yesterday proposed a 10 percent cost-of-living salary increase for Pennsylvania's 50,000 State employes.

At the same time the General Assembly handed the Governor its idea of a raise for its own members—a $50 monthly increase in expense allowance for 208 representatives and 50 senators.

The Governor estimated the State employes' salary boost would cost $9,000,000 in the 1951-53 biennium. A $600 annual increase for 258 legislators would amount to $309,600 in the same two-year period.

The House passed finally the measure increasing legislators' expense allowances from $1200 to $1800 annually. The vote was 189-15. It passed the Senate earlier in the week with six votes against

Winds, Rains Pound Nation

(By The Associated Press)

Tornado winds and storms and hail pounded parts of the midwest and east yesterday. At least six persons were feared dead and damage to crops and property was heavy.

A tornado slashed through a ten-block residential area in the 2,000-population western Kansas town of Wakeeney, killing four persons and injuring about 40.

A storm with wind gusts unofficially estimated at 100 miles an hour battered a 40-mile-wide area in central Illinois.

The Illinois Power Co. said damage to its lines in the storm area was the worst in 15 years. The wind also tore away power lines and ripped up trees. The tender new corn crop and some buildings were damaged by hail.

British Halt Pumping Of Aghajari Oil

Tehran, Iran (AP) — The British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. shut off the pumps in the Aghajari oil field and started calling the 700 British technicians on its field staff to the refinery port of Abadan yesterday for the zero hour of "operation Exodus."

That hour may strike today. Premier Mohammed Mossadegh called a Cabinet meeting.

His government is checking the possibility of getting other foreign help in the event the British decline to continue as employes of the Iranian National Oil Co., a government agency Mossadeh has designated as successor to the AIOC.

A dispatch from Rome said a high official of Italy's state oil monopoly, Count Ettore Caraffa D'Andria, is visiting Iran with the approval of the Italian government. Informed sources were quoted.

The informants said Mossadegh's government wanted to know about the legal and financial organization of the Italian company, known as "AGIP," and its relations with foreign oil companies.

Some officials of the billion-dollar AIOC expect word from London in the next 24 hours—unless there is an unforeseen break in the oil nationalization dispute—to abandon its holdings in this sun-baked hotspot and go ahead with the evacuation of the British staff.

Acheson Makes Plea To Iran

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson desperately appealed to Iran last night to make a stop-gap oil arrangement with the British and avert the disaster which he fears.

As he issued his statement, the British and Iranians were locked tighter than ever in a deadlock over Iran's nationalization of a vast oil industry which has been operated by the British.

Britain moved a cruiser to the Persian gulf and prepared, perhaps, to evacuate the entire staff of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. The British had shut off the pumps in the Aghapara field.

Acheson appealed for a stop-gap plan under which British technicians would remain to keep the oil, vital to Western Europe's defenses against Russia, flowing.

The secretary of state warned that the methods followed by Iran in her nationalization drive threatens a complete shutdown of the oil fields and economic distress to Iran's people.

Largely unspoken was the fear that if the Iranian oil industry shuts down for any extended period, there may be explosive disorders in Iran which, with Russia on the country's northern border, could lead to events of grave import for the whole world.

Reaction To Talks One Of Pessimism

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—The U.S. ambassador to Moscow and Russia's ranking deputy foreign minister talked over in deep secrecy yesterday Jacob A. Malik's bid for ending the war in Korea. The first reaction in western circles in Moscow was somewhat pessimistic, with hints a truce conference may be coming up in the Russian capital.

Malik himself remained ill—and obviously without further instructions—in his summer home at Glen Cove, Long Island. In answer to requests for clarification, a spokesman said "I am authorized to state that Mr. Malik's radio speech explains clearly enough his view on the Korean question."

Clarification is sought by all 16 United Nations fighting in Korea. Their diplomats, meeting in Washington, declared their readiness to join in "action designed to bring about a genuine and enduring peace in Korea."

Malik caused the furore Saturday by proposing in a speech over a U.N. radio program that the belligerents get together for cease-fire talks and arrange a mutual withdrawal of troops from the 38th parallel.

The spokesman said Malik had seen none of the numerous diplomats who have been trying to see him and get further details. This included U. S. Ambassador Ernest A. Gross, who has been instructed by Secretary of State Acheson to see the highest ranking Russian possible at the U. N., and Assembly President Nasrollah Entezam of Iran.

U. S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk got the same instructions in Moscow and was received for 20 minutes yesterday by Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyka, who had just returned from futile talks in Paris with the west.

At the end of the Moscow session, Kirk was not talking to outsiders but the impression prevailed in western circles in the Russian capital that Gromyko's ideas might not be received enthusiastically in Washington.

One Moscow diplomat gloomily put it this way: "We may be back where we started."

Others said the world situation is going to get worse before it gets better.

A strong hint of the American position came in Washington. There Secretary Acheson told the House Foreign Affairs committee that if a cease-fire can be arranged the "greatest guarantee" against new aggression would be the withdrawal of Chinese troops beyond the Yau river boundary between Korea and Manchuria.

Acheson said that might involve a withdrawal by stages of all foreign troops but that would take time because South Korean forces would have to be strengthened to resist anything which occurred.

Acheson told the committee members that the U. S. is attempting to find out by the most direct possible means the Russian intentions.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie flew in from an interrupted vacation in Norway to lend a hand in talks here. He conferred first with close aides and then talked with Entezam for 50 minutes.

Lie said on his return that he is "always hopeful."

Noted Actor Dies

War Commanders Would Represent N. Korea And U.N.

Washington (AP) — Russia is reported to have told the United States yesterday that moves toward a truce in Korea should take the form of military negotiations between the North and United Nations field commanders.

Russia's reported suggestion thus would leave the Chinese Communists out of any impending cease-fire talks, apparently except as advisers to the North Koreans.

Red China has contended all along that Chinese Communist troops fighting in Korea are simply "volunteers" although they are the main force fighting the United Nations.

It was understood last night that talks in Moscow yesterday between U.S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrie Gromyko produced the Russian "clarification" suggesting that the military commanders negotiate cease-fire terms.

Kirk Confers With Gromyko In Moscow

Moscow (AP)— U. S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk and Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko talked for 20 minutes yesterday about the Russian proposal for a cease-fire in Korea. Not all were optimistic in the diplomatic colony, but some speculated on the possibility of a Moscow truce parley.

A number of diplomats here clung to the view the world situation is going to get worse before it gets better. They said in advance that Gromyko's views, which Kirk is relaying to Washington, might not get a whole-hearted reception in the West.

"We may be back where we started," one said.

Kirk declined comment on the talk, but Washington had instructed him to seek clarification of Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik's proposal in a United Nations broadcast Saturday for a cease-fire in Korea and withdrawal of troops from the 38th parallel.

Kirk was accompanied to the Foreign ministry by the embassy counsellor, Edward L. Freers, and First Secretary Richard M. Service.

Mac Probers Warn Russia U. S. Is United

Washington (AP)— Senators who quarreled over the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur teamed up yesterday to warn Russia that "ultimate destruction" awaits any aggressor who starts war on the mistaken idea that Americans are badly split.

"The issues which might divide our people are far transcended by the things which unite them," said a statement approved by members of the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees. Those groups, which made the long study of Far East policy set off by dismissal of the Pacific commander, directly addressed to "the Communist world" this word of caution:

"If threatened danger becomes war, the aggressor would find at one stroke arrayed against him the united energies, the united resources, and the united devotion of all the American people."

The statement also included words of reassurance for those in other countries of the free world who may have been disturbed by the disagreements which emerged in the hearings.

Another section aimed at Americans asserted that "our democracy has the vitality to withstand any strains that reflect the tensions of an uneasy world' and added:

"We are convinced that an open discussion of such differences brings strength and unity of purpose."

Kirk's report on his talks was rushed to the State department here yesterday afternoon.

There had been considerable confusion earlier over the meaning of a cease-fire proposal tossed out by Soviet U. N. Delegate Jacob Malik in a radio speech in New York last Saturday.

Malik had said that "the belligerents" should discuss an end to hostilities, but left it up in the air as to the exact identity of the "belligerents."

The confusion centered chiefly on Red China's official pretense that she is a non-belligerent.

The Kirk-Gromyko talk in Moscow and another approach to Malik in New York—both ordered by Secretary of State Acheson—are regarded here as the first steps in what may be fairly prolonged east-west exploratory discussions.

It is believed that some time may elapse before it can be known whether a cease-fire is in fact possible.

One point reportedly not cleared up yesterday in the Kirk-Gromyko talk was the matter of guarantees against a violation of any cease-fire agreement.

And because of western insistence on adequate guarantees, there is some reason to believe that simple military negotiations in the field are insufficient in the view of the American government.

More detailed political discussions may be put forward by Washington as essential.

Earlier in the day, diplomats of 16 United Nations countries fighting in Korea formally declared their readiness to end the war under terms designed to bring about "genuine and enduring peace" in Korea.

The group, meeting at the State department, signified their approval of truce moves as Secretary of State Acheson sketched the broad outline of possible steps for peace at a session with lawmakers on Capitol Hill.

Acheson called on Red China to pull back her troops into Manchuria—as evidence of good faith against further aggression—if a cease-fire is arranged in the Korean war.

The 16 U. N. members declared in a statement:

"The high purposes of the charter of the U. N., by which the members of the U. N. are solemnly bound, oblige them to take effective collective measures for the prevention and removal of threats to the peace and for the suppression of acts of aggression or other breaches of the peace.

"It was in accordance with these purposes that U. N. forces have been and are committed in Korea.

"The U. N. charter also enjoins its members to settle their international disputes by peaceful means.

"The representatives express their view that their governments have always been and still are ready to take part in action designed to bring about a genuine and enduring peace in Korea."

Secretary Acheson told Congress members that if Red China agreed to pull back her armies into Manchuria, such a step would "possibly involve" a gradual withdrawal of all foreign troops, including Americans, from Korea.

But Acheson warned, in testimony before a House committee, that any trickery or rekindling of hostilities after United Nations forces had left the Korean war zone might well explode World War Three.

"If there was a settlement, and if it was disturbed again in Korea, it would be a very dangerous step and would endanger world peace," Acheson said gravely.

"It would not be by accident. If it happened again, it would happen as a calculated design that would have to be fully understood."

Duff, Dewey Linked Behind Eisenhower

New York (AP)—Newsweek says Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Sen. James H. Duff, former governor of Pennsylvania have assured each other they will back Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination in 1952.

Last month, the magazine says in its July 2 issue, out today, the two men "held a very private meeting—their first since Duff opposed Dewey to the bitter end at the Republican convention in Philadelphia in 1948.

"It was arranged by Herbert Brownell, Dewey's 1948 campaign manager. It was highly cordial. The outcome was an exchange of assurances that Duff and Dewey would try to line up their states' delegations for an Eisenhower draft."

If the officials succeed in swinging "the two biggest state delegations' to Eisenhower, the magazine adds, it "would give the draft a tremendous, perhaps irresistible start."

Former Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota, now president of the University of Pennsylvania, also has assured Dewey in a telephone conversation he "was advising his friends in the Republican party to put their shoulders to the Eisenhower draft," Newsweek states.

It quotes the general's brother, Milton Eisenhower, now president of Pennsylvania State College, as saying that the general is a Republican by conviction, and might accept "a call to higher duty" when his military duties in Europe are fulfilled.

200 Citizens Get Evidence On Gambling

Lake Charles, La. (AP)— A group of more than 200 citizens adapting French underground methods to gather evidence on gambling in this southwest Louisiana parish (county) laid 100 specific charges on the district attorney's desk yesterday.

Attorney James Dewey O'Brien, temporary chairman of a secret five-member commission directing operations, told how evidence was collected "despite threats, both physical and financial."

Teams of one, two and sometimes three people were appointed by the commission to visit gambling joints. More than 200 citizens participated. They gathered evidence on 30 establishments.

"No one person ever knew the names of more than two other persons working in his area," O'Brien said. "That way we had almost no leaks."

This style of operation was suggested by Managing Editor Kenneth L. Dixon of the Lake Charles American Press, who was an Associated Press war correspondent in France during the last war, and by a World War Two veteran on the commission who had escaped from the Germans through the French Underground.

"The plan worked successfully," O'Brien said, "although many of the workers were threatened several times when some information leaked out, and most all commission members had some kind of pressure used on them."

Long Distance Operators Given Raise

Washington (AP)— A 10 per cent wage increase for 20,000 long distance telephone operators and service men was announced yesterday by the CIO's Communications Workers union.

The union said the increase was contained in a one-year contract agreement signed in New York with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

The agreement covers company employes working in 42 states and the District of Columbia.

It grants basic wage increases ranging from a low of $3 a week at starting rates in smaller towns to a high of $9 a week in the larger cities. Employes in 19 towns across the country were reclassified upwards by an additional $1 to $3 a week.

Guild Urges Mills In U.S.

Pittsburgh (AP)—The CIO American Newspaper guild yesterday urged the Federal government to lend money at low interests to U.S. manufactureres interested in setting up paper mills to provide domestic newsprint at reasonable prices.

Delegates to the ANG's 18th annual convention unanimously passed a resolution which accused "the newsprint monopoly" with "driving American newspapers to the wall by its extortionate price policies."

Federal Agent Calls Luciano, Deported Vice Czar, King Pin Of Threat-Ruled Dope Ring

Washington (AP) — A Federal agent yesterday called Charles (Lucky) Luciano "the king pin" in a dope trade which investigating senators said is ruled by the threat of death.

The deported vice czar, described as running his sinister kingdom from Italy through gunman agents, took top billing in a televised hearing before the Senate Crime committee.

Testimony about Luciano came from Charles Siragusa, Federal narcotics agent.

In living rooms across the nation, television viewers could note that addict witnesses, though voluble about many details of the sordid business, kept stubborn silence as to suppliers and sources. They wouldn't even say in public it was death they feared but senators said it for them.

The hearings which opened Tuesday with the victims' own stories of crime and prostitution "epidemic" among teen-agers to support the narcotics habit, is being televised in a committee effort to enlist the public in its campaign. The names of the addict witnesses, appearing under parole from Federal institutions where they are under treatment, are being kept secret and the video cameras avoid their faces.

There was no effort to link Luciano directly with the fear which kept the witnesses silent on details of where they got their "stuff," but much of the testimony ranged around that threat.

Chairman O'Conor (D-Md) brought out in questioning a 41-year-old Negro musician from Baltimore that the witness had told the committee in an earlier closed session that he feared for his life if he revealed names.

Senator Wiley (R-Wis), questioning a 21-year-old white trumpet player, originally from New York but a Washington resident for 10 years, pressed the point.

Wiley said the job of society is "to make it impossible for peddlers to ruin the lives of persons like yourself" and yet "you won't name the person in Washington who sold it to you."

The youth said he did not remember the last person from whom he bought, insisting he always got his heroin from peddlers who approached him on the street.

Siragusa reported on Luciano after investigations here and in Italy. His face was kept out of television cameras in order not to hamper his undercover work.

Siragusa named Luciano among other "dons" or leaders in the Mafia, shadowy underworld organization, and said narcotics is the Mafia's "most profitable" line.

He said that Luciano, deported in 1946 after serving part of a white slavery term in New York, has gunmen agents who enforce his orders in this country. Luciano gets his profits by international messenger, Siragusa testified.

He told of an affidavit by Luciano acknowledging "gifts" of "several thousand" dollars from the United States. He said Italian police obtained the statement upon his request.

The Federal agent said Joe Pici, deported to Italy after a white slavery conviction, is "Luciano's narcotics agent." He said he has reason to believe the man slipped secretly back to this country several years ago with a fortune in heroin which brought "a fabulous profit." He said 15 kilograms, or more than 30 pounds, was delivered to "the Mafia mob" in Kansas City.

Siragusa said one kilogram, to be bought in Italy for $1,000 to $1,500 in U. S. currency, will make several million of the adulterated capsules sold to addicts. Witnesses have told of paying $1.50 to $4 apiece for the "shots."

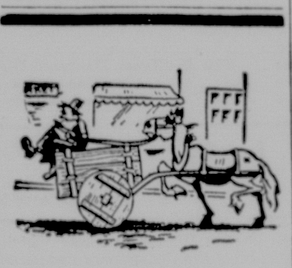

Reckless Driver Blames Ice Cream For Hangover

Logansport, Ind. (AP)—A new excuse—an ice cream hangover—got 76-year-old Joseph Sylvester the minimum fine—$1 on a reckless driving charge yesterday.

Sylvester's automobile sideswiped another car. He told a justice of the peace he had eaten too much ice cream. This caused him to burp, he said, and he lost control of his car.

Solicits Information

Harrisburg (AP) — Pennsylvania school officials were asked yesterday to report to the State any information they may have of "dope peddlers" approaching young people. The request was made in letters sent out by the Department of Public Instruction to school heads, college presidents and heads of State-owned and State-aided institutions.

HASH AND RE-HASH

Won't Plug Hole

A bill prohibiting cashing of relief checks at bars and taverns has been reported affirmatively by the Pennsylvania House of Representatives.

The aims of the bill are admirable. So what? The relief recipient will merely stop at the grocery store or some other place to get his check cashed, and proceed on his way to his favorite bar.

But whatever can be done to achieve the aims of the bills should be done. Tavern owners might help. So might the relief recipient's neighbors. And a closer check by relief authorities might be in order.

Relief checks weren't intended to be spent in taprooms.

Threat to State

Pennsylvania has deep interest in the request of New York City water supply officials to the U.S. Supreme Court to allocate 360,000,000 gallons of water daily from the Delaware River. The city already is drawing on the river to the extent of 440,000,000 gallons daily.

The New York proposals have been advanced, officials say, because they do not expect the Pennsylvania Legislature to act this year on a four-state program for dams, reservoirs and conduits. New York cannot wait longer, they contend.

Under the Incodel pact, Pennsylvania would bear a large proportion of the cost. The plan has been criticized on the grounds that the state's interests are not adequately safeguarded. Incodel officials discount that allegation. A committee named by Governor Fine is now studying the plan preparatory to making recommendation on legislation.

Pennsylvania has a vital interest in the Incodel project aside from the cost. More than half the drainage to the river is from this state.

Why Is He There?

The State department has announced that its loyalty board has reopened its investigation of about 500 persons, including Ambassador-at-Large Phillip C. Jessup and John Carter Vincent, now U.S. Consul General at Tangiers.

The department emphasized that it had no new evidence against either Mr. Jessup or Mr. Vincent. But it said the new inquiries were ordered after President Truman changed the criteria for loyalty and security investigations.

Under the original policy the loyalty board had to find positive evidence that an official or employe was disloyal. The President's order of April 28 requires the board to dismiss anyone whose loyalty it doubts.

Ambassador Jessup is the principal American representative at the Deputy Foreign Ministers' meeting in Paris. If there is any question whatever about his loyalty, why is he permitted to speak for the United States at a meeting of this importance?

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

An agricultural journal reports that a farmer in Wisconsin, who always complained that his wife didn't shoulder her share of the burden, agreed to run the household one day while his wife went to Madison for a medical examination. A methodical chap, he kept a minute record of his activities. It read as follows:

Opened door for children: 106 times.
Shouted, "Stop, Johnnie": 94
Tied their shoes: 16
Stopped quarrels: 19
Provided glasses of water: 26
Answered phone: 11
Answered questions: 202
Ran after children: about 4½ miles
Lost temper: 45

The next day the farmer himself journeyed to Madison—and bought his wife the washing machine she had long coveted.

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood.—In a forthcoming western, Cavalry Captain Lloyd Bridges mounts his horse, bawls "For-waaard!" to his troops,then——

Thunk-thonk-thunk! — Three Indian arrows bury their heads in his ribs. Right before your eyes, in the close-up. Ever wonder how such startling scenes are accomplished?

I'll tell you, so you can reassure your kids (as I've had to reassure mine) that what with the high price of actors, the studios still don't really kill 'em off

Uncle Lloyd's costume, strapped to his side, is a thick panel of balsa wood. The arrows are hollow tubes that slide on wires invisible to the camera. At the proper instant, three off screen assistants zing the arrows along the wires and seemingly into Bridge's gizzard. The art of playing dead is up to the actor.

It's tougher than you might think. The actor, knowing that arrows are about to fly at him, is liable to wince in anticipation. The director says it took about 30 takes to get this scene with Bridges. Another young actor in the seme picture gets an arrow in the tummy. He kept wincing, so the director finally tricked him out of it. The director yelled, 'Hey, Ted!" just as the arrow flew, drawing his attention from it. . . .

Glimpses of Glammerville: Jean Simons, the lovely Briton, adding to her handsome tan while sunning and chatting outside a sound stage. Said she's spending a lot of time ocean-bathing while waiting for "Androcles and the Lion" to start. And furthermore, that Southern California surf is "100 degrees warmer" than England's. . . .

Van Johnson admitting he hates personal appearances. Movie acting before a comparatively few people spoils an actor for getting up in front of large audiences, he thinks. "Every time I do a personal, I say, 'This is the last.' I don't think I'm equipped to do them." Still, he agrees that actors should do more of them—"to give the picture a sendoff." . . .

Louis Calhern has quit addressing lawyers' and judges' luncheons. He got such invitations after playing Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes in "The Magnificent Yankee."

These Days — By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

Life is Fragile We are so sure, so positive, so full of ourselves. . . . Then something happens to bring us close to the knowledge of how fragile we are, how fragile life itself is. I recall when Winston Churchill was knocked down on Fifth Avenue, how Fritz Kreisler was knocked down by a truck. Churchill lived to lead his country through blood, sweat and tears. Kreisler has been spared for a world that loves him.

These thoughts came to me as for a moment it seemed as though all of us, nearly an entire family, in the best of cheer, off on a summer holiday, faced the immediate possibility of sudden death. It does not take more than a split second to discover humility—and thankfulness to a gracious God.

Our car was standing stark still on an approach to the west side highway, not more than five minutes from home. We were moving from the big city to a farm I have in Massachusetts. All winter we look forward to the day when we shall make our annual return to the woods and a few weeks of closeness to nature. We were waiting to get into the line of traffic.

Then came, at a terrific rush, a policeman on a motorcycle. He apparently was after a speeder or something. Suddenly we felt the impact of his machine into our car. He fell over his machine. To us, it seemed as though he had flown into the air and soon enough, too soon, we heard his groans. We only suffered damage to our car, but we suffered emotionally with him. It might have been us.

For hours we waited. And it was impossible not to think of how the courtesy of the road seems to have disappeared altogether. Few drivers put their hands out to signal changes of destination or slowing up. Few ever think of warning the car behind them of sudden stops. On country roads at night, it is not rare to see bright lights undimmed for passing cars even though a collision might result from such negligence.

But the worst offenders seem to be gabby folk who hold conferences while driving and lovers who believe the closeness makes the road more safe.

One becomes more conscious of these infractions after a first accident. If there had been no speeder, the motorcycle policeman would not so suddenly have taken to the chase and none of this might have happened, imperilling his life and almost ending ours. Perhaps after the speeder reached his destination, there was nothing to get there for. Yet, there could have been a half dozen deaths because he did not follow the rules of the road.

It is not only the rules of the road that we so often ignore; it is the rules of life itself. For there are rules which the whole experience of the human race, at whatever level of culture, does accept. The Senate Committee which is now meeting to consider ethics in government faces the same problem that we did in our collision; it is not so much the law as it is decency, which comes down to the simplicities of the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule and such aphoristic statements of right.

The simple rules of life suffice when all the complexities of laws and regulations do not. Most men do not commit murder because they fear the law. Probably when a man shoots an adulterous wife, he never thinks of the law. His emotions are vengeful; he does not think at all and all the laws on all the books from Hammurabi to Fulbright will not check his hand, unless deeply ground into his character is the simple statement: "Thou shalt not kill."

That command originates not from legislation or personal decision. It reaches him from outside himself, from God, not as a request or a suggestion, not with explanations or reasons—but as a direct statement of what is expected of him. Vengeance is the Lord's, not man's. The transference is important, for it withdraws from us altogether many of the emotional reactions which lead to indecencies, improprieties, wrongs. If we reject the commandment, we imperil not only ourselves but all men.

Analyzing the various criticisms of the American government and even American life of our day, it would seem that most of our social illnesses, attributable to what is so lightly called "modern," "up-to-date," "progress," really are bad manners and degraded morals.

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington — The Pentagon has removed the secret label from a 1945 military intelligence report on the Communist Party in China. It makes chumps out of Secretary of State Dean Acheson, his Far East "experts," and Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall.

Marshall was talked into spending a year in China, trying to form a coalition government between the Chinese Reds and Chiang Kai-shek. This was exactly what the Communists had been trying to do in China since 1937, but the State Department, and apparently military intelligence, failed to notify Marshall of this fact.

One year after the 1945 military intelligence report was distributed around the Pentagon and the State Department, Acheson was sitting in the witness chair before a House Foreign Affairs Committee trying to get members to okay the arming and training of ten Chinese Communist divisions with U. S. weapons and officers. He said Marshall, then in China, had approved the idea after the Communists there suggested it to him.

This was also a long-time Communist objective in China. The Reds wanted to merge with Chiang's army, but not until they had been "beefed up" with U. S. weapons so they could take over the Nationalists without much trouble. The military intelligence report points this out, but Acheson and Marshall ignored it. Here is what G-2 said:

"Under terms of the united front understanding in China, the Chinese Communists pledged themselves, as of 1937, to cease subversive activities against the government, to abolish their separate government and administration, and to integrate the Chinese Red Army with the government's Central Army."

G-2 said the Chinese Reds did not fulfill any of their promises. Certain zones in China were assigned to the Reds by Chiang, it said, adding:

"The Communists, however, refused to stay within their assigned zones. While Chiang's armies, in obedience to the Chinese high command, kept within their assigned defense zones, the Communist armies insisted on being granted entry into any Nationalist zone that they desired to enter. Whenever Chiang's troops refused to admit Communist troops they were called traitors by the Communists."

This was early in the Chinese-Japanese war when the Chinese Communist armies had pledged to fight the Japs. The Reds kept on behaving this way for seven years. In 1945 G-2 called their hand on it. Yet, in 1946 Acheson and Marshall were trying to cram down Chiang's throat an agreement exactly like the one made between Chiang and the Reds in 1937, which the Communists promptly and consistently ignored.

In the secret G-2 report on the Chinese Communists, there is another very interesting paragraph which bears reprinting. The military was ignored so many years on Chinese security matters that I suppose it is only natural for G-2 to needle the State Department's Chinese Communist sympathizers when it had a chance. Anyway, here's the paragraph:

"Contrary to the widely advertised reports of their sympathizers, the Chinese Communists have, however, fought the Japanese far less than have the Nationalist Government troops. The Generalissimo, Chiang Kai-shek, and his followers have yielded ground politically and militarily to the Communists in order to avoid an open break; as a Nationalist, Chiang has been primarily interested in the war against the Japs."

That was our war, too; remember? and Chiang was helping us fight it. But when it came time for the pay-off, he got a Russian Communist payoff instead of an American one.

G-2 examined 2,500 reports, pamphlets and books before writing its intelligence summary. This is the way it concluded:

"The independence and territorial and administrative integrity of China, including Manchuria, have been key points of U. S. policy and interests in the Far East. During the past 50 years Russia and China, the two leading military powers in Asia, have been the chief threats to China's independence. American concern in this contest between Russia and Japan for control of China has been demonstrated several times.

"The rivalry between Russia and Japan has centered on Manchuria and Korea."

So while the State Department obviously did not know it, at least our military intelligence knew as far back as 1945 that with Japan out of the picture, Russia would move in.

Looking at Life

By Erich Brandeis

Brandeis

Unusally when a writer or a speaker wants to prove his point he quotes from the classics.

Or if no classic, such as Shakespeare, Plato, Voltaire or Goethe is available for his particular purpose, then he resorts to the Bible.

I am certainly no exception to this statement.

The reason is not just mental laziness or lack of thinking power. It is more or less because we take it for granted that when something has become a "classic," it must be right.

While that is certainly not so, I won't discuss that point today, since I am about to quote a classic myself right at this moment.

The writer is not known. He certainly was no mental giant. But he knew what he was talking about.

I quote from "Hallelujah, I'm a Bum," which, when I was a young newspaper reporter, was the marching song of thousands of tramps who then infested California, Washington, Oregon and other Western states.

I heard it first when I was assigned to cover a murder in a hobo camp.

It was night and the hoboes were sitting around the campfire over which their "slumgullion" was cooking—a stew of which they invited me to participate, since I was dressed like a hobo and had been instructed to act like one.

The "slumgullion" was an awful mess of things these hoboes had collected, heaven knows where. But I must confess that it tasted better than other stews which I later ate in expensive restaurants and which, on the menus, was called "Ragout Deutsch."

While the mess was brewing over the fire the fellows were singing—or rather chanting.

It was weird. It was frightening, ominous.

This is the verse I remember:

"Oh, why don't you save
All the money you earn?
If I didn't have to eat
I'd have money to burn."

Somehow, all this comes back to me today, because I just got through talking to the head of one of the savings banks.

He complained that people didn't seem to save as much as they used to.

He couldn't tell why. Savings banks were so safe, he said. Nobody had ever lost a nickel by the failure of a savings bank.

What did I think is the reason why they don't save as much as they used to? Did they put their money in stocks? Did they buy government bonds?

So I quoted from the song I had heard in that California hobo camp:

"If I didn't have to eat
I'd have money to burn."

Then I told him that in my opinion the best economists in the world are the WIVES.

Don't just read government reports, I advised him. Don't put too much faith in statistics. Don't try to be too scientific.

Ask any housewife what she pays for eggs, for milk, for fruit, for meat (my wife paid $3 for two pounds of veal cutlets yesterday!), for clothes—for anything.

And, I added, if something isn't done about it, then—"Hallelujah"—we'll all be bums.

What! Another airwave code! Warnings by the FCC to clean up video programs and an announcement of a "code" by the industry came strictly in accord with an annual phase of American summer life, like pie-eating contests, sack races and corn on the cob. In fact, the codes are so closely allied with corn on the cob it is difficult to tell the difference. An on-the-level code is necessary before they start putting puppets into the horror stories and begin bringing women guests onto the screen in bath towels. All the gals on video look as if their complete wardrobes had been attached by the sheriff just before they appeared. (A cutie who stepped directly onto a panel program from the bathing beach was recently suspended on the ground she had tried to make a costume play out of a panel discussion.)

Video seems to some folks to be based on the Three C's. Creeps, peeps and leaps. It is rapidly becoming the top factor in child behavior and home conduct. There must be millions of kids who are convinced that beer is the bulwark of the American home and that there is no character-builder like a schooner of suds. We undertand the industry appreciates this and has framed its code as follows:

1.—No beer bottle shall be permitted to dance without its label on and properly adjusted.

2.—No can of lager or ale in any children's fairy tale or nursery playlet shall come into the program in such a way as to hamper plot development; nor shall it be alloted speaking roles longer than the real characters. (There have been complaints that in a Little Red Riding Hood telecast, Red Riding Hood's lunch basket was full of beer for grandma and that just before the wolf began devouring grandma, the action was interrupted by a ballet done by four glasses of beer. Also, that instead of the wood-choppers rescuing the little girl, two brewery trucks were shown dashing through the forest.

3.—In no ballet shall the dance done by the beer cans take more time and be staged more elaborately than those done by the principals.

4.—No cigarette guadrille shall be substituted for the standard dance scene during the Cinderella ball.

However, don't worry about codes for radio or video. The method of handling them is well known. A code is drawn up every year, usually in late June. It is strictly for press and public, neither of which is writing or directing for video. The code is then turned over to the vice-presidents in charge of Video's File and Forget Department and Radio's Lost Papers Bureau. Copies are sent to all station owners, directors and producers with complete directions for their use in plugging up an open space between the window ledge and the window case. Persons desiring them in order to clean a windshield or join the "Help-A-Mouse-Build-A-Nest" drive may get copies on request.

Race Track Operators Face Charge

Gilbert—Warrants were served here yesterday on Joseph Ribaldi, of Carolina Ranch, one of the officials of the newly-established Gilbert race track, and on 18 other persons associated with the operation of the new enterprise situated near the Salem Reformed church.

The church group and other West End residents have been protesting the operation of the stock car track next to the church property for several months.

It was reported that the warrants issued yesterday were against drivers of cars operated on the track last Sunday, as well as those owning stock in the new venture.

Prosecutors in each instance were a citizens' committee headed by Rev. Alton A. Albright, pastor of the Pleasant Valley Evangelical and Reformed charge; Rev. James P. Laubach, pastor of the Pleasant Valley Lutheran charge; Ernest Kreger, William Dold and others.

The action yesterday was the first open flare in the dispute which arose in the West End area in the early spring when construction of the track in a field next to the church was first planned.

The new enterprise opened last Sunday with a crowd of approximately 900 witnessing the afternoon races. Announced plans of the track operators call for races each Sunday during the summer season.

The 10 defendants, several of whom were served in Carbon and Luzerne counties, will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace Nathaniel Gruber, of Gilbert, at 7 p. m. tomorrow.

Several persons close to the situation noted last night that the "Blue law" violation, corresponding generally to breach of the peace, calls for only a summary conviction.

However, because of the interest throughout the area and the large number of defendants, the group hearing will be conducted at the Polk township school at Kresgeville instead of at the Gilbert residence of Justice Gruber.

On conviction under Section 944.4 of the penal code (that section embracing the "Blue laws,") the defendants may be subject to a fine not exceeding $4 plus costs, another source said.

The warrants issued against the 19 charge them with "owning, operating or participating in a sports enterprise as a business on the Lord's day."

Two Heavy Vehicles Collide With $3,500 Loss Resulting

Snydersville—A brand new auto tractor and a tractor-trailer collided in the dip on Route 209 near the Circle motel west of here shortly after 8 p. m. yesterday.

One driver was slightly injured in the crash, while the other was arrested for a violation of the motor vehicle code.

State police of the Brodheadsville substation said that John W. Voss, 40, of Lansing, Mich., was driving the new truck tractor in transit for delivery to an eastern buyer when he rounded the curve at the west end of the dip and was struck by the tractor-trailer proceeding in the opposite direction toward Sciota.

Bruce E. Sechrist, 21, of Wellsboro RD5, Tioga county, driver of the transport, told troopers he made a move to pass another vehicle moving westward when he reached the dip at the hotel.

He was still in the act of passing the car when Voss rounded the curve in the new tractor. Police said the outfit operated by Sechrist blocked the lane in which Voss was driving.

Impact of the collision caused extensive damage to the front and undercarriage of the new auto tractor, while the drive shaft, springs, rear housing and left gasoline tank on the other truck were smashed.

Police estimated damage in the neighborhood of $3,500.

The new vehicle, operated by Voss, had a delivery price of $16,000, but repairs to it will run close to $3,000, the officers said. The machine is still the property of the Auto Car Co., of Ardmore.

Sechrist's transport is owned by the Harman and Myers Express of Williamsport. Neither vehicle was driveable after the crash, but each was pushed off the highway away from traffic and will be removed today.

Information against Sechrist will be filed before Justice of the Peace S. B. Shook, of Hamilton township.

Voss received a forehead cut, but he was not treated at the scene.

S. S. Council Sets Date Of Annual Rally

Bangor — The Sunday school council of the Salem Evangelical United Brethren church, Bangor, met last night following the weekly prayer service. Williams Shankel presided.

The annual church day rally was set for September 23. Chester Kaufman, superintendent of the Sunday school, also announced that the annual Sunday school picnic will be held at Bushkill Park, Saturday, July 21.

Bandmothers of the Bangor High school band held a street festival in front of the Municipal building last night. Music was supplied by the junior high school band and George Humphreys and his orchestra.

The annual Slate Belt Girl Scout troop picnic jamboree will be held Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at the Bangor park. Scout leaders from Wind Gap, Pen Argyl, Roseto and Bangor will be in charge.

The annual Amy family reunion will be held at 3 p.m., Saturday, July 21, at Weona park, Pen Argyl. Officers in charge will be John Leamon, president; Lethalbert Seal, vice president; John Dingle, secretary; and William Amy, treasurer.

A benefit street festival for the crippled kiddies and charity fund, sponsored by the Elks Lodge 1106, will be held Friday and Saturday nights on the property adjoining the Elks home. The affair Saturday will follow the running of the annual coaster derby, sponsored by the Bangor Moose Lodge, and the Slate Belt Buick Co. Music will be furnished by James Drury on the Hammond organ.

Borough Pool Closed Today

Mrs. Ruth Serfass, director of the Stroudsburg Playground swimming pool, announced last night that the pool will be closed today due to the changing of the water in the pool.

According to Mrs. Serfass, if it is at all possible, the pool will be opened at 6 p.m. today.

Diving classes and junior lifesaving classes usually scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday will not meet today but will resume Tuesday.

Mrs. Serfass also announced that swimmers interested in senior lifesaving should report Tuesday, July 3, for registration.

Margaret Truman To See Pope Pius

Rome (AP) — Margaret Truman has a private audience with Pope Pius on her schedule for today. She will wear the long black gown and veil which she brought with her for the audience.

The Vatican museum, including the famed Sistine chapel of Michael Angelo, was opened especially for the President's daughter yesterday afternoon so she might roam through the rooms without being followed by a crowd.

The museum normally is closed in the late afternoon, and she chose to visit it yesterday rather than this morning when she would have had to spend an hour or two wearing the long gown for the papal interview.

Mrs. Eley Dies In Dickson City

Mrs. Susan W. Eley, 89, widow of W. George Eley, died early this week at 652 Lincoln St., Dickson City. Widely known throughout the Pocono Mountains region where she also had a number of relatives, Mrs. Eley's death was sudden.

She did a few hours after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage. She was a native of Wales and became a resident of this country at the age of three.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. today in the home.

X-Ray Unit Chief Is Electrocuted

Erie, (AP)—A 100,000-volt charge of electricity yesterday killed John Roderick, 24, crew chief of a mobile X-ray unit, while he was repairing the machine with an assistant.

The assistant, Norman Wilson, 25, of Scranton, suffered from shock and was ordered placed under a physician's care. Roderick, employed by the National X-Ray Surveys of Orange, N. J., was the son of Dr. and Mrs. John Roderick, of Jerymn, Pa.

Operation of the mobile unit for the past two weeks here is under the auspices of the Erie County Health and Tuberculosis society.

Tall Cedars Entertain

Pocono Forest, No. 120, Tall Cedars of Lebanon and the ladies auxiliary last night entertained 120 persons including members and auxiliary of the NAPA Forest, No. 137, Factoryville, Pa. A dinner, following by a meeting, was held in Odd Fellows Hall.

Entertainment was provided after the meeting. Edgar Van Why, grand tall cedar of Pocono Forest and Mrs. Arlyne Kimble, president of the auxiliary were in charge.

Committee handling preparation and serving of food consisted of Reba Pierce, chairman, with all officers and members. Reception committee included Agnes Smith, Cathleen Van Why and Arlyne Kimble.

This was the last meeting for the season. Plans were made for the annual picnic. The date and other details of that affair will be announced later.

Council Names Sen. Crowe To Regional Post

Rep. Elisha Barrett of New York State's General Assembly and official of the Council of State Governments has named Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe, (R-Monroe) regional chairman of the truck and motor vehicle program of the council.

The council covers the New England and Middle Atlantic states.

Senator Crowe's post as regional chairman of truck and motor vehicle program covers the same territory.

He announced yesterday in Harrisburg the committee will meet in New York City on August 9 to begin studies in inter-state cooperation and planning on laws affecting trucks and other motor vehicles.

Dunlap Appointed Tax Commissioner

Washington (AP) — John W. Dunlap of Dallas, Tex., was promoted yesterday from the post of top Treasury investigator of racketeers' tax returns to commissioner of internal revenue.

In the latter position, in which he succeeds George J. Schoeneman, resigned, Dunlap will have charge of collecting all tax revenue, from the law-abiding as well as the law-breaking.

Township To Move Siren

The Stroud Township Volunteer Fire Co. held its monthly meeting last night.

Business discussed was the Ladies Auxiliary annual picnic to be held at the Stroudsburg playground Tuesday, July 17, at 6 p. m. Plans were also made for the carnival to be held from August 6 to 11 on Day St., East Stroudsburg.

All active members of the fire company are to stand by this Saturday afternoon, while the siren is being moved to the new firehouse.

Two Escape Graterford Penitentiary

Norristown (AP)— Two trusties who walked away from a farm outside prison walls of the Graterford branch, Eastern State penitentiary, yesterday morning, were still at large last night, Deputy Warden Col. E. N. Myers said.

The two, both serving terms for burglary, are William F. Binkel, committed from Monroe county, and Adolph Wydra, committed from Northumberland county.

The men were responsible for transporting other prisoners to and from the fields.

Wydra, serving a 7½ to 15-year term, would have been eligible for parole in January, 1952. Binkel was serving a 6-12 year sentence.

Myers said the prison guard detail and State police were continuing their hunt for the escapes.

Lutherans Honor New Pastor At Reception In Saylorsburg

Saylorsburg—A reception was given to Rev. John Bergstresser, new pastor of the Hamilton Lutheran charge, at the Saylorsburg fire hall last night.

Burnice Hawk, president of the joint council, served as master of ceremonies for the affair at which over 150 people were present.

Speakers were Rev. Adan Bohner, Rev. Wilson Rinker and Rev. Bergstresser. Following the talks a special program was presented by the four member churches. The program follows:

Bartonsville: Mrs. Lloyd Beehler sang two solos, "Pale Moon" and "End of a Perfect Day." She was accompanied by Mrs. Floyd Cyphers. Also a trio composed of Mrs. Cyphers and her two sons entertained.

Brodheadsville: Mr. and Mrs. David Weber sang a duet, "Love Divine." They were accompanied by Mrs. Myrtle Rodenbach.

Hamilton: A trio composed of Mrs. Burnice Hawk, Jacob Hartman and William Lotz sang "My Task." They were accompanied by Nancy Thomas. An instrumental duet was presented by Nancy Hartman, piano, and Billy Lotz, trumpet.

Mount Eaton: A trio composed of Lois Miller, Janet Praetorius and Eileen Costenbader, sang "It Is No Secret." Mrs. Clarence Budge sang a solo, "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You."

Following the program Mrs. Anna Serfas and the Ladies Aid presented gifts to the new pastor.

A social gathering was held after the covered dish supper.

Second Swim Class Begins Next Monday

The East Stroudsburg Playground swimming pool, under the direction of Lewis R. Hastie, will begin its second class of swimming instruction next Monday at 10 a. m.

All non-swimmers, beginners or those who want to improve their swimming ability, should report to the pool Monday. The sessions will be carried on from 10 to 11 a.m., Monday through Friday.

Junior life saving classes will start Monday for swimmers between the ages of 12 and 15. Classes will be held from 10 to 11 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Senior life-saving instructions for swimmers 16 years or older, will also begin Monday. Sessions will run from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

All swimming instruction will be in charge of Ora Sutton, Dejores Sell, Todd Maguire and Dick Pennington.

Pool hours as announced by Mr. Hastie are: 10 to 11:30 a.m., 1 to 5 p.m., and 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., daily.

Practice for the swimming team, which has been undefeated for the past three years, will be held Monday through Thursday, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Both boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 16 are invited to try out.

Playground instruction, in charge of Una Marie Bronner and Frank Presty, has been in progress since the playground opened. The schedule of activities is as follows: from 10 to 11:30 a.m., softball, volleyball, basketball, football, paddle tennis, table tennis, quoits, and badminton; from 1 to 2 p.m., quiet games such as checkers, chess and dominoes; from 2 to 4 p.m., classes in arts and crafts; from 4 p.m. until closing time, supervised play, swimming meets and softball games with other groups.

Anyone interested in trying out for the softball team, regardless of age, should contact Mr. Hastie. Practice will begin in a few days.

Camps and pools interested in either a swimming meet or a softball game with the East Stroudsburg playground can do so by contacting Lewis Hastie at the playground. The telephone number is Stroudsburg 3561.

Ross To Retire As Manager Of J. C. Penney Store Here; Ohio Man Named Successor

Max D. Stadfeld, assistant manager of the J. C. Penney Co. store at Canton, Ohio, has arrived here to assume managership of the J. C. Penney Co. in Stroudsburg as of July 1.

Lawrence M. Ross, manager of the local store for the past 12 years and associated with J. C. Penney Co. for 34 years, is retiring under the Penney company's retirement plan.

Mr. Ross said yesterday he will continue to live here, pursuing his varied community interests. Mr. Ross said he will devote much of his time to his attractive and extensive farm property off Milford Road just outside East Stroudsburg and to lumbering operations on that property.

Mr. Stadfeld, who is married and has three children, Julie 11, Michael 9 and Timothy, 4, will establish his residence here promptly.

The new manager has been associated with Penney's since 1936. He started working for the firm in Battle Creek, Mich., then worked in the Flint, Mich., store.

After two years service with the U. S. Navy during World War Two, Mr. Stadfeld returned to Flint and two years later was assigned to New Castle, Pa., as assistant manager. From there he moved to Canton, O.

Mr. Ross' affiliation with the Penney company included services in stores on the West coast, the South and here. He came here from Lexington, Ky., store.

He is a member of the Stroudsburgs Kiwanis club, Shawnee Country club, Elks, American Legion and director of Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce.

Adventists Gather At Wescosville

Local members of the Stroudsburg Seventh-day Adventist church are scheduled to leave today for Wescosville, where they will attend the annual camp meeting of the East Pennsylvania conference of Adventists, expected to be the largest gathering of Adventists in the State in many years.

Elder Russell R. Adams, pastor of the church, will head the list of delegates to the annual religious convention, which will begin tonight, and end on Sunday night, July 8. All meetings will be held at the Emmanuel grove, a "tent and cabin city," five miles from Allentown. Over 2,000 are expected to attend the meetings this weekend.

Heading the long list of guest speakers at the annual convention is Elder William H. Branson, Washington, D. C., president of the denomination's World General conference, who is scheduled to speak Saturday, July 7.

Local members attending the camp will live in either tents or cabins erected on the permanent camp grounds. Meetings will be held in the main pavilion. Other permanent structures for the use of campers during the 10-day meetings are the dining room, youth pavilion, Book and Bible house, and departmental offices.

Meetings are scheduled for local Adventist members throughout the day beginning at 6:30 a.m. and ending at 9 p.m. Evangelistic services are scheduled every night. Meetings are scheduled twice daily for boys and girls and youth.

Mrs. Odom Dies In California

William H. Odom, 61 E. Broad St., East Stroudsburg, yesterday received word that his mother, Mrs. A. L. Odom, 82, had died at her home in Santa Paula, Cal.

Mrs. Odom, who is survived by four additional children, had been ill one month.

Clean-Up Drive Meeting With Fine Response

Stroudsburg's campaign to clean up vacant lots, unkept yards and trash piles is progressing smoothly, according to Chief of Police James McConnell.

Launched a week ago, the 10-day program gained immediate support of property owners, although heavy showers last Saturday caused an unexpected snag.

Numerous owners have advised police that they have started cutting weeds and other clean-up operations, and that they'll finish this work at the earliest opportunity.

McConnell noted that most of these persons were interrupted in their work by the weekend rains. He said completion of most of the odd jobs is expected this weekend.

Several persons, unable to do the clean-up work themselves, have expressed difficulty in hiring labor to do the odd jobs, but even these owners hope to have everything done in compliance with the campaign before July 1.

Cherry Valley Poplar Valley

Mrs. Francis Bayer
Ph. Say. 14-R-9

Miss Joyce Gunn, of Cherry Valley, and Mrs. Edith Courtright, of Marshalls Creek, have returned from a motor trip which took them to the Thousand Islands, and across New York state, where they stopped at Lake Placid. They also visited points in Vermont and the capital of New Hampshire as well as York Beach, Maine. On their return trip they visited Mrs. Courtright's son at Westfield, Massachusetts, returning home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bayer and son, Edward, of Poplar Valley and Mrs. Lewis Wagner, of Stroudsburg called on Mr. and Mrs. George Bayer and son, Charles, of Blairstown, New Jersey, Sunday night.

Sunday callers of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bayer, of Poplar Valley, were Mrs. George Colvin and daughters, Diana and Lynn, and Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, all of Chipperfield Drive. The Smiths are leaving soon to make their home in California.

D. Of A. To Hold Memorial Rites For Mrs. Kays

The Daughters of Liberty will conduct memorial services for the late Mrs. Martha Kays, a charter member who died Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Fisher, 923 Main St., tonight at 8 p. m.

Services will be held in the William H. Clark funeral home, 1003 Main St., Stroudsburg. Announcement was made yesterday that Mrs. Kays is also survived by seven grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the funeral home at 2 p. m. Friday. Rev. William F. Wunder, Grace church, will officiate. Interment will be made in Prospect cemetery.

Refreshment Room Helpful

A refreshment closet built into living room, dining room or even the hall is a convenient and excellent space saver and keeps everything at hand for entertainment.

A floor-to-ceiling space 3 feet wide and 18 inches deep is sufficient.

Storage shelves built against the wall are essential, and for a work surface bracket a shelf to the inside of the door 36 inches from the floor. When not in use and the door is closed, this work surface swings beneath a wall shelf. A pull-out slide at comfortable working height can be provided if preferred.

Paint the inside of the refreshment closet a bright color. Enliven plain paint with decalcomanias of freehand designs. Give the shelves a stain-resistant finish. Light the closet interior with a small fluorescent tube hidden in the closet behind the top of the door frame.

Special Meeting Called Tonight By Civic League

Tobyhanna — Regional citizens are asked to attend an important meeting of the Tobyhanna Civic league here tonight at 8.

Session will be held in Coolbaugh township school. Warren F. Nonnemaker, president, said last night a series of reports will be received, all dealing primarily with matters relating to construction of the $30,000,000 Signal Corps depot.

Brotherhood Holds Meeting At Playground

A well attended monthly meeting of the Brotherhood of St. John's Lutheran church was held at the Stroudsburg playground on Tuesday night with Edward Wagner, president, in charge.

Roy Eisler was elected to membership and welcomed by the men. The committee on visitation of the sick reported five men of the congregation had been visited during the past month. It was decided to secure the new evangelism leaflet for use in the evangelism program to be conducted during the fall.

Plans were discussed for the annual ladies' night outing at the playground in August. President Wagner appointed the following as a committee to be augmented by additional workers: Herman Haag and Jacob Altemose, co-chairmen, Howard Marshall, Stanley Heller and Victor Henning.

John Kitchen reported for the scout work and indicated that efforts are being made to secure needed materials to complete the scout headquarters.

The treasurer, Herman Haag reported a substantial balance in the treasury. He also presented the trophy won by the bowling team in the tournament of last winter. It will be placed in a prominent location in the church school room.

Plans were made to complete the register of boys who served in World War Two with the assistance of the Fidelia class.

It was announced that the July meeting will have as hosts: Henry Tucker, J. B. Dunkelberger and Dr. P. N. Wohlsen.

The president appointed the following ushers to serve for the month of July: H. R. DeNike, Judge C. H. Rhodes, J. B. Dunkelberger and H. L. Keiper Sr. Refreshments were served by President Wagner, Parke W. Kunkle and Harvey Burch.

Film Shown To Members Of Kiwanis

A film, "Story of Bethlehem Is the Story of Steel," produced for the Bethlehem Steel Co., was shown at the meeting of the Kiwanis club of Stroudsburg at the Penn-Stroud hotel yesterday afternoon. Joseph S. Wallace was program chairman and Wilmer B. Frisbie operated the projector.

Herbert B. Crane, immediate past president, was in charge of the meeting in place of Harold W. Leininger, who is on vacation with his family. Mr. Leininger attended the sessions of Kiwanis International at St. Louis, Mo., last week.

Lawrence M. Ross introduced Max Stadfeld, of Canton, Ohio, who will succeed him as manager of the Penney store here this week. Mr. Ross is being retired by the company after many years of service.

Notice has been received by the club that the traveling register will be brought to Stroudsburg Wednesday, July 11, by a delegation of members of the Allentown club. Prosecution Says Homeyer Beheaded Wife

Tunkhannock (AP) — District Attorney Robert W. Trembath indicated to the jury for the first time yesterday how he believes Charles E. Homeyer, lonly hearts lover, killed his fifth wife, Anna.

"Drawing a knife across one's throat and slashing off the head must signify an intent to kill," Trembath said in his closing argument of the nine-day-old trial. "And," he added, "we have shown by experts that there was not one bit of evidence that she was poisoned.'

The district attorney called for a first degree verdict with the death penalty "For this vicious crime," waving in front of the jurors a picture of the woman's skull found buried in concrete in the cellar of the Homeyer home at Factoryville, near here.

Trembath spoke after Davis R. Hobbs, chief defense counsel, told the jurors "the Commonwealth didn't prove even that Anna Snellman Homeyer was murdered let alone that he did it." Hobbs asked for an acquittal.

Judge Edward P. Little told the jury he will deliver his charge when court convenes this morning.

More tragedy came into the court room yesterday when State police called from among the spectators Mrs. Howard Salsman of Laceyville to tell her that her 10-year-old son Lyle had drowned in the Susquehanna river. She had left him playing with the son of a friend while she attended court. The youngsters were playing with a ball on a high rock overlooking the river. The stone was slippery from rain and the boy, who couldn't swim, slid off into deep water.

When Homeyer entered court yesterday morning he had a bandage on his throat. Sheriff James Wynd Jr., said he had cut his throat with a razor blade which had been hidden in a pack of cigarets. However, before he had done serious damage he "changed his mind," the sheriff said.

Homeyer breathed heavily and his lips quivered as he listened to the arguments.

RETURNING TO THE UNITED STATES on rotation, Sgt. Alva H. Nixon, of Alameda, Calif., is among the 3,377 Korean veterans who arrived in San Francisco aboard the transport Gen. John Pope. Jury Calls For Lawrence Indictment

Pittsburgh, (AP)—The special State grand jury probing official corruption in Pittsburgh yesterday recommended that Mayor David L. Lawrence be indicted on a charge of misdemeanor in office.

The special grand jury also recommended indictment of eight other persons as a result of its probe into city coal and street lighting contracts.

Broadway Maintenance Corp., of New York City, which recently entered into a contract with the city to install a street light system, also was recommended for indictment.

The presentment stated:

"The mayor's relegation of duties to departmental heads does not insulate him from legal responsibility for the full discharge of his and their duties."

The special grand jury does not have the power to indict, but merely makes recommendations for the regular Allegheny county grand jury to act upon.

Mayor Lawrence was not immediately available for comment. The mayor, his wife and son, Jerry, are vacationing in Europe.

DEATH SENTENCE or life imprisonment is demanded for Archbishop Josef Groesz (left) by the Communists, as Hungary's espionage trial ends. All eight of the prelate's co-defendants, including Ferenc Vezer (right), face the same punishment. As the highest Roman Catholic clergyman in Hungary since imprisonment of Josef Cardinal Mindszenty, the Archbishop reportedly admitted plotting against the Red regime, which tried them both in the same Budapest court.

President's Statement Criticized

Washington (AP)—A Senate Labor committee majority yesterday indirectly criticized President Truman for saying last February that railway labor leaders had gone back on an agreement like a bunch of Russians.

The majority also declared Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman "became involved," in a rail labor dispute "in a manner which compromised his (Steelman's) effectiveness and placed the President in an unnecessarily difficult position."

The views of the seven-man majority were contained in a report to the Senate on the committee's investigation of the long-standing dispute between the railroads and four operating railroad unions.

Much of the inquiry dealt with a so-called "memorandum of agreement" announced at the White House last December 21 by Steelman, carrier representatives, and officials of the four unions.

Union leaders said at the Senate hearings that the provisions were only tentative and local officers of the unions later refused to approve it.

It was to that development Mr. Truman alluded on February 8, when he declared the union leaders had broken an agreement like a bunch of Russians.

The committee's majority report, accepting the contention that the agreement was only tentative, said without mentioning Mr. Truman by name:

"The committee is compelled to find that later statements to the effect that the brotherhoods had repudiated a binding agreement were unjustified."

Involuntary Manslaughter Charge Faces Engineer Of Train In Fatal Accident

Norristown, (AP)—The engineer of the Pennsylvania railroad's Red Arrow express which crashed into another PRR train killing eight persons six weeks ago was arrested yesterday—and charged with involuntary manslaughter.

The engineer, Francis B. Yentzer, 62, of Harrisburg, was held in $12,000 bail. Justice of the Peace Charles Gorman explained the bail was $1,500 for each of the persons killed in the wreck at Bryn Mawr May 18.

A coroner's jury found that Yentzer was responsible for the collision of the Red Arrow into the rear of the Philadelphia night express, which had halted to check equipment shortly after dawn.

The coroner's jury verdict was in line with findings reported by both the Interstate Commerce commission and the State Public Utility commission. Both issued reports blaming the wreck on the failure of Yentzer to obey signals. Yentzer denied blame for the wreck.

The engineer sat in a front row of the hearing room while witnesses testified that the railroad's signal equipment was in perfect working order immediately after the crash in which the Red Arrow engine telescoped the last two cars of the Philadelphia night express.

Capt. William Shaffer of Lower Merion township police testified at Yentzer's arraignment yesterday afternoon that the engineer told him shortly after the collision that he was going 45 miles per hour under a medium approach signal.

Shaffer said the locomotive should not have been traveling faster than 15 miles an hour.

State's Highest Tribunal Affirms Divorce To Phipps

Philadelphia, (AP)—The Pennsylvania State Supreme court yesterday affirmed a divorce granted Dean H. Phipps against Alethea D. Phipps by the Lackawanna County Common Pleas court in November, 1948.

Phipps sued for divorce on the grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment and indignities to his person. However, at the trial, he abandoned the charge of cruel and barbarous treatment and won his case on the ground of indignities.

Phipps is a Scranton auto parts manufacturer.

The trial judge entered a decree of divorce after counsel for Phipps proved an act of adultery on the part of Mrs. Phipps. She appealed to the Superior court which upheld the lower court decision.

It was from the Superior court decision that Mrs. Phipps appealed to the State's highest court. Mrs. Phipps contended that she could supply new evidence.

Justice Charles Alvin Jones, in the court's opinion, said "the Superior court was fully warranted in not granting the prayer of the petition for a remission of the case to the court below for the purpose of taking the testimony of Mrs. Phipps' son, Bradford Sweet.

"His knowledge of the particular subject did not in any sense qualify as after-discovered evidence.

"What he knew and his whereabouts in Auburn, N. Y., where he was living with his natural father with his mother's permission, were, of course, well known to her at the time of the divorce hearings. If she desired his testimony, it could have been taken by deposition when he refused to come to Scranton to testify."

Senate Okays Stop-Gap Funds

Harrisburg (AP)—New stop-gap appropriations totaling $50,000,000 to pay for State operations until regular funds are provided were passed unanimously by the Senate yesterday. They previously had passed the House.

Passage of the stop-gap bill was necessary yesterday since the assembly previously had passed the first one for the month of June only and the Legislature will be in recess until July 9.

Of the total $40,000,000 was allocated for State salaries and other departmental costs while the remaining $10,000,000 was listed for relief costs.

Fine Proposes Pay Hike For State Workers

it. In addition, members of the Legislature are paid $3,000 for the two year period.

The two proposed increases in expenses of the State government came as the Legislature, especially the embattled Senate, continued deadlocked over the question of whether new taxes should be imposed. Both branches of the Legislature late in the day declared a recess until July 9.

The Governor proposed the salary boost for State employes in letters to Rep. Norman Wood (R-Lancaster) and Sen. LeRoy E. Chapman (R-Warren) of the House and Senate Appropriations committees.

To keep the budget down, Fine wrote, provision for a general salary increase was eliminated when it was prepared.

Since then, Fine said, the cost of living has increased and State employes' salaries have been lagging behind "the inflationary increase" with the result that private industry and the Federal government have been hiring the State's "most efficient and experienced employes."

"It appears to me," Fine wrote, "that not only are the employes deserving of this cost of living increase, but it is important that it be granted in order to keep trained employes who can efficiently perform the necessary governmental activities."

Rep. Edward S. Swartz (R-Dauphin) who led the GOP fight against the income tax when it passed there, said he voted against increasing expense allowances of legislators to be consistent with that stand.

Swartz said he felt then that "we did not need an income tax and that State revenues and expenditures were increasing too rapidly."

Others voting against the expense allowance boost were:

Former Resident Of Columbia Dies

Columbia, N. J.—Mrs. Susie S. Phelps, former resident of Columbia and widow of Rear Adm. William W. Phelps, died late Monday night at the Parkway rest home in Allentown.

Mrs. Phelps moved to Columbia from New York in 1948. An accomplied pianist, she had appeared on numerous radio programs emanating from New York from 1933 to 1948.

She is survived by a son, Southwick Phelps, of Columbia, and three grandchildren. Private funeral services will be followed by interment in the naval cemetery at Annapolis, Md.

County Notes Four Deaths On Highways

The first four months of 1951 produced three traffic accident fatalities in Monroe county and one pedestrian death, T. Elmer Transeau, director of highway safety in Pennsylvania, said yesterday.

Mr. Transeau noted that the three fatalities from January 1 to May 1 were two more than the total for the same period a year ago.

Two of the three fatalities occurred in rural sections of the county and the third in urban regions.

The single pedestrian death was one more than for the same period a year ago.

On a state-wide basis the first four months of 1951 produced 450 deaths compared with 431 during this period of 1951, an increase of 5.8 per cent.

Jail Releases Philadelphian

Emil Buroweic, 30, of Philadelphia, was released from Monroe County jail early yesterday after being committed seven hours earlier by Chief James McConnell, of Stroudsburg police, on a charge of disorderly conduct.

An investigation was also continued during the man's detention, but he was ultimately released in custody of Officer John Tretheway after Buroweic's brothers came here from Philadelphia for him.

Police Regulate Traffic At Main, Second Streets

Regulation of traffic at the intersection of Main and Second Sts., Stroudsburg, is eliminating the block which prevented traffic on Second St. from moving out onto Main St. during the afternoon heavy travel hours, Chief of Police James McConnell said last night.

The chief pointed out that he has been regulating traffic at the intersection between 3:30 and 4 p. m. each day this week. Present plans call for continuing the practice at least until the situation is remedied.

Complaints about the congestion on Second St. has come mainly from employes of the Worthington Mower Co., police said.

They leave their plant at approximately 3:30 p. m. and converge upon the intersection at a time when workers from several East Stroudsburg industries are crossing the State bridge into Stroudsburg.

Periodic stopping of the westbound line to permit cars to leave Second St. "is working out well," Chief McConnell observed.

Lawrence Tibbett Appears At Playhouse Next Week

Mountainhome—Rowena Stevens, producer-manager of the Pocono playhouse, will present the famous star of opera and stage, Lawrence Tibbett, in Somerset Maughan's powerful drama "Rain" beginning Monday night, July 2, for a week's run.

Lawrence Tibbett

Mr. Tibbett, one of the most popular baritones the world has ever known, has a record of 25 consecutive years at the Metropolitan and was the first American artist to be recognized in operatic circles. Born in Bakersfield, Calif., it was not until he was 24 that he decided to go to New York to become a singer. In his first job as a singer in a choir, he came to the attention of Frances Alda, who interested her husband Gatti Cozazza in giving the young singer an audition. The first one was not a success, but he fared better in a second one and was offered a contract of $50 a week—which he managed to raise to $60—and signed.

His debut was as one of a duo off-stage voices and attracted so little attention that he was the only person who noticed that his name was misspelled on the program. One week later, he was called on to substitute for Vinconte Ballister as "Valentin" in "Faust" and was very favorably received. Curiously enough, his big chance came the next season when Ballister was again indisposed and Tibbett substituted for him in the role of "Ford" in "Falstaff." His performance literally stopped the show and ushered in a new era in operatic history for American artists.

Since then, Mr. Tibbett's triumphs have mounted steadily. At the Metropolitan he has sung more than 70 roles, including "Emperor Jones" which was especially written for him and in which he obtained one of the greatest successes of his career as the Pullman porter who became king. He is equally great in either French, German or Italian repertoire and was the first Metropolitan artist to ever appear in a full length musical, "Rogue Song" which ran for more than six months at the Astor theater.

In the dramatic smash-hit "Rain," Mr. Tibbett in the role of Rev. Davidson the fanatic missionary, will bring his talents in both acting and singing to the audiences.

The play, made famous by the late Jeanne Eagles in more than 650 consecutive performances, tells of the inevitable conflict between a wanton girl marooned at the port of Pago Pago, and a missionary who is an implacable enemy of sin. Elsbeth Hoffman will be seen as Sadie Thompson, the easy-going girl from the bad lands of San Francisco.

Performances will be given every night through Saturday, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday afternoon. Reservations for seats may be made by calling Cresco 8401.

Navy Enlists Three County Young Men

Chief Petty Officer Lyman N. Price, in charge of the local U. S. Navy recruiting station, has announced the recent enlistments of three boys from the Stroudsburg area. They are:

Richard Charles Hilliard, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hilliard, 284 Normal St., East Stroudsburg. He is a graduate of East Stroudsburg High school, class of '51.

Charles Robert Sieg, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Sieg, Canadensis. He attended Mercersburg Academy and just finished his junior year at Penn State.

Richard Lester Smith, 18, of Effort. He attended the Chestnuthill school.

They will be sent to the naval training center, Bainbridge, Md., to receive 11 weeks of recruit training.

Installation Of Officers Of Women Of Moose Order

Mrs. Ruth Smith was installed as senior regent of the Women of the Moose for the 1951-52 term at impressive ceremonies held at the Moose home, Washington St., East Stroudsburg, Tuesday night.

Gladys Mink, of East Stroudsburg, was installing chairman. The officers in charge of the inductions, all members of the Allentown lodge, were: Installing regent, Mrs. Lottie Moyer; installing chaplain, Mrs. Meda Yeager; installing guide, Mrs. Maggie Ross.

The other officers installed were: Graduate regent, Mrs. Josephine Shafer; junior regent, Mrs. Violet Palmer; chaplain, Betty Smith; recording secretary, Mrs. Emma V. Knob; treasurer, Mrs. Romaine LeBar. Each of the new officers was presented with a corsage of yellow carnations and deep purple sweetpeas, the colors of the lodge.

The new senior regent, Mrs. Smith, presented the members of the visiting installing team with lovely gifts. Mrs. Hazel King Gage was presented with her senior graduate regent pin and responded with brief remarks.

Mrs. Shafer thanked all the officers of the past year for their cooperation and assistance in securing 33 new members during her term of office as senior regent.

Mrs. Smith, the new senior regent appointed these committee chairmen: Kitchen, Mrs. Gage and Mrs. Jane Price; delinquents, Mrs. Shafer and birthdays, Mrs. Knob.

Around The Stroudsburgs

Dr. and Mrs. William R. Levering, N. Seventh St., enjoyed a stay of a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Irving R. Harrison at their home at Cape Cod, Mass.

Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlsen and Graham Rinehart attended the farewell testimonial dinner tendered Dr. Levering Tyson, who resigned as president of Muhlenbrg College, at the Lehigh Valley Cooperative Milk Assn., building, Allentown, last night.

Patty Warnick, daughter of Mr and Mrs. Fritz Heckert, Stroudsburg RD, has returned following a visit with relatives at Wilkes-Barre.

Discuss Plans St. John's Picnic At Playground

The teachers and officers of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church school last night discussed final arrangements for the annual picnic which will be held at the Stroudsburg playgrounds on July 18.

Ted Meyer, co-chairman of the committee of arrangements, reported that plans were making for the observance of the event, one of the outstanding events of the summer season of the school.

It was reported that the school would be represented at the summer sessions for teachers at the Lutheran ministerial camp, the former Turn place.

Add a little finely ground tongue, corned beef, or ham to potato puffs; serve with asparagus and broiled tomatoes. To prepare the tomatoes mix mayonnaise with a little prepared mustard and spread on the tomato halves before broiling until lightly browned. This menu makes a delightful summer luncheon.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

You know, if we could just convince ourselves that as adults summer time doesn't necessarily mean vacation time anymore, we might settle down a little more happily to the work that has to be done, come summer or winter.

Somehow with school out, you keep feeling that you're on vacation, too. And your mounting irritation as the teen-agers sleep later each morning, and follow through the day with a magnificent disregard of clocks and timetables is sort of intensified by your desire to go and do likewise.

Clothes get dirty in summer, dirtier in fact; the family gets hungry, even hungrier; and the fact that breakfasts seems to be lasting until lunch time doesn't help any.

Oh well, next week the children will both be in camp, the house will be all straightened up, and I'll probably get my sleep out the first day and spend the other six missing them.

Fidelia Class Meets At Home Of Mrs. Green

The Fidelia class of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church school met at the home of the teacher, Mrs. Miles Green, Phillips St., Monday night with 10 in attendance.

Mrs. Dorothy Drake led in the review of the Book of Joshua and the discussion which followed. Games were enjoyed, prize winners having been Mrs. Ethel Meyer and Mrs. Mildred Renninger.

Refreshments of fresh strawberry shortcake and sundaes were served from a table the centerpiece of which was spirea and water lillies.

Those in attendance in addition to those mentioned above were: Mrs. Ladora Bolcar, Mrs. Daniel Lyons, Mrs. Goldie Marsh, Mrs. Mildred Miller, Mrs. Mitchell Stackhouse, Mrs. Dorothy Rupert and Mrs. Green, the teacher.

Miss Strait Is Canasta Hostess

Mrs. Bennet Strait, of Delaware Water Gap, entertained friends at her home last night. Canasta was featured. Refreshments were served.

Among those present were: Mrs. Frank Cote, of Paulsboro, N. J., sister of Mrs. Strait; Miss Elsie Headley and Mrs. Keziah Hurff, of Swedesboro, N. J.; Miss Elmira Lippincott, of Woodstown, N. J., and Miss Edna Shoemaker, of Bridgeport, N. J.

Pocono Grange Plans For Busy Season Ahead

Tannersville — Pocono Grange No. 1415, met for its regular meeting and many worthwhile things were accomplished at that time. The grange extended their thanks to the supervisors of Pocono township in providing the much needed dumping ground for this community. The grange has worked many long hours on this project under the direction of Mrs. Charles Van Sciver, the past Lecturer and it was very gratifying on Friday evening to all the members to realize that at last this very worthwhile project has been accomplished. Information concerning rules and regulations for use of this dumping ground will be furnished all residents as soon as possible.

The master, Charles Van Sciver read an article and led a discussion on the state Trucking bill and the Oleo problem.

On Sunday, July 1, the grange will attend in a body the services at the Methodist church in Tannersville, at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Irene Hartman was installed as lecturer to succeed Mrs. Van Sciver, who resigned. Mrs. Hartman acquitted herself very well on the first night of her new office as lecturer.

Two members of the executive committee were present to discuss the new roof. Estimates were submitted by Frank Mooney. All members are urged to attend the next meeting on July 13, as the question of roof must be settled at this time. The executive committee members present were John Montgomery and A. J. Christmann.

Much discussion was held in reference to raising funds to pay for this roof and a traditional penny march was held. Plans will be completed at next meeting to arrange bazaars, suppers, card parties, etc., to pay for the roof.

The ladies of the grange are all very busy on their sewing projects, street dresses and square dance contest dresses, all of which must be judged and prepared for the State Grange.

Pocono Grange is going forward and with all the projects lined up and the increased membership in the past year a bright future looms.

Always cook vegetables in the shortest time possible in order to conserve nutritive values. Get your family used to the taste and texture of them when they are still tender-crisp rather than over-cooked and limp.

Y., will be wedded at Trinity Lutheran church, this place, this afternoon at 1:45 o'clock. Rev. Dr. J. Frederick Stolte, pastor, will officiate.

The bride will be attired in an ivory matakasse cocktail suit with blue accessories. She will carry a colonial bouquet of starlight roses, delphiniums and Bristol fairy.

The bride will be attended by Mrs. Leonard Van Horne as matron-of-honor. She will wear a lilac suit and violet accessories and will carry a bouquet of Briarcliff roses and delphinium.

The best man will be Leonard Van Horne, of Bangor.

A reception will follow at the bride's home. They will tour the Poconos and Rockport, Mass., on their honeymoon and will be at home at Tuckahoe after Aug. 1.

The bride is art supervisor of the Bangor public schools having received degrees at Kutztown State Teachers College and Penn State College. She is past president of the Junior Woman's club and B. P. W. She was the organizer and past president of the Slate Belt Artists Guild, member of Lehigh Art Alliance, Penn Guild of Craftsmen, Kittatinny art group and adult advisory board Bangor Youth center.

The bridegroom was graduated from Cornell University, and is employed as mechanical engineer of Foster-Wheeler Corp., New York City.

Aux. E. S. Pres. Church Hears Panel Talks

The Women's Auxiliary of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian church held the final session for the season at the church last night with Mrs. Ella Flory, the president, in charge of both the executive board and regular meeting.

Mrs. Mary Dunning was in charge of the devotions during which she used the flowers mentioned in the Bible to illustrate her remarks. The offering taken at the meeting will be donated to the cause of medical missions both foreign and national.

Announcement was made that a bake sale would be held at Wyckoff's department store Friday afternoon of this week starting at 1 o'clock. Those having donations for the sale are to contact Mrs. Paul Dellaria.

The auxiliary has four boxes packed and ready for shipment to Germany filled with varied supplies, particularly those which can be used in the schools.

The theme of the meeting was "Christian Education Builds—Tomorrow—Today." Mrs. T. J. Brietwieser was in charge of this portion of the program which was divided in four parts.

Mrs. Horace Walters discussed the phase covering American Christian Colleges. The second was covered by Mrs. Nathan Meyer who discussed social education and action in the orient.

Mrs. Lynn Lantz spoke on the third part in which she took up the subject, the minister, the rabbi and their church of God. Mrs. Charles Schaller concluded the talks, dwelling on the Allied youth movement, telling of the excellent results achieved in the Barrett township project.

The Esther circle members were hosts for the meeting and served refreshments from a table decorated with spring flowers and candles.

Those who sent gifts but were unable to attend were Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Schoch and Precetta Schoch. Adults attending were Mrs. L. Fisher, Mrs. Betty Schick, Mrs. Edwin Fisher and Billy's parents.

Shower Given Miss Elmore Monday Night

Tobyhanna — Miss Jean Elmore was honored at a personal shower given by Mrs. Nancy Saxe at the home of Mrs. LeRoy Schoch Sr. on Monday night. The gifts were arranged under a pastel umbrella, tied with streamers.

Those present were Mrs. Bertha Dailey, Mrs. Grover Dailey, Mrs. Pauline Dailey, Mrs. LeRoy Schoch, Mrs. Pearl Cadue, Mrs. Dorothy Keenhold, Mrs. Pauline Hochrine, Mrs. Mary Smith, Mrs. Harry Call, the hostesses and the guest of honor.

Miss Elmore's engagement to Pvt. LeRoy Schoch, Fort Devins, Mass., was previously announced. A July wedding is planned.

Group Enjoys Sunday Outing

A picnic and hotdog roast was enjoyed Sunday at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Heckman. The day was spent with cards, motorboat riding, swimming and quoits.

Those in attendance were: Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hay and daughter Mary Lou, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lugg, Mr. and Mrs. Ellery Clapper and granddaughter, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clapper, Mr. and Mrs. Verdon Fish and daughters, Richard Gearhart, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Werkheiser, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hissim, David Heckman, Joseph Burick and Mr. and Mrs. Clair Heckman.

Diced cooked turnip tastes good mixed with cooked peas and carrots; season well with salt and freshly-ground pepper and butter or magarine.

Roger Hennets Wedded 10 Years

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hennet, of 187 Elizabeth St., East Stroudsburg, are celebrating their 10th wedding anniversary today. Mrs. Elsie Ludwig, of 183 Elizabeth St., close personal friend is also observing her birthday today. No special observance has been planned.

Baseball School At Giffels Field Today

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Washington, N. J., top team in the Tri-County League, came to town with the reputation of being one of the best amateur and semi-pro baseball teams in this part of Pennsylvania and quickly lived up to its advance billing by beating Pocono A. C. handily, 16-9. In fact, the charges of Manager Ken Riley added insult to injury by sending Riley's very young son to center field in the final inning. However, proper support behind Russell "Lindy" Transue, second A. C. hurler, might have made the outcome close or even a victory for the home team.

The crowd attending the season's initial night game was disappointing and the future of the arc-light sport in Monroe County isn't any too bright at the present time. However, an increase in patronage could keep night baseball in operation for the remainder of the summer. The A. C. contingent is slated to play Stockertown under the lights on the W. Main St. field on Friday, the same night that Joie Chitwood makes his appearance at Delaware Valley Speedway.

Jack Ryan, a member of the Shawnee Inn golfing staff, made a hit with the people at Glen Brook Country club the other day, when the popular professional toured the local 18-hole layout in 71 strokes, while paying a visit to Mike Rubish, popular Glen Brook pro. Ryan went out in 35 and toured the back nine in 36. This column was informed that if a couple of hanging putts would have dropped, Ryan would have completed his tour of the course in less than 70 strokes.

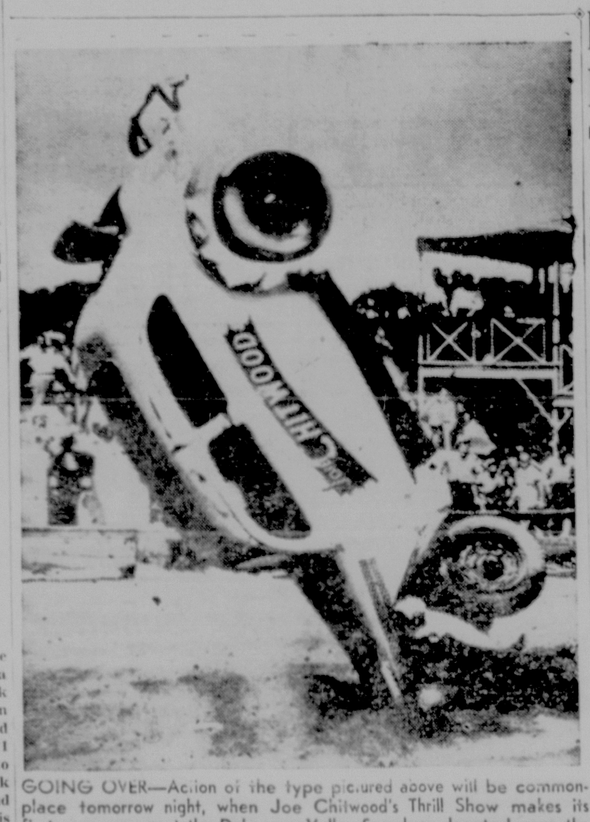

Ray "Pike" Fredericks is the low qualifier for the Glen Brook Club championship at the present time, touring the course in 75 strokes during his qualifying round. Augie Lockwitch, defending title holder, qualified recently with a score of 77. Lockwitch, Fredericks and Harold Storms played in the foursome with Ryan the other day. Storms and Ralph "Pete" Arnold are becoming popular choices to bag the Glen Brook title this year, on the strength of their play in recent weeks.

Charley Schneider Jr., North Hills, Pa.; Rod Munday, Yorktown, Pa., and Henry Williams, Jr., Kutztown, are three pros currently playing in the PGA tournament that make annual appearances at Shawnee. Barney Lutz, former manager of the Carbondale Pioneer Blues, North Atlantic League, recently singled for the only hit of the game, against Charley "Chuck" Hagy, Springfield, Lutz is managing the Lima, O. entry in the class "D" Ohio-Indiana League this season.

Easton is still technically a member of the Tri-County league, but the ax will apparently fall at any moment. The league is trying to find somebody to run the club, but at the latest report there were no takers. Jack Stehlin, popular catcher with the Stroudsburg Poconos in 1949 and part of 1950 is now a member of the air corps and is currently managing the baseball team at Sheppard Field, Wichita Falls, Texas. George Sentenand outfielder with the Poconos last season, recently hit a grand-slam home run for Eau Claire, Wis., class "C" Northern league, against Grand Forks.

Ed Varhely, ace southpaw hurler for the Poconos in 1949, is now chucking them up for Dallas, of the class "AA" Texas league, a Cleveland farm. Ed, who won 20 and lost only two with the Poconos, is currently sporting a record of four wins and two defeats, having pitched in 23 games, faced 71 batters and struck out 26, for an average of .667. Harry Schaffer, southpaw hurler with the Poconos in 1946 and 1947 and a graduate of ESSTC, has a mark of ten wins and five setbacks for Beaumont, a Yankee farm, in the same league. Schaffer has appeared in 16 games, faced 133 batters, fanned 57 and is currently sporting a mark of .667.

Frank Radler, manager of the Poconos in 1948, 1949 and 1950, now has his DeLand, Fla. club in first place by two and one-half games over Orlando, in the class "D" Florida State league. Evansville, Ind., has pulled into third place in the class "B" Three I league during the past week. Harry Warner, a resident of Reeders in the off-season, is holding down first base for Evansville.

GOING OVER—Action of the type pictured above will be commonplace tomorrow night, when Joe Chitwood's Thrill Show makes its first appearance at the Delaware Valley Speedway, located near the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg airport.

Roll-Over Contest To Feature Chitwood's Daredevil Show

World's championship roll-over contest with the nation's greatest stunt stars rolling speeding stock sedans end-over-end and side-over-side in a furious battle of men and machines will be staged as an added attraction when the Joie Chitwood World's Champion Auto Daredevil's appear at the Delaware Valley Speedway tomorrow at 8:30 p. m.

In this unique contest, a group of Chitwood's stuntmen are selected to roll stock sedans end-over-end and side-over-side until the automobiles are completely demolished. The daredevil rolling his car the most times in front of the grandstand is declared the winner. Points are awarded each stuntman, however, and these are totaled at the end of the season. The "crash" artist with the largest number of total points is declared the season's winner and world's champion. A purse of $1,500 is awarded the winner by Chitwood at the season's end.

Interest

This championship roll-over tournament creates considerable interest among the daredevils themselves and results in a "great show" for the spectators as these wild-riding motor maniacs deliver these slam-bang roll-over and batter their machines into a pulp, rolling the cars until they refuse to budge an inch.

Chitwood will bring to the Delaware Valley Speedway the same troupe of stuntmen who staged the thrilling and spectacular film sequences in the MGM movie, "To Please a Lady" which starred Clark Gable and Barbara Stanwyck.

Phillies To Hold Camp Three Days

A large contingent of boys between the ages of 16 and 23 are expected to be on hand today at Gordon Giffels field, when the Philadelphia Phillies present the first of three baseball school sessions to be held at the local ball yard. There will be one session today, the same number tomorrow and another on Saturday.

Instruction will be given each day from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., with Cy Morgan, veteran scout of the National League champions, in charge of the entire affair.

Staff

Marty Baldwin, well known local sportsman, and Jack Kist and Jerry Stulgaitis, baseball and football coaches at East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg High schools respectively, will be included on the clinic staff.

Boys in the above mentioned age group are required to have their own gloves and shoes and are asked to be uniformed if possible, although the latter isn't absolutely necessary.

The Phillies will supply bats and balls for the school.

Any diamond hopeful signed to a contact in the Phillies' system will be repayed for any expense incurred while attending the try-out school sessions.

Cardinals Run Over Cubs, 14-2

St. Louis (AP)—With Enos Slaughter pacing the drive with four hits, the St. Louis Cardinals swamped the Chicago Cubs 14 to 2 last night behind some fine relief pitching by Harry Brecheen. Five Chicago errors helped the St. Louis scoring along.

The Red Birds punched across enough to win in the first inning then kept adding runs except for the second, fifth and eighth innings.

Joe Presko started for St. Louis but was pulled for Brecheen after three innings when Manager Marty Marion decided the young rookie didn't have it. A home run by Phil Cavarretta in the third helped form the decision.

Early Runs

Walks to Tommy Glaviano, Stan Musial and Del Rice, a single by slaughter and errors by Bruce Edwards and Eddie Miksis accounted for the first-inning tallies.

The Cubs other run came in the second when Randy Jackson tripled and scored on Miksis' grounder.

The Redbirds' biggest inning was the sixth when they scored four times. A walk to Glaviano, a wild pitch, a safe bunt by Harry Lowrey and single by Musial finally spelled the end for Cub Starter Bob Schultz. The count was 9-1 at the time.

Reds Gain Nod Over Pirates

Cincinnati (AP)—A walk followed by a barrage of three singles drove young Bob Friend to the showers in the seventh inning last night and brought the Cincinnati Reds a 2 to 1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Bill Howerton's ninth inning home run with two out gave Pittsburgh it's only run.

Willie Ramsdale, winning his sixth victory as against seven defeats, was within one strike of a shutout when Howerton blasted his round tripper. Howerton also had a double for the Pirates.

Anxious Moments

The Reds had some anxious moments after Howerton's wallop. Bobby Adams' error allowed Joe Garagiola to reach first and Jack Phillip's towering drive went all the way to the left field wall before Lloyd Merriman hauled it in to end the game.

Friend allowed only two hits in the first six innings but the Reds got to him in a hurry in the seventh.

Favorites Bow Out Of Tourney

Columbus, O. (AP)—A pounderous Texan and a slat-thin Iowan scrambled the 1951 Intercollegiate Golf championship yesterday by knocking off the medalist and runner-up in first-round upsets.

Surprise

Ross Mitchell, 20-year-old Southern Methodist junior who ambles his 200 pounds around slowly on any occasion, scored the first surprise. He defeated medalist Sam Kocsis of Detroit, 32-year-old father of three children, two up.

Tom Crabbe, 19-year-old University of Iowa sophomore who weighs only 140 pounds although he's six-foot, one-inch tall, counted the matching upset. He downed medalist runner-up Billy Maxwell of North Texas State, one up in 19 holes.

Murphy Gives LaMotta Savage Beating As Bout Is Stopped After Seven Rounds By Ring Doctor

Yankee Stadium, New York (AP)—Irish Bob Murphy slashed Jake La Motta's face into a bloody pulp last night to stop the ex-middleweight champion on a technical knockout after seven rounds of head-to-head battering. Dr. Vincent Nardiello stopped the blood letting with Jake spouting red from slashes around both eyes and mouth.

Although announcer Johnny Addie announced the bout was stopped when Jake was unable to come out for the eighth no bell ever rang. Referee Ray Miller said it was an official round knockout under New York rules.

Everybody was as confused as LaMotta, who now has been stopped three times but still never knocked off his feet in 97 pro bouts.

Bleeding Badly

Bleeding badly from the cuts of his eyes and lip, LaMotta told Dr. Nardiello he "felt weak" when he questioned him in his corner after the seventh. He had been taking a savage beating from the Irishman from San Diego in the last three rounds.

Heavier than he ever fought before at 175 pounds, Jake was slow. The extra 15 pounds he picked up since February 14 when he lost his title to Ray Robinson at Chicago obviously did him no good.

Murphy, on the other hand, was sharp at 175 and one-half about his best fighting weight.

That swinging right uppercut that the ex-gob poured at LaMotta's chin from his southpaw stance chopped Jake down round by round.

Wading past the raking hooks of almost stationary Jake, the tousled red-haired slugger conducted an effective head-hunting expedition. Seldom did he stray to the body.

For a time in the third it looked like the eight and one-half to five odds on favorite Murphy might be out of line. Time after time LaMotta hammered hooks past Murphy's porous defense. It was all at close range with pal Jakey hooking in a good flurry at the bell.

Easter, Rosen Lead Indians To Nod Over Browns

Cleveland (AP)—Homers by Luke Easter and Al Rosen paced a 12-hit attack with which the Cleveland Indians beat the St. Louis Browns, 8-1 last night to sweep a two-game series with the last-placers.

Johnny Bero's third homer of the season was the only St. Louis run.

Easter, who won Wednesday night's game with an eleventh inning home run, drove in four of the runs last night with his homer and two singles.

Long Smack

He belted his tenth four-bagger in the seventh off Bill Kennedy, the second of three Brownie chuckers. The blow over right field came after Harry Simpson had forced Bob Avila. Al Rosen, next man up, smacked his eleventh homer over the left field fence.

Vets, American Legion Clash

Donkey baseball fans of Monroe county will have an opportunity to see their favorite act on Monday night, when the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion Post get together in a real old-fashioned diamond draw. The contest will begin at 8.

Local Posts

The game will feature the George N. Kemp American Legion Post, East Stroudsburg, against the Thomas P. Lambert, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post, Stroudsburg, at Gordon Giffels field. The game will be played under the lights.

Dalton Serfass' Spartans will go all out to take Frank Weller's Warriors into camp, while the Vets will be attempting to turn the tables.

The game, usually as funny as a circus, will pit two rival service organizations against each other and each club is expected to have a large delegation of supporters on hand, while a still larger crowd of impartial fans is also expected to watch the action.

Portland Takes Measure Of Johnsonville

Portland—A last inning rally by Johnsonville was halted here last night by the relief pitching of Randall Ott as Portland scored a 3-0 Blue Mountain League victory on the winning club's home field. Although the game was played here, it was actually Johnsonville's home contest, as the latter doesn't have a home field at the present time.

Swim Meet Listed For Shawnee Pool

Shawnee-on-Dlaware — The annual Shawnee Invitation championship swimming meet will be held at the Shawnee Inn and Country club pool here Sunday afternoon, July 15.

With acceptance piling up rapidly this year's meet will, according to Charles Roeser, chairman of the National AAU swimming committee and coach of the U. S. Olympic swimming team, be one of the top events in the country.

University of North Carolina's Jimmy Thomas, who was a member of the U. S. team which made a successful tour of Japan a few months ago and who is now training at Yale University; Mike Daly, junior Olympic diving champion from Baltimore; and Ralph Trimborn, mid-western intercollegiate diving champion from the University of Michigan, are a few of the men who already have accepted invitations.

Women

Maureen O'Brien, women's national backstroke champion from Red Bank, N. J.; Eleanor Toy, senior New York women's diving champion; Mary Croake, senior New Jersey freestyle champion; Mary Ann Walsh, Scranton, Middle Atlantic freestyle champion; and Kitty Carney, Middle Atlantic District backstroke champion from Philadelphia are some of the women already entered.

This year's meet will be the final event for most of the swimmers before they compete in the national championships at Detroit later in the month.

The Invitation swimming meet heralds the opening of a full week of competition at Shawnee. On Monday, July 16 "Golf Week" starts with a diffrent tournament scheduled for each day until Sunday. The golf events will include a pro-ladies, pro-member, and the Shawnees vs Delawares team championships.

Shawnee opened its outstanding array of sporting events for the season last week, when the annual Invitation Golf Tournament was held over a four-day period.

Tom Robbins, Larchmont, N. Y., won the tournament and medalist honors that go with the first day of play.

Tigers Come To Life In Late Innings To Gain Verdict Over League-Leading White Sox, 3-2

Chicago (AP) —The Detroit Tigers bunched two singles, a sacrifice and a long run scoring fly in the eighth inning to edge out the pace-setting Chicago White Sox, 3-2, before 12,696.

Virgil Trucks, coming to the rescue of starter Ted Gray in the seventh, received credit for his second victory of the season. Harry Dorish, who replaced Saul Rogovin in the eighth, was charged with the loss—his second against three victories.

The start of the game was delayed 53 minutes because of a noon time downpour. An hour after the start of the game, black clouds settled over Comiskey park and it became so dark that plate umpire Jim Honochick ordered the field lights turned on.

Stops Foe

Gray, with a record of three victories against seven defeats, shackled the White Sox with two hits until the fifth inning. Then two singles, plus a base on balls, enabled the Chicagoans to score. Rogovin, facing his former teammates for the first time since he was traded to the Sox six weeks ago, held the Tigers to three hits through the sixth inning.

With one out in the seventh, however, the Tigers blasted into a 2-1 lead on a walk, two singles and a sacrifice that went for a fielder's choice with all runners safe. After Pat Mullin flied out, Dick Kryhoski walked and Hoot Evers dropped a single into right.

Charley Keller, batting for Aaron Robinson, also singled to right, scoring Kryhoski, and sending Evers to third. Gray bunted and when Rogovin threw late to second base, Evers scored with the lead run.

The Tigers forged into their 3-2 lead in the eighth off the pitching of reliefer Harry Dorish. George Kell singled to left and was sacrificed by Vic Wertz. Pat Mullin scratched a single past Carrasquel, sending Kell to third. Dick Kryhoski flied to center, with Kell scoring the lead run.

Red Sox Stage Rally To Triumph Over A's, 6-5

Boston (AP) — The Boston Red Sox overcame a 13-hit attack, including homers by Lou Klein and Gus Zernial, yesterday to pull out a 6-5 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Triples by Dom DiMaggio and Billy Goodman, plus singles by pinchhitter Charley Maxwell and Ted Williams, enabled the Red Sox to come from behind with a three-run rally in the seventh inning.

Injured

Ray Scarborough, the starting Boston pitcher, was struck on the back of the head by a pickoff pitch after he singled against righthander Carl Scheib in the third inning.

Scarborough was removed to a Cambridge hospital which reported him suffering from a bruise near his right ear.

Dodgers Run Over Giants

New York (AP)—Two big blasts, featuring three-run homers by Andy Pafko and "Duke" Snider, carried the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 10-4 triumph over the New York Giants yesterday and increased their National League lead to six games over their interborough rivals.

Big Don Newcombe recovered from a rocky start to finish in a blaze of glory. He retired the last ten batters as he recorded his tenth victory of the season.

Good Stuff

Newcombe really had it yesterday in sharp contrast to New York's Jim Hearn who was slugged for eight of Brooklyn's 11 hits before he was derricked in a six-run sixth inning. The Dodgers' other runs came in the fourth after Hearn had held them scoreless through the first three frames.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

THURSDAY, JUNE 28, 1951

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Don't take the wrong meanings or inferences, which mislead both you and others. Smile and assist the underdog. IF he is right. Sympathy should be wisely used. Aim to know the facts.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)— You may have little encouragement from others, especially in financial or business matters. You can likely make easier headway in personal contacts, planning of future efforts.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Generous aspects that could be used in many ways to advance your status. Heart interests also favored along with family matters. Courtesy and kindly answers are top-raters.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Should not be very tricky period from wh'ch you versatile, industrious natives can reap results. Be an early bird, and consistent and you can advance appreciably.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—With steady pace, cheerfulness in business you can go ahead to good gains. Caution highlights essential matters, says bypass non-useful endeavors. Hold disposition in check.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Today may test your knack for mudling ways of making something out of little. Hold to a sound, healthy schedule well planned and you can achieve. Give heed to others' suggestions.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Excellent planetary outlook for most efforts well presented. Don't let influences sway you from high objectives. You have foresight, use this, all your gifts and attain.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—A word to the wise is enough to you apt, clever folks. Stay away from contention and unscrupulous people. Be a careful onlooker and be better off spiritually, mentally, all ways.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Learn to say "no" and stick to it in questionable propositions, deals that can't stand close study. Be sanely conservative. Don't take a chance with your reputation.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Your path may be obstructed with things that do not concern you. Treat them that way and you can achieve more goals. Don't force issues and injure health. Watch habits.

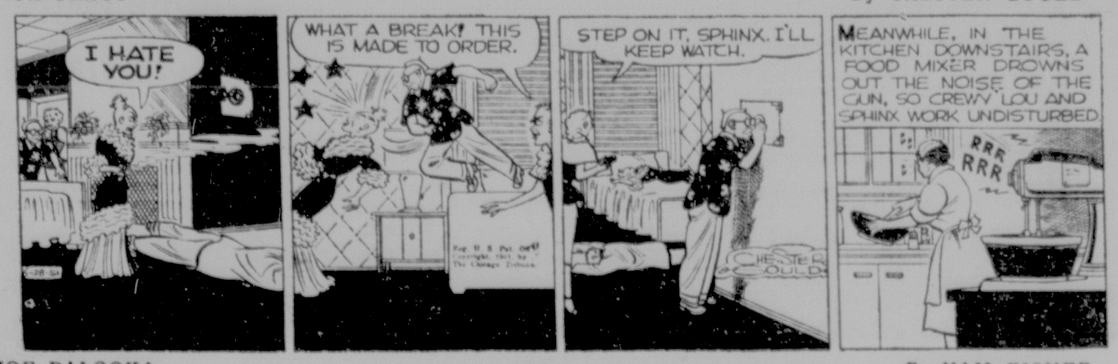

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Planetary aspects fine, use everything to best advantage. Honorable effort begets just reward, but maybe not immediately. Keep within your sphere of capability to deliver well.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Even if you feel sure you are right, do not start without rechecking, especially in money and character matters. News helpful if you analyze rightly. Don't over-extend.

YOU BORN TODAY: have plenty of tenacity and business grit to put over difficult propositions. Try not to be too sensitive to pay too much attention to others' chatter and you will have less of nervousness. Bearer of an excellent memory, you are naturally industrious, domestic; can be wise saver. Many fine assets, can make especial headway in art, music, in Government or as manager of business employing many people. Be wise about health needs, especially regarding stomach. Don't take on more than you can handle.

Reynolds Hurls Third Straight Shutout, 2-0

Washington, (AP)—Allie Reynolds pitched his third straight shutout and lifted the New York Yankees within one game of the league-leading Chicago White Sox by beating Washington, 2-0 on five hits last night.

Reynolds, who hasn't allowed a run in 28 and two-thirds innings or a base on balls in 34 and two-thirds innings, won his eighth decision and his fifth in a row.

Don Johnson and Tom Ferrick, both ex-Yankees, held New York to seven hits, but the run the Yankees gave Reynolds in the first inning proved sufficient.

Phil Rizzuto opened the game with a double to right, moved to third on Hank Bauer's grounder and scored on Gene Woodling's single to center.

The Yankees obtained their other run in the sixth inning with some luck.

The Senators moved only one man to third base, when Gene Verble tripled with one out in the fifth inning.

Rain Halts Four Games In Local Area

Rain and wet grounds raised havoc with the baseball and softball scene in Monroe County last night, with all four contests on the agenda being postponed until a later date.

Penn-Stroud Hotel held a 2-0 lead over Stroudsburg Security Trust with two runners on base and one out in the second inning when the rains came and knocked the Stroudsburg Little League tilt off the books at the Stroudsburg playground.

Tonight's agenda in the same circuit sends the First Stroudsburg National Bank against the Security Trust club, on the same field.

East Stroudsburg

Cramer's Lumber Co. and the National Bank were deadlocked 1-1 in the bottom of the second inning when the rain forced postponement of the contest until a later date.

Tonight's schedule in this league will find Peter-Arnold-Howell opposing Cramer Lumber Co., at the East Stroudsburg playground.

Both Monroe County Softball League contests were also postponed last night, when showers hit this area.

Tonight's schedule in this loop will send Kulp's Foundry against IAM, on the junior high field, while Worthington Mower and Union Printers come to blows at the playground. Both tilts are listed for 6:15.

Blue Mountain League Lists Four Tilts On Tonight's Slate

A full schedule will be featured in the Blue Mountain league tonight, when all eight clubs are scheduled to move into action, on four fronts. In all cases, games get under way at 6:15.

Pocono A. C., a half-game off the pace being set by Roseto A. A., will invade the home domain of the Tatamy Indians, with Chet Lucki slated to be the starting hurler for the number two club in the circuit at the present time.

John Drew will handle the catching chores, while Danny Eppley is stationed at first base; Dewey Martling, second base; Jim Werkheiser, shortstop, and Tom "Lem" Bonser at third base.

Outfield

Another important struggle on tonight's agenda will send Roseto against Stockertown, on the latter's home field, as the first and seventh place teams in the loop come to blows

West Bangor, in fourth place, will play host to sixth place Portland, on the former's home diamond, at Bangor's Memorial field.

Third place East Bangor will be at home with cellar-dwelling Johnsonville, with the former interested in moving closer to the top rung of the standings.

Ferrier Leads PGA Field In Qualifying

Oakmont, Pa. (AP)—Jim Ferrier, the stoop-shouldered Australian native with the kinky swing and seeing-eye putter, wove a pattern of birdies over hazardous Oakmont yesterday to take the first round qualifying lead in the Professional Golfers Association Tournament with a three-under-par 69.

The big San Franciscan out-putted ten greens, sinking four nudges of from 16 to 40 feet, and planted a total of eight birdies on the spacious, marble surfaces. He had only 26 putts for the day.

Low Scores

Ferrier's remarkable round gave him a two-stroke advantage over defending champion Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., and four others—bracketed at 71 — going into day's final 18 holes of qualifying.

Tied at 71 with Harper were the host professional, lantern-jawed Lew Worsham, Lloyd Mangrum, the tough little battler, from Niles, Ill., Ed "Porky" Oliver of Seattle, and 32-year-old Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., getting his baptism in the PGA.

Foes Of Tax Still Maintain United Front

Harrisburg — Reaffirming his personal position that "new taxes are unnecessary," Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe (R-Monroe) said here yesterday that all of the eleven other GOP senators opposed to further taxation" have adopted that phrase not only as a slogan but a firm principle."

"When we say no taxes are necessary, we mean sales tax, income tax or mercantile tax," Senator Crowe asserted.

He said he did not attend the breakfast meeting called by G. Mason Owlett and that any reports than any single one of the 12 senators "is wavering" is without foundation.

Senator Crowe said all members of the Senate are deeply incensed over a statement made late yesterday before adjournment by Sen. Newell Wood (R-Luzerne), spokesman for Governor Fine on the income tax, repudiating the leadership of Sen. John M. Walker (R-Allegheny) as floor leader in the Senate.

Senator Wood, according to Crowe, said the Governor is repudiating Walker's leadership, thereby severing relationships between the executive office and Walker.

"The entire Senate is incensed," Crowe said. 'After all we are a separate entity—the legislative branch—and as such we have every right to elect and support our own officers and leaders without the dictates of the executive branch.

"It is just a bit more evidence of the single purpose of the executive branch to force taxes on the people regardless of the desires of a majority of the Senate and a vast majority of the people," Senator Crowe declared.

"We intend to stand by the leader we have selected — Senator Walker—and to maintain our stand that economies and upward revision of revenues will combine to save the people from taxation without in any way harming appropriations to education, teachers, hospitals, welfare and other services," he declared.

Russia Suggests Negotiations In Field

Allies Also Meet Strong Enemy Fire

Tokyo, Thursday (AP)—The Communists made strong probing attacks today on the central Korea front. They were hurled back. But Allied patrols stabbing at suspected Red buildup areas were showered with mortar and automatic weapon fire.

Fighting was bitter.

It came as the Russians reportedly suggested that any truce in the fighting be negotiated by the commanders of the North Korean and United Nations forces.

Associated Press Correspondent Nate Polowetzky said the Russian move caused mild surprise at Eighth Army. The offer, he noted, was startlingly similar to the proposal by Gen. Douglas MacArthur that he meet with Red field commanders to discuss steps for ending the Korean war.

Neither Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U. N. supreme commander, nor Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, would comment on the reported Russian proposal. A spokesman for Ridgway said the supreme commander would have to consult with the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington.

Fifth Air Force pilots reported sighting heavy southbound vehicular traffic on the main roads south of Wonsan and Yangdok on the east coast. They also reported enemy vehicles moving on the supply routes between Sinanju, northwestern Korea, and Pyongyang, Korean Communist capital.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker said frontline officers expect a Red attack in the western sector by the second week in July.

Elements of an Allied division in the Kumhwa sector of the central front battled all night.

A pooled dispatch said a battalion-size attack hit east of Kumhwa last night but, by early today, was driven back under a night-long artillery barrage.

The Reds hit in the same sector two hours later and made a slight dent in the U. N. position. But counterattacking Allied forces restored their line by morning after inflicting heavy losses on the Communists.

A third attack was turned back into the predawn hours. Then at 4:30 a.m. the Chinese charged just east of Kumhwa and were cut down by U. N. artillery.

North Korean Communists farther east unloosed several small attacks northeast of Yanggu, sped at the eastern end of the sprawling Hwachon reservoir.

These attacks were described in a pooled dispatch as "probing and harassing." They were broken up by Allied artillery and mortar fire.

Allied patrols met stubborn enemy resistance as they moved toward Kumsong, suspected hub of another Red buildup on the central front. Hundreds of dug-in Reds beat back U. N. attempts to move into the area.

In the west there was no significant fighting as patrols moved through the Imjin river area north of Seoul.

Yesterday, Allied forces were held to probing advances of one to three miles along the irregular 100-mile front.

Senate Defeats Disperal Bill

Washington (AP)—The Senate rejected last night a move for dispersing future industrial plants widely instead of concentrating them in relatively few areas.

By a rollcall vote of 56 to 25, the chamber defeated the O'Mahoney amendment to the pending price-wage controls bill.

Under this amendment, the approval of the President would be required for the location of any new defense plant. He would take into consideration such factors as vulnerability to attack and the availability of unused natural resources.

The vote followed a sharp debate over whether big corporations and crowded industrial areas are getting a top-heavy share of defense work and profits.

Truman Suspends Revenue Collector

Washington (AP) — Denis W. Delaney, collector of internal revenue at Boston, was suspended by President Truman yesterday pending an investigation of the manner in which he has conducted his office.

A House ways and means subcommittee called immediately for an official report on the suspension.

The White House announcement of action against Delaney was contained in a single sentence. It merely said "certain charges" had been made against the 54-year-old collector, and that these would be looked into.

Senate Keeps Rollback Ban In Price Bill

Washington, (AP)—The Senate dealt a body blow to President Truman's economic controls program last night amid a tangled legislative situation which threw the whole future of controls into doubt.

By a roll call vote of 61 to 26, the Senate refused to strike from its controls bill a provision forbidding any rollbacks on the price of live beef and other commodities which would send the prices lower than those prevailing in the period Jan. 25-Feb. 24.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston has warned that this prohibition would cost consumers between $10,000,000,000 and $12,000,000,000 in higher prices.

The Senate took its action in working on a controls bill to replace the existing defense production act, expiring Saturday.

While it drove at full speed to pass the bill by this afternoon at the latest, House leaders made a bipartisan agreement to extend the nation's economic controls through July on a stopgap basis.

They gave up hope of having a new defense production act ready by midnight Saturday, when current controls on prices, wages, rents and credit die.

But the Senate must concur in any stopgap legislation. And Senator McFarland of Arizona, the Senate's Democratic leader, told a reporter Senate leaders "are not thinking now" of going along with the House on any short-term extension.

He said he had conferred with House Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex) and told him the Senate hopes the House will get a complete bill passed instead of an extension resolution.

It is unlikely that Congress would permit its anti-inflation control to lapse, even temporarily.

But to avoid this situation the Senate will either have to go along with the House on emergency legislation or the House will have to turn on the steam and get a bill passed by the deadline.

Debate hasn't even started yet on the House bill. It will come on the floor with 57 separate committee amendments, each of which is subject to debate and separate roll calls.

Senator Douglas (D-Ill) led the fight to remove the anti-rollback provision from the Senate bill. It was considered a key test of the willingness of the Senate to go along with Mr. Truman on a program of sterner controls.

Republicans joined Democrats in the House in supporting a resolution by Chairman Spence (D-Ky) of the House Banking committee to extend the present controls for 31 days. It is expected to meet with little opposition when it comes up in the House Friday.

Author of the limitation on rollbacks was Senator Maybank (D-SC), who contended the threat of further orders to lower prices should be removed from American business. Senator George (D-Ga) joined him with an assertion that if the power to make rollbacks were left in the bill "it will virtually stagnate business."

Port Bill Passes

Harrisburg (AP) — The House yesterday unanimously approved a bill setting up the Delaware River Port Authority. The measure goes to the Governor for his signature. The measure provides for the appointment by New Jersey and Pennsylvania of members to the authority for the purpose of building and maintaining means of transportation across the river between the two states.

U.S. ARMY ENGINEERS CORPS officers and representatives of Rochez Bros. Inc., East Pittsburgh, Pa. contractor yesterday inspected preliminary work to starting the first phase of the Signal Corps depot at Tobyhanna. Shown here at Lt. Col. Mullin, Philadelphia office of the engineers; Capt. John A. Myers, resident engineer for the corps, and George Nicholson, general superintendent for Rochez Bros. (Daily Record photo)

Contractors Start Building Road To Site Of Proposed Army Depot At Tobyhanna

Tobyhanna—Rochez Brothers, Inc., East Pittsburgh, Pa., contractors, have started to slash a right-of-way for a road leading to the site of the $30,000,000 Signal Corps Depot on a 1,400-acre section of the old military reservation here.

Actual work on site preparation has not started, but bulldozers and other heavy equipment are clearing brush, small trees and other obstructions to an approach to the site.

Capt. John A. Myers, Army Corps of Engineers resident engineer, noted yesterday that Rochez Bros. Inc., had been given "notice of contract award" last Thursday. The contract between the Army Corps of Engineers and the firm is now in process of negotiations.

Next step when contract is signed, Captain Myers explained, is for the Engineers Corps to give notice to the contractor to proceed with the work.

The East Pittsburgh firm was apparent low bidder with a figure of $2,899,579.50 when bids were opened earlier this month by Corps of Engineers district office in Philadelphia.

Dating from date of official notice contract has been awarded, the contract has 150 days to complete the project of grading and drainage.

In a letter received here yesterday, Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-20th District) said the Army Engineers will permit construction workers to be quartered in buildings on the reservation. However, it is up to contractors involved to provide housing for the works, and, should they use any of these buildings, they must pay expenses to make necessary repairs.

George Nicholson, general superintendent in charge of the Rochez Bros., Inc. project, has established an office on the site tract.

Heavy equipment continues to arrive on the site where it is being readied for formal notice that contract has been negotiated and approved. Meanwhile, the task of assembling a labor force to supplement key workers of Rochez Bros. Inc. is progressing.

Fine Proposes Pay Hike For State Workers

Harrisburg (AP) — Gov. John S. Fine yesterday proposed a 10 percent cost-of-living salary increase for Pennsylvania's 50,000 State employes.

At the same time the General Assembly handed the Governor its idea of a raise for its own members—a $50 monthly increase in expense allowance for 208 representatives and 50 senators.

The Governor estimated the State employes' salary boost would cost $9,000,000 in the 1951-53 biennium. A $600 annual increase for 258 legislators would amount to $309,600 in the same two-year period.

The House passed finally the measure increasing legislators' expense allowances from $1200 to $1800 annually. The vote was 189-15. It passed the Senate earlier in the week with six votes against

Winds, Rains Pound Nation

(By The Associated Press)

Tornado winds and storms and hail pounded parts of the midwest and east yesterday. At least six persons were feared dead and damage to crops and property was heavy.

A tornado slashed through a ten-block residential area in the 2,000-population western Kansas town of Wakeeney, killing four persons and injuring about 40.

A storm with wind gusts unofficially estimated at 100 miles an hour battered a 40-mile-wide area in central Illinois.

The Illinois Power Co. said damage to its lines in the storm area was the worst in 15 years. The wind also tore away power lines and ripped up trees. The tender new corn crop and some buildings were damaged by hail.

A GENERAL PATTON M-46 TANK, rendered waterproof by a deep "fording kit," proceeds through six feet of water during an Army test near Washington. The kit consists of pre-shaped rubber shields for gun barrel openings, tape ,sealing compounds and intake-exhaust stacks. The latter protrude above the water and allow the submerged tank to "breathe."

British Halt Pumping Of Aghajari Oil

Tehran, Iran (AP) — The British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. shut off the pumps in the Aghajari oil field and started calling the 700 British technicians on its field staff to the refinery port of Abadan yesterday for the zero hour of "operation Exodus."

That hour may strike today. Premier Mohammed Mossadegh called a Cabinet meeting.

His government is checking the possibility of getting other foreign help in the event the British decline to continue as employes of the Iranian National Oil Co., a government agency Mossadeh has designated as successor to the AIOC.

A dispatch from Rome said a high official of Italy's state oil monopoly, Count Ettore Caraffa D'Andria, is visiting Iran with the approval of the Italian government. Informed sources were quoted.

The informants said Mossadegh's government wanted to know about the legal and financial organization of the Italian company, known as "AGIP," and its relations with foreign oil companies.

Some officials of the billion-dollar AIOC expect word from London in the next 24 hours—unless there is an unforeseen break in the oil nationalization dispute—to abandon its holdings in this sun-baked hotspot and go ahead with the evacuation of the British staff.

Acheson Makes Plea To Iran

Washington (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson desperately appealed to Iran last night to make a stop-gap oil arrangement with the British and avert the disaster which he fears.

As he issued his statement, the British and Iranians were locked tighter than ever in a deadlock over Iran's nationalization of a vast oil industry which has been operated by the British.

Britain moved a cruiser to the Persian gulf and prepared, perhaps, to evacuate the entire staff of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. The British had shut off the pumps in the Aghapara field.

Acheson appealed for a stop-gap plan under which British technicians would remain to keep the oil, vital to Western Europe's defenses against Russia, flowing.

The secretary of state warned that the methods followed by Iran in her nationalization drive threatens a complete shutdown of the oil fields and economic distress to Iran's people.

Largely unspoken was the fear that if the Iranian oil industry shuts down for any extended period, there may be explosive disorders in Iran which, with Russia on the country's northern border, could lead to events of grave import for the whole world.

Golf Caddy Killed

Bradford (AP) — Coroner Elmer C. Beatty has issued a verdict of accidental death in the case of Bernard Fiero, 11-year-old Bradford golf caddy who was struck on the head by a golf ball.

Reaction To Talks One Of Pessimism

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—The U.S. ambassador to Moscow and Russia's ranking deputy foreign minister talked over in deep secrecy yesterday Jacob A. Malik's bid for ending the war in Korea. The first reaction in western circles in Moscow was somewhat pessimistic, with hints a truce conference may be coming up in the Russian capital.

Malik himself remained ill—and obviously without further instructions—in his summer home at Glen Cove, Long Island. In answer to requests for clarification, a spokesman said "I am authorized to state that Mr. Malik's radio speech explains clearly enough his view on the Korean question."

Clarification is sought by all 16 United Nations fighting in Korea. Their diplomats, meeting in Washington, declared their readiness to join in "action designed to bring about a genuine and enduring peace in Korea."

Malik caused the furore Saturday by proposing in a speech over a U.N. radio program that the belligerents get together for cease-fire talks and arrange a mutual withdrawal of troops from the 38th parallel.

The spokesman said Malik had seen none of the numerous diplomats who have been trying to see him and get further details. This included U. S. Ambassador Ernest A. Gross, who has been instructed by Secretary of State Acheson to see the highest ranking Russian possible at the U. N., and Assembly President Nasrollah Entezam of Iran.

U. S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk got the same instructions in Moscow and was received for 20 minutes yesterday by Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyka, who had just returned from futile talks in Paris with the west.

At the end of the Moscow session, Kirk was not talking to outsiders but the impression prevailed in western circles in the Russian capital that Gromyko's ideas might not be received enthusiastically in Washington.

One Moscow diplomat gloomily put it this way: "We may be back where we started."

Others said the world situation is going to get worse before it gets better.

A strong hint of the American position came in Washington. There Secretary Acheson told the House Foreign Affairs committee that if a cease-fire can be arranged the "greatest guarantee" against new aggression would be the withdrawal of Chinese troops beyond the Yau river boundary between Korea and Manchuria.

Acheson said that might involve a withdrawal by stages of all foreign troops but that would take time because South Korean forces would have to be strengthened to resist anything which occurred.

Acheson told the committee members that the U. S. is attempting to find out by the most direct possible means the Russian intentions.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie flew in from an interrupted vacation in Norway to lend a hand in talks here. He conferred first with close aides and then talked with Entezam for 50 minutes.

Lie said on his return that he is "always hopeful."

Noted Actor Dies

New York, (AP)—David Warfield, 84-year-old actor, died last night in his Manhattan apartment. He retired in 1924 after a career that made him one of Broadway's greatest stars early in the century.

War Commanders Would Represent N. Korea And U.N.

Washington (AP) — Russia is reported to have told the United States yesterday that moves toward a truce in Korea should take the form of military negotiations between the North and United Nations field commanders.

Russia's reported suggestion thus would leave the Chinese Communists out of any impending cease-fire talks, apparently except as advisers to the North Koreans.

Red China has contended all along that Chinese Communist troops fighting in Korea are simply "volunteers" although they are the main force fighting the United Nations.

It was understood last night that talks in Moscow yesterday between U.S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk and Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrie Gromyko produced the Russian "clarification" suggesting that the military commanders negotiate cease-fire terms.

Kirk Confers With Gromyko In Moscow

Moscow (AP)— U. S. Ambassador Alan G. Kirk and Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko talked for 20 minutes yesterday about the Russian proposal for a cease-fire in Korea. Not all were optimistic in the diplomatic colony, but some speculated on the possibility of a Moscow truce parley.

A number of diplomats here clung to the view the world situation is going to get worse before it gets better. They said in advance that Gromyko's views, which Kirk is relaying to Washington, might not get a whole-hearted reception in the West.

"We may be back where we started," one said.

Kirk declined comment on the talk, but Washington had instructed him to seek clarification of Soviet Delegate Jacob Malik's proposal in a United Nations broadcast Saturday for a cease-fire in Korea and withdrawal of troops from the 38th parallel.

Kirk was accompanied to the Foreign ministry by the embassy counsellor, Edward L. Freers, and First Secretary Richard M. Service.

Mac Probers Warn Russia U.S. Is United

Washington (AP)— Senators who quarreled over the firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur teamed up yesterday to warn Russia that "ultimate destruction" awaits any aggressor who starts war on the mistaken idea that Americans are badly split.

"The issues which might divide our people are far transcended by the things which unite them," said a statement approved by members of the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations committees. Those groups, which made the long study of Far East policy set off by dismissal of the Pacific commander, directly addressed to "the Communist world" this word of caution:

"If threatened danger becomes war, the aggressor would find at one stroke arrayed against him the united energies, the united resources, and the united devotion of all the American people."

The statement also included words of reassurance for those in other countries of the free world who may have been disturbed by the disagreements which emerged in the hearings.

Another section aimed at Americans asserted that "our democracy has the vitality to withstand any strains that reflect the tensions of an uneasy world' and added:

"We are convinced that an open discussion of such differences brings strength and unity of purpose."

Kirk's report on his talks was rushed to the State department here yesterday afternoon.

There had been considerable confusion earlier over the meaning of a cease-fire proposal tossed out by Soviet U. N. Delegate Jacob Malik in a radio speech in New York last Saturday.

Malik had said that "the belligerents" should discuss an end to hostilities, but left it up in the air as to the exact identity of the "belligerents."

The confusion centered chiefly on Red China's official pretense that she is a non-belligerent.

The Kirk-Gromyko talk in Moscow and another approach to Malik in New York—both ordered by Secretary of State Acheson—are regarded here as the first steps in what may be fairly prolonged east-west exploratory discussions.

It is believed that some time may elapse before it can be known whether a cease-fire is in fact possible.

One point reportedly not cleared up yesterday in the Kirk-Gromyko talk was the matter of guarantees against a violation of any cease-fire agreement.

And because of western insistence on adequate guarantees, there is some reason to believe that simple military negotiations in the field are insufficient in the view of the American government.

More detailed political discussions may be put forward by Washington as essential.

Earlier in the day, diplomats of 16 United Nations countries fighting in Korea formally declared their readiness to end the war under terms designed to bring about "genuine and enduring peace" in Korea.

The group, meeting at the State department, signified their approval of truce moves as Secretary of State Acheson sketched the broad outline of possible steps for peace at a ssession with lawmakers on Capitol Hill.

Acheson called on Red China to pull back her troops into Manchuria—as evidence of good faith against further aggression—if a cease-fire is arranged in the Korean war.

The 16 U. N. members declared in a statement:

"The high purposes of the charter of the U. N., by which the members of the U. N. are solemnly bound, oblige them to take effective collective measures for the prevention and removal of threats to the peace and for the suppression of acts of aggression or other breaches of the peace.

"It was in accordance with these purposes that U. N. forces have been and are committed in Korea.

"The U. N. charter also enjoins its members to settle their international disputes by peaceful means.

"The representatives express their view that their governments have always been and still are ready to take part in action designed to bring about a genuine and enduring peace in Korea."

Secretary Acheson told Congress members that if Red China agreed to pull back her armies into Manchuria, such a step would "possibly involve" a gradual withdrawal of all foreign troops, including Americans, from Korea.

But Acheson warned, in testimony before a House committee, that any trickery or rekindling of hostilities after United Nations forces had left the Korean war zone might well explode World War Three.

"If there was a settlement, and if it was disturbed again in Korea, it would be a very dangerous step and would endanger world peace," Acheson said gravely.

"It would not be by accident. If it happened again, it would happen as a calculated design that would have to be fully understood."

Duff, Dewey Linked Behind Eisenhower

New York (AP)—Newsweek says Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Sen. James H. Duff, former governor of Pennsylvania have assured each other they will back Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican presidential nomination in 1952.

Last month, the magazine says in its July 2 issue, out today, the two men "held a very private meeting—their first since Duff opposed Dewey to the bitter end at the Republican convention in Philadelphia in 1948.

"It was arranged by Herbert Brownell, Dewey's 1948 campaign manager. It was highly cordial. The outcome was an exchange of assurances that Duff and Dewey would try to line up their states' delegations for an Eisenhower draft."

If the officials succeed in swinging "the two biggest state delegations' to Eisenhower, the magazine adds, it "would give the draft a tremendous, perhaps irresistible start."

Former Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota, now president of the University of Pennsylvania, also has assured Dewey in a telephone conversation he "was advising his friends in the Republican party to put their shoulders to the Eisenhower draft," Newsweek states.

It quotes the general's brother, Milton Eisenhower, now president of Pennsylvania State College, as saying that the general is a Republican by conviction, and might accept "a call to higher duty" when his military duties in Europe are fulfilled.

200 Citizens Get Evidence On Gambling

Lake Charles, La. (AP)— A group of more than 200 citizens adapting French underground methods to gather evidence on gambling in this southwest Louisiana parish (county) laid 100 specific charges on the district attorney's desk yesterday.

Attorney James Dewey O'Brien, temporary chairman of a secret five-member commission directing operations, told how evidence was collected "despite threats, both physical and financial."

Teams of one, two and sometimes three people were appointed by the commission to visit gambling joints. More than 200 citizens participated. They gathered evidence on 30 establishments.

"No one person ever knew the names of more than two other persons working in his area," O'Brien said. "That way we had almost no leaks."

This style of operation was suggested by Managing Editor Kenneth L. Dixon of the Lake Charles American Press, who was an Associated Press war correspondent in France during the last war, and by a World War Two veteran on the commission who had escaped from the Germans through the French Underground.

"The plan worked successfully," O'Brien said, "although many of the workers were threatened several times when some information leaked out, and most all commission members had some kind of pressure used on them."

Long Distance Operators Given Raise

Washington (AP)— A 10 per cent wage increase for 20,000 long distance telephone operators and servicemen was announced yesterday by the CIO's Communications Workers union.

The union said the increase was contained in a one-year contract agreement signed in New York with the American Telephone and Telegraph Co.

The agreement covers company employes working in 42 states and the District of Columbia.

It grants basic wage increases ranging from a low of $3 a week at starting rates in smaller towns to a high of $9 a week in the larger cities. Employes in 19 towns across the country were reclassified upwards by an additional $1 to $3 a week.

Guild Urges Mills In U.S.

Pittsburgh (AP)—The CIO American Newspaper guild yesterday urged the Federal government to lend money at low interests to U.S. manufactureres interested in setting up paper mills to provide domestic newsprint at reasonable prices.

Delegates to the ANG's 18th annual convention unanimously passed a resolution which accused "the newsprint monopoly" with "driving American newspapers to the wall by its extortionate price policies."

Federal Agent Calls Luciano, Deported Vice Czar, King Pin Of Threat-Ruled Dope Ring

Washington (AP) — A Federal agent yesterday called Charles (Lucky) Luciano "the king pin" in a dope trade which investigating senators said is ruled by the threat of death.

The deported vice czar, described as running his sinister kingdom from Italy through gunman agents, took top billing in a televised hearing before the Senate Crime committee.

Testimony about Luciano came from Charles Siragusa, Federal narcotics agent.

In living rooms across the nation, television viewers could note that addict witnesses, though voluble about many details of the sordid business, kept stubborn silence as to suppliers and sources. They wouldn't even say in public it was death they feared but senators said it for them.

The hearings which opened Tuesday with the victims' own stories of crime and prostitution "epidemic" among teen-agers to support the narcotics habit, is being televised in a committee effort to enlist the public in its campaign. The names of the addict witnesses, appearing under parole from Federal institutions where they are under treatment, are being kept secret and the video cameras avoid their faces.

There was no effort to link Luciano directly with the fear which kept the witnesses silent on details of where they got their "stuff," but much of the testimony ranged around that threat.

Chairman O'Conor (D-Md) brought out in questioning a 41-year-old Negro musician from Baltimore that the witness had told the committee in an earlier closed session that he feared for his life if he revealed names.

Senator Wiley (R-Wis), questioning a 21-year-old white trumpet player, originally from New York but a Washington resident for 10 years, pressed the point.

Wiley said the job of society is "to make it impossible for peddlers to ruin the lives of persons like yourself" and yet "you won't name the person in Washington who sold it to you."

The youth said he did not remember the last person from whom he bought, insisting he always got his heroin from peddlers who approached him on the street.

Siragusa reported on Luciano after investigations here and in Italy. His face was kept out of television cameras in order not to hamper his undercover work.

Siragusa named Luciano among other "dons" or leaders in the Mafia, shadowy underworld organization, and said narcotics is the Mafia's "most profitable" line.

He said that Luciano, deported in 1946 after serving part of a white slavery term in New York, has gunmen agents who enforce his orders in this country. Luciano gets his profits by international messenger, Siragusa testified.

He told of an affidavit by Luciano acknowledging "gifts" of "several thousand" dollars from the United States. He said Italian police obtained the statement upon his request.

The Federal agent said Joe Pici, deported to Italy after a white slavery conviction, is "Luciano's narcotics agent." He said he has reason to believe the man slipped secretly back to this country several years ago with a fortune in heroin which brought "a fabulous profit." He said 15 kilograms, or more than 30 pounds, was delivered to "the Mafia mob" in Kansas City.

Siragusa said one kilogram, to be bought in Italy for $1,000 to $1,500 in U. S. currency, will make several million of the adulterated capsules sold to addicts. Witnesses have told of paying $1.50 to $4 apiece for the "shots."

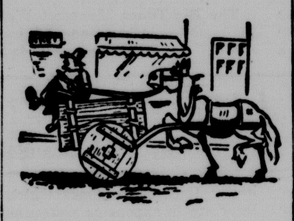

Reckless Driver Blames Ice Cream For Hangover

Logansport, Ind. (AP)—A new excuse—an ice cream hangover—got 76-year-old Joseph Sylvester the minimum fine—$1 on a reckless driving charge yesterday.

Sylvester's automobile sideswiped another car. He told a justice of the peace he had eaten too much ice cream. This caused him to burp, he said, and he lost control of his car.

Solicits Information

Harrisburg (AP) — Pennsylvania school officials were asked yesterday to report to the State any information they may have of "dope peddlers" approaching young people. The request was made in letters sent out by the Department of Public Instruction to school heads, college presidents and heads of State-owned and State-aided institutions.

HASH AND RE-HASH

Won't Plug Hole

A bill prohibiting cashing of relief checks at bars and taverns has been reported affirmatively by the Pennsylvania House of Representatives.

The aims of the bill are admirable. So what? The relief recipient will merely stop at the grocery store or some other place to get his check cashed, and proceed on his way to his favorite bar.

But whatever can be done to achieve the aims of the bills should be done. Tavern owners might help. So might the relief recipient's neighbors. And a closer check by relief authorities might be in order.

Relief checks weren't intended to be spent in taprooms.

Threat to State

Pennsylvania has deep interest in the request of New York City water supply officials to the U.S. Supreme Court to allocate 360,000,000 gallons of water daily from the Delaware River. The city already is drawing on the river to the extent of 440,000,000 gallons daily.

The New York proposals have been advanced, officials say, because they do not expect the Pennsylvania Legislature to act this year on a four-state program for dams, reservoirs and conduits. New York cannot wait longer, they contend.

Under the Incodel pact, Pennsylvania would bear a large proportion of the cost. The plan has been criticized on the grounds that the state's interests are not adequately safeguarded. Incodel officials discount that allegation. A committee named by Governor Fine is now studying the plan preparatory to making recommendation on legislation.

Pennsylvania has a vital interest in the Incodel project aside from the cost. More than half the drainage to the river is from this state.

Why Is He There?

The State department has announced that its loyalty board has reopened its investigation of about 500 persons, including Ambassador-at-Large Phillip C. Jessup and John Carter Vincent, now U.S. Consul General at Tangiers.

The department emphasized that it had no new evidence against either Mr. Jessup or Mr. Vincent. But it said the new inquiries were ordered after President Truman changed the criteria for loyalty and security investigations.

Under the original policy the loyalty board had to find positive evidence that an official or employe was disloyal. The President's order of April 28 requires the board to dismiss anyone whose loyalty it doubts.

Ambassador Jessup is the principal American representative at the Deputy Foreign Ministers' meeting in Paris. If there is any question whatever about his loyalty, why is he permitted to speak for the United States at a meeting of this importance?

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

An agricultural journal reports that a farmer in Wisconsin, who always complained that his wife didn't shoulder her share of the burden, agreed to run the household one day while his wife went to Madison for a medical examination. A methodical chap, he kept a minute record of his activities. It read as follows:

Opened door for children: 106 times.
Shouted, "Stop, Johnnie": 94
Tied their shoes: 16
Stopped quarrels: 19
Provided glasses of water: 26
Answered phone: 11
Answered questions: 202
Ran after children: about 4½ miles
Lost temper: 45

The next day the farmer himself journeyed to Madison—and bought his wife the washing machine she had long coveted.

Hollywood

By Gene Handsaker

Hollywood.—In a forthcoming western, Cavalry Captain Lloyd Bridges mounts his horse, bawls "For-waaard!" to his troops,then——

Thunk-thonk-thunk! — Three Indian arrows bury their heads in his ribs. Right before your eyes, in the close-up. Ever wonder how such startling scenes are accomplished?

I'll tell you, so you can reassure your kids (as I've had to reassure mine) that, what with the high price of actors, the studios still don't really kill 'em off

Uncle Lloyd's costume, strapped to his side, is a thick panel of balsa wood. The arrows are hollow tubes that slide on wires invisible to the camera. At the proper instant, three off screen assistants zing the arrows along the wires and seemingly into Bridge's gizzard. The art of playing dead is up to the actor.

It's tougher than you might think. The actor, knowing that arrows are about to fly at him, is liable to wince in anticipation. The director says it took about 30 takes to get this scene with Bridges. Another young actor in the same picture gets an arrow in the tummy. He kept wincing, so the director finally tricked him out of it. The director yelled, 'Hey, Ted!" just as the arrow flew, drawing his attention from it. . . . .

Glimpses of Glammerville: Jean Simons, the lovely Briton, adding to her handsome tan while sunning and chatting outside a sound stage. Said she's spending a lot of time ocean-bathing while waiting for "Androcles and the Lion" to start. And furthermore, that Southern California surf is "100 degrees warmer" than England's. . . .

Van Johnson admitting he hates personal appearances. Movie acting before a comparatively few people spoils an actor for getting up in front of large audiences, he thinks. "Every time I do a personal, I say, 'This is the last.' I don't think I'm equipped to do them." Still, he agrees that actors should do more of them—"to give the picture a sendoff." . . .

Louis Calhern has quit addressing lawyers' and judges' luncheons. He got such invitations after playing Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes in "The Magnificent Yankee."

These Days -- By George E. Sokolsky

Sokolsky

Life is Fragile We are so sure, so positive, so full of ourselves. . . Then something happens to bring us close to the knowledge of how fragile we are, how fragile life itself is. I recall when Winston Churchill was knocked down on Fifth Avenue, how Fritz Kreisler was knocked down by a truck. Churchill lived to lead his country through blood, sweat and tears. Kreisler has been spared for a world that loves him.

These thoughts came to me as for a moment it seemed as though all of us, nearly an entire family, in the best of cheer, off on a summer holiday, faced the immediate possibility of sudden death. It does not take more than a split second to discover humility—and thankfulness to a gracious God.

Our car was standing stark still on an approach to the west side highway, not more than five minutes from home. We were moving from the big city to a farm I have in Massachusetts. All winter we look forward to the day when we shall make our annual return to the woods and a few weeks of closeness to nature. We were waiting to get into the line of traffic.

Then came, at a terrific rush, a policeman on a motorcycle. He apparently was after a speeder or something. Suddenly we felt the impact of his machine into our car. He fell over his machine. To us, it seemed as though he had flown into the air and soon enough, too soon, we heard his groans. We only suffered damage to our car, but we suffered emotionally with him. It might have been us.

For hours we waited. And it was impossible not to think of how the courtesy of the road seems to have disappeared altogether. Few drivers put their hands out to signal changes of destination or slowing up. Few ever think of warning the car behind them of sudden stops. On country roads at night, it is not rare to see bright lights undimmed for passing cars even though a collision might result from such negligence.

But the worst offenders seem to be gabby folk who hold conferences while driving and lovers who believe the closeness makes the road more safe.

One becomes more conscious of these infractions after a first accident. If there had been no speeder, the motorcycle policeman would not so suddenly have taken to the chase and none of this might have happened, imperilling his life and almost ending ours. Perhaps after the speeder reached his destination, there was nothing to get there for. Yet, there could have been a half dozen deaths because he did not follow the rules of the road.

It is not only the rules of the road that we so often ignore; it is the rules of life itself. For there are rules which the whole experience of the human race, at whatever level of culture, does accept. The Senate Committee which is now meeting to consider ethics in government faces the same problem that we did in our collision; it is not so much the law as it is decency, which comes down to the simplicities of the Ten Commandments and the Golden Rule and such aphoristic statements of right.

The simple rules of life suffice when all the complexities of laws and regulations do not. Most men do not commit murder because they fear the law. Probably when a man shoots an adulterous wife, he never thinks of the law. His emotions are vengeful; he does not think at all and all the laws on all the books from Hammurabi to Fulbright will not check his hand, unless deeply ground into his character is the simple statement: "Thou shalt not kill."

That command originates not from legislation or personal decision. It reaches him from outside himself, from God, not as a request or a suggestion, not with explanations or reasons—but as a direct statement of what is expected of him. Vengeance is the Lord's, not man's. The transference is important, for it withdraws from us altogether many of the emotional reactions which lead to indecencies, improprieties, wrongs. If we reject the commandment, we imperil not only ourselves but all men.

Analyzing the various criticisms of the American government and even American life of our day, it would seem that most of our social illnesses, attributable to what is so lightly called "modern," "up-to-date," "progress," really are bad manners and degraded morals.

Washington Report

By Fulton Lewis Jr.

Washington — The Pentagon has removed the secret label from a 1945 military intelligence report on the Communist Party in China. It makes chumps out of Secretary of State Dean Acheson, his Far East "experts," and Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall.

Marshall was talked into spending a year in China, trying to form a coalition government between the Chinese Reds and Chiang Kai-shek. This was exactly what the Communists had been trying to do in China since 1937, but the State Department, and apparently military intelligence, failed to notify Marshall of this fact.

One year after the 1945 military intelligence report was distributed around the Pentagon and the State Department, Acheson was sitting in the witness chair before a House Foreign Affairs Committee trying to get members to okay the arming and training of ten Chinese Communist divisions with U. S. weapons and officers. He said Marshall, then in China, had approved the idea after the Communists there suggested it to him.

This was also a long-time Communist objective in China. The Reds wanted to merge with Chiang's army, but not until they had been "beefed up" with U. S. weapons so they could take over the Nationalists without much trouble. The military intelligence report points this out, but Acheson and Marshall ignored it. Here is what G-2 said:

"Under terms of the united front understanding in China, the Chinese Communists pledged themselves, as of 1937, to cease subversive activities against the government, to abolish their separate government and administration, and to integrate the Chinese Red Army with the government's Central Army."

G-2 said the Chinese Reds did not fulfill any of their promises. Certain zones in China were assigned to the Reds by Chiang, it said, adding:

"The Communists, however, refused to stay within their assigned zones. While Chiang's armies, in obedience to the Chinese high command, kept within their assigned defense zones, the Communist armies insisted on being granted entry into any Nationalist zone that they desired to enter. Whenever Chiang's troops refused to admit Communist troops they were called traitors by the Communists."

This was early in the Chinese-Japanese war when the Chinese Communist armies had pledged to fight the Japs. The Reds kept on behaving this way for seven years. In 1945 G-2 called their hand on it. Yet, in 1946 Acheson and Marshall were trying to cram down Chiang's throat an agreement exactly like the one made between Chiang and the Reds in 1937, which the Communists promptly and consistently ignored.

In the secret G-2 report on the Chinese Communists, there is another very interesting paragraph which bears reprinting. The military was ignored so many years on Chinese security matters that I suppose it is only natural for G-2 to needle the State Department's Chinese Communist sympathizers when it had a chance. Anyway, here's the paragraph:

"Contrary to the widely advertised reports of their sympathizers, the Chinese Communists have, however, fought the Japanese far less than have the Nationalist Government troops. The Generalissimo, Chiang Kai-shek, and his followers have yielded ground politically and militarily to the Communists in order to avoid an open break; as a Nationalist, Chiang has been primarily interested in the war against the Japs."

That was our war, too; remember? and Chiang was helping us fight it. But when it came time for the pay-off, he got a Russian Communist payoff instead of an American one.

G-2 examined 2,500 reports, pamphlets and books before writing its intelligence summary. This is the way it concluded:

"The independence and territorial and administrative integrity of China, including Manchuria, have been key points of U. S. policy and interests in the Far East. During the past 50 years Russia and China, the two leading military powers in Asia, have been the chief threats to China's independence. American concern in this contest between Russia and Japan for control of China has been demonstrated several times.

"The rivalry between Russia and Japan has centered on Manchuria and Korea."

So while the State Department obviously did not know it, at least our military intelligence knew as far back as 1945 that with Japan out of the picture, Russia would move in.

Looking at Life

By Erich Brandeis

Brandeis

Unusally when a writer or a speaker wants to prove his point he quotes from the classics.

Or if no classic, such as Shakespeare, Plato, Voltaire or Goethe is available for his particular purpose, then he resorts to the Bible.

I am certainly no exception to this statement.

The reason is not just mental laziness or lack of thinking power. It is more or less because we take it for granted that when something has become a "classic," it must be right.

While that is certainly not so, I won't discuss that point today, since I am about to quote a classic myself right at this moment.

The writer is not known. He certainly was no mental giant. But he knew what he was talking about.

I quote from "Hallelujah, I'm a Bum," which, when I was a young newspaper reporter, was the marching song of thousands of tramps who then infested California, Washington, Oregon and other Western states.

I heard it first when I was assigned to cover a murder in a hobo camp.

It was night and the hoboes were sitting around the campfire over which their "slumgullion" was cooking—a stew of which they invited me to participate, since I was dressed like a hobo and had been instructed to act like one.

The "slumgullion" was an awful mess of things these hoboes had collected, heaven knows where. But I must confess that it tasted better than other stews which I later ate in expensive restaurants and which, on the menus, was called "Ragout Deutsch."

While the mess was brewing over the fire the fellows were singing—or rather chanting.

It was weird. It was frightening, ominous.

This is the verse I remember:

"Oh, why don't you save
All the money you earn?
If I didn't have to eat
I'd have money to burn."

Somehow, all this comes back to me today, because I just got through talking to the head of one of the savings banks.

He complained that people didn't seem to save as much as they used to.

He couldn't tell why. Savings banks were so safe, he said. Nobody had ever lost a nickel by the failure of a savings bank.

What did I think is the reason why they don't save as much as they used to? Did they put their money in stocks? Did they buy government bonds?

So I quoted from the song I had heard in that California hobo camp:

"If I didn't have to eat
I'd have money to burn."

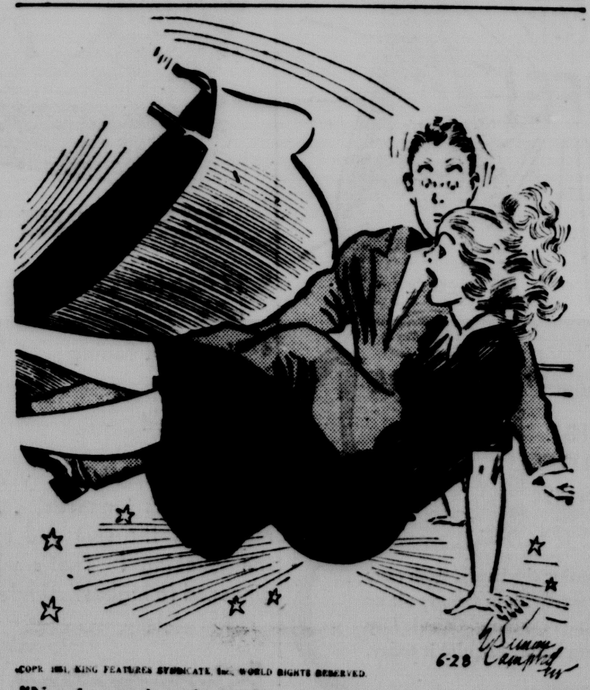

Then I told him that in my opinion the best economists in the world are the WIVES.

Don't just read government reports, I advised him. Don't put too much faith in statistics. Don't try to be too scientific.

Ask any housewife what she pays for eggs, for milk, for fruit, for meat (my wife paid $3 for two pounds of veal cutlets yesterday!), for clothes—for anything.

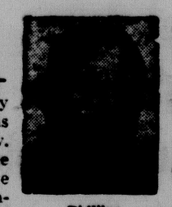

And, I added, if something isn't done about it, then—"Hallelujah"—we'll all be bums.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

What! Another airwave code! Warnings by the FCC to clean up video programs and an announcement of a "code" by the industry came strictly in accord with an annual phase of American summer life, like pie-eating contests, sack races and corn on the cob. In fact, the codes are so closely allied with corn on the cob it is difficult to tell the difference. An on-the-level code is necessary before they start putting puppets into the horror stories and begin bringing women guests onto the screen in bath towels. All the gals on video look as if their complete wardrobes had been attached by the sheriff just before they appeared. (A cutie who stepped directly onto a panel program from the bathing beach was recently suspended on the ground she had tried to make a costume play out of a panel discussion.)

Video seems to some folks to be based on the Three C's. Creeps, peeps and leaps. It is rapidly becoming the top factor in child behavior and home conduct. There must be millions of kids who are convinced that beer is the bulwark of the American home and that there is no character-builder like a schooner of suds. We undertand the industry appreciates this and has framed its code as follows:

1.—No beer bottle shall be permitted to dance without its label on and properly adjusted.

2.—No can of lager or ale in any children's fairy tale or nursery playlet shall come into the program in such a way as to hamper plot development; nor shall it be alloted speaking roles longer than the real characters. (There have been complaints that in a Little Red Riding Hood telecast, Red Riding Hood's lunch basket was full of beer for grandma and that just before the wolf began devouring grandma, the action was interrupted by a ballet done by four glasses of beer. Also, that instead of the wood-choppers rescuing the little girl, two brewery trucks were shown dashing through the forest.

3.—In no ballet shall the dance done by the beer cans take more time and be staged more elaborately than those done by the principals.

4.—No cigarette guadrille shall be substituted for the standard dance scene during the Cinderella ball.

However, don't worry about codes for radio or video. The method of handling them is well known. A code is drawn up every year, usually in late June. It is strictly for press and public, neither of which is writing or directing for video. The code is then turned over to the vice-presidents in charge of Video's File and Forget Department and Radio's Lost Papers Bureau. Copies are sent to all station owners, directors and producers with complete directions for their use in plugging up an open space between the window ledge and the window case. Persons desiring them in order to clean a windshield or join the "Help-A-Mouse-Build-A-Nest" drive may get copies on request.

President Galo Plaza of Ecuador was born in Greenwich Village and once peddled apples on New York streets. Which does he give more credit, the village or the apples? . . . Uncle Miltie is producer of "Seventeen." Too many people take this as a stock quotation. How about changing the name to "Guys and Berles?" . . . After four months the Big Four parleys have broken up, proving again that it is impossible to have a honeymoon with the man-eating shark. . . . . Race Track Operators Face Charge

Gilbert—Warrants were served here yesterday on Joseph Ribaldi, of Carolina Ranch, one of the officials of the newly-established Gilbert race track, and on 18 other persons associated with the operation of the new enterprise situated near the Salem Reformed church.

The church group and other West End residents have been protesting the operation of the stock car track next to the church property for several months.

It was reported that the warrants issued yesterday were against drivers of cars operated on the track last Sunday, as well as those owning stock in the new venture.

Prosecutors in each instance were a citizens' committee headed by Rev. Alton A. Albright, pastor of the Pleasant Valley Evangelical and Reformed charge; Rev. James P. Laubach, pastor of the Pleasant Valley Lutheran charge; Ernest Kreger, William Dold and others.

The action yesterday was the first open flare in the dispute which arose in the West End area in the early spring when construction of the track in a field next to the church was first planned.

The new enterprise opened last Sunday with a crowd of approximately 900 witnessing the afternoon races. Announced plans of the track operators call for races each Sunday during the summer season.

The 10 defendants, several of whom were served in Carbon and Luzerne counties, will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace Nathaniel Gruber, of Gilbert, at 7 p. m. tomorrow.

Several persons close to the situation noted last night that the "Blue law" violation, corresponding generally to breach of the peace, calls for only a summary conviction.

However, because of the interest throughout the area and the large number of defendants, the group hearing will be conducted at the Polk township school at Kresgeville instead of at the Gilbert residence of Justice Gruber.

On conviction under Section 944.4 of the penal code (that section embracing the "Blue laws,") the defendants may be subject to a fine not exceeding $4 plus costs, another source said.

The warrants issued against the 19 charge them with "owning, operating or participating in a sports enterprise as a business on the Lord's day."

Two Escape Graterford Penitentiary

Norristown (AP)— Two trusties who walked away from a farm outside prison walls of the Graterford branch, Eastern State penitentiary, yesterday morning, were still at large last night, Deputy Warden Col. E. N. Myers said.

The two, both serving terms for burglary, are William F. Binkel, committed from Monroe county, and Adolph Wydra, committed from Northumberland county.

The men were responsible for transporting other prisoners to and from the fields.

Wydra, serving a 7½ to 15-year term, would have been eligible for parole in January, 1952. Binkel was serving a 6-12 year sentence.

Myers said the prison guard detail and State police were continuing their hunt for the escapes.

Lutherans Honor New Pastor At Reception In Saylorsburg

Saylorsburg—A reception was given to Rev. John Bergstresser, new pastor of the Hamilton Lutheran charge, at the Saylorsburg fire hall last night.

Burnice Hawk, president of the joint council, served as master of ceremonies for the affair at which over 150 people were present.

Speakers were Rev. Adan Bohner, Rev. Wilson Rinker and Rev. Bergstresser. Following the talks a special program was presented by the four member churches. The program follows:

Bartonsville: Mrs. Lloyd Beehler sang two solos, "Pale Moon" and "End of a Perfect Day." She was accompanied by Mrs. Floyd Cyphers. Also a trio composed of Mrs. Cyphers and her two sons entertained.

Brodheadsville: Mr. and Mrs. David Weber sang a duet, "Love Divine." They were accompanied by Mrs. Myrtle Rodenbach.

Hamilton: A trio composed of Mrs. Burnice Hawk, Jacob Hartman and William Lotz sang "My Task." They were accompanied by Nancy Thomas. An instrumental duet was presented by Nancy Hartman, piano, and Billy Lotz, trumpet.

Mount Eaton: A trio composed of Lois Miller, Janet Praetorius and Eileen Costenbader, sang "It Is No Secret." Mrs. Clarence Budge sang a solo, "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You."

Following the program Mrs. Anna Serfas and the Ladies Aid presented gifts to the new pastor.

Gavin Appointed Aide To Carney

Paris (AP)—Appointment of U. S. Maj. Gen. James M. Gavin as chief of staff to Adm. Robert B. Carney in southern Europe was confirmed yesterday by Supreme Headquarters, Allied Powers in Europe (SHAPE).

General Gavin, wartime commander of the U. S. 82nd Airborne Division, will have the title of chief of the integrated combined staff, Allied Forces Southern Europe.

Miss Lindes Graduates At Great Lakes

Miss Barbara Louise Lindes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernst Frederick Lindes, East Stroudsburg RD 2, recently graduated from the U. S. Navy's WAVE recruit training school at the naval training center, Great Lakes, Ill.

She was transferred to the Naval Air Technical Training center, Jacksonville, Fla., where she is now taking a course of instruction in aviation fundamentals.

Upon the completion of this course, Miss Lindes will be sent to an advanced school to become an expert in one of these ratings: Aviation electronics technician, the parachute riggers, aviation storekeeper, air controlman, or the aerographers mate rating.

Two Heavy Vehicles Collide With $3,500 Loss Resulting

Snydersville—A brand new auto tractor and a tractor-trailer collided in the dip on Route 209 near the Circle motel west of here shortly after 8 p. m. yesterday.

One driver was slightly injured in the crash, while the other was arrested for a violation of the motor vehicle code.

State police of the Brodheadsville substation said that John W. Voss, 40, of Lansing, Mich., was driving the new truck tractor in transit for delivery to an eastern buyer when he rounded the curve at the west end of the dip and was struck by the tractor-trailer proceeding in the opposite direction toward Sciota.

Bruce E. Sechrist, 21, of Wellsboro RD5, Tioga county, driver of the transport, told troopers he made a move to pass another vehicle moving westward when he reached the dip at the hotel.

He was still in the act of passing the car when Voss rounded the curve in the new tractor. Police said the outfit operated by Sechrist blocked the lane in which Voss was driving.

Impact of the collision caused extensive damage to the front and undercarriage of the new auto tractor, while the drive shaft, springs, rear housing and left gasoline tank on the other truck were smashed.

Police estimated damage in the neighborhood of $3,500.

The new vehicle, operated by Voss, had a delivery price of $16,000, but repairs to it will run close to $3,000, the officers said. The machine is still the property of the Auto Car Co., of Ardmore.

Sechrist's transport is owned by the Harman and Myers Express of Williamsport. Neither vehicle was driveable after the crash, but each was pushed off the highway away from traffic and will be removed today.

Information against Sechrist will be filed before Justice of the Peace S. B. Shook, of Hamilton township.

Voss received a forehead cut, but he was not treated at the scene.

S. S. Council Sets Date Of Annual Rally

Bangor — The Sunday school council of the Salem Evangelical United Brethren church, Bangor, met last night following the weekly prayer service. Williams Shankel presided.

The annual church day rally was set for September 23. Chester Kaufman, superintendent of the Sunday school, also announced that the annual Sunday school picnic will be held at Bushkill Park, Saturday, July 21.

Bandmothers of the Bangor High school band held a street festival in front of the Municipal building last night. Music was supplied by the junior high school band and George Humphreys and his orchestra.

The annual Slate Belt Girl Scout troop picnic jamboree will be held Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at the Bangor park. Scout leaders from Wind Gap, Pen Argyl, Roseto and Bangor will be in charge.

The annual Amy family reunion will be held at 3 p.m., Saturday, July 21, at Weona park, Pen Argyl. Officers in charge will be John Leamon, president; Lethalbert Seal, vice president; John Dingle, secretary; and William Amy, treasurer.

A benefit street festival for the crippled kiddies and charity fund, sponsored by the Elks Lodge 1106, will be held Friday and Saturday nights on the property adjoining the Elks home. The affair Saturday will follow the running of the annual coaster derby, sponsored by the Bangor Moose Lodge, and the Slate Belt Buick Co. Music will be furnished by James Drury on the Hammond organ.

Tall Cedars Entertain

Pocono Forest, No. 120, Tall Cedars of Lebanon and the ladies auxiliary last night entertained 120 persons including members and auxiliary of the NAPA Forest, No. 137, Factoryville, Pa. A dinner, following by a meeting, was held in Odd Fellows Hall.

Entertainment was provided after the meeting. Edgar Van Why, grand tall cedar of Pocono Forest and Mrs. Arlyne Kimble, president of the auxiliary were in charge.

Committee handling preparation and serving of food consisted of Reba Pierce, chairman, with all officers and members. Reception committee included Agnes Smith, Cathleen Van Why and Arlyne Kimble.

This was the last meeting for the season. Plans were made for the annual picnic. The date and other details of that affair will be announced later.

Council Names Sen. Crowe To Regional Post

Rep. Elisha Barrett of New York State's General Assembly and official of the Council of State Governments has named Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe, (R-Monroe) regional chairman of the truck and motor vehicle program of the council.

The council covers the New England and Middle Atlantic states.

Senator Crowe's post as regional chairman of truck and motor vehicle program covers the same territory.

He announced yesterday in Harrisburg the committee will meet in New York City on August 9 to begin studies in inter-state cooperation and planning on laws affecting trucks and other motor vehicles.

Borough Pool Closed Today

Mrs. Ruth Serfass, director of the Stroudsburg Playground swimming pool, announced last night that the pool will be closed today due to the changing of the water in the pool.

According to Mrs. Serfass, if it is at all possible, the pool will be opened at 6 p.m. today.

Diving classes and junior lifesaving classes usually scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday will not meet today but will resume Tuesday.

Mrs. Serfass also announced that swimmers interested in senior lifesaving should report Tuesday, July 3, for registration.

Margaret Truman To See Pope Pius

Rome (AP) — Margaret Truman has a private audience with Pope Pius on her schedule for today. She will wear the long black gown and veil which she brought with her for the audience.

The Vatican museum, including the famed Sistine chapel of Michael Angelo, was opened especially for the President's daughter yesterday afternoon so she might roam through the rooms without being followed by a crowd.

The museum normally is closed in the late afternoon, and she chose to visit it yesterday rather than this morning when she would have had to spend an hour or two wearing the long gown for the papal interview.

Mrs. Eley Dies In Dickson City

Mrs. Susan W. Eley, 89, widow of W. George Eley, died early this week at 652 Lincoln St., Dickson City. Widely known throughout the Pocono Mountains region where she also had a number of relatives, Mrs. Eley's death was sudden.

She diid a few hours after suffering a cerebral hemorrhage. She was a native of Wales and became a resident of this country at the age of three.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. today in the home.

Second Swim Class Begins Next Monday

The East Stroudsburg Playground swimming pool, under the direction of Lewis R. Hastie, will begin its second class of swimming instruction next Monday at 10 a. m.

All non-swimmers, beginners or those who want to improve their swimming ability, should report to the pool Monday. The sessions will be carried on from 10 to 11 a.m., Monday through Friday.

Junior life saving classes will start Monday for swimmers between the ages of 12 and 15. Classes will be held from 10 to 11 a.m. Monday through Friday.

Senior life-saving instructions for swimmers 16 years or older, will also begin Monday. Sessions will run from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., Monday through Friday.

All swimming instruction will be in charge of Ora Sutton, Delores Sell, Todd Maguire and Dick Pennington.

Pool hours as announced by Mr. Hastie are: 10 to 11:30 a.m., 1 to 5 p.m., and 6:30 to 8:30 p.m., daily.

Practice for the swimming team, which has been undefeated for the past three years, will be held Monday through Thursday, from 6:30 to 8 p.m. Both boys and girls between the ages of 10 and 16 are invited to try out.

Playground instruction, in charge of Una Marie Bronner and Frank Presty, has been in progress since the playground opened. The schedule of activities is as follows: from 10 to 11:30 a.m., softball, volleyball, basketball, football, paddle tennis, table tennis, quoits, and badminton; from 1 to 2 p.m., quiet games such as checkers, chess and dominoes; from 2 to 4 p.m., classes in arts and crafts; from 4 p.m. until closing time, supervised play, swimming meets and softball games with other groups.

Anyone interested in trying out for the softball team, regardless of age, should contact Mr. Hastie. Practice will begin in a few days.

Camps and pools interested in either a swimming meet or a softball game with the East Stroudsburg playground can do so by contacting Lewis Hastie at the playground. The telephone number is Stroudsburg 3561.

Ross To Retire As Manager Of J. C. Penney Store Here; Ohio Man Named Successor

Max D. Stadfeld, assistant manager of the J. C. Penney Co. store at Canton, Ohio, has arrived here to assume managership of the J. C. Penney Co. in Stroudsburg as of July 1.

Lawrence M. Ross, manager of the local store for the past 12 years and associated with J. C. Penney Co. for 34 years, is retiring under the Penney company's retirement plan.

Mr. Ross said yesterday he will continue to live here, pursuing his varied community interests. Mr. Ross said he will devote much of his time to his attractive and extensive farm property off Milford Road just outside East Stroudsburg and to lumbering operations on that property.

Mr. Stadfeld, who is married and has three children, Julie 11, Michael 9 and Timothy, 4, will establish his residence here promptly.

The new manager has been associated with Penney's since 1936. He started working for the firm in Battle Creek, Mich., then worked in the Flint, Mich., store.

After two years service with the U. S. Navy during World War Two, Mr. Stadfeld returned to Flint and two years later was assigned to New Castle, Pa., as assistant manager. From there he moved to Canton, O.

Mr. Ross' affiliation with the Penney company included services in stores on the West coast, the South and here. He came here from Lexington, Ky., store.

He is a member of the Stroudsburgs Kiwanis club, Shawnee Country club, Elks, American Legion and director of Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce.

Adventists Gather At Wescosville

Local members of the Stroudsburg Seventh-day Adventist church are scheduled to leave today for Wescosville, where they will attend the annual camp meeting of the East Pennsylvania conference of Adventists, expected to be the largest gathering of Adventists in the State in many years.

Elder Russell R. Adams, pastor of the church, will head the list of delegates to the annual religious convention, which will begin tonight, and end on Sunday night, July 8. All meetings will be held at the Emmanuel grove, a "tent and cabin city," five miles from Allentown. Over 2,000 are expected to attend the meetings this weekend.

Heading the long list of guest speakers at the annual convention is Elder William H. Branson, Washington, D. C., president of the denomination's World General conference, who is scheduled to speak Saturday, July 7.

Local members attending the camp will live in either tents or cabins erected on the permanent camp grounds. Meetings will be held in the main pavilion. Other permanent structures for the use of campers during the 10-day meetings are the dining room, youth pavilion, Book and Bible house, and departmental offices.

Meetings are scheduled for local Adventist members throughout the day beginning at 6:30 a.m. and ending at 9 p.m. Evangelistic services are scheduled every night. Meetings are scheduled twice daily for boys and girls and youth.

Mrs. Odom Dies In California

William H. Odom, 61 E. Broad St., East Stroudsburg, yesterday received word that his mother, Mrs. A. L. Odom, 82, had died at her home in Santa Paula, Cal.

Mrs. Odom, who is survived by four additional children, had been ill one month.

Clean-Up Drive Meeting With Fine Response

Stroudsburg's campaign to clean up vacant lots, unkept yards and trash piles is progressing smoothly, according to Chief of Police James McConnell.

Launched a week ago, the 10-day program gained immediate support of property owners, although heavy showers last Saturday caused an unexpected snag.

Numerous owners have advised police that they have started cutting weeds and other clean-up operations, and that they'll finish this work at the earliest opportunity.

McConnell noted that most of these persons were interrupted in their work by the weekend rains. He said completion of most of the odd jobs is expected this weekend.

Several persons, unable to do the clean-up work themselves, have expressed difficulty in hiring labor to do the odd jobs, but even these owners hope to have everything done in compliance with the campaign before July 1.

Mrs. Francis Bayer
Ph. Say. 14-R-9

Miss Joyce Gunn, of Cherry Valley, and Mrs. Edith Courtright, of Marshalls Creek, have returned from a motor trip which took them to the Thousand Islands, and across New York state, where they stopped at Lake Placid. They also visited points in Vermont and the capital of New Hampshire as well as York Beach, Maine. On their return trip they visited Mrs. Courtright's son at Westfield, Massachusetts, returning home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bayer and son, Edward, of Poplar Valley and Mrs. Lewis Wagner, of Stroudsburg called on Mr. and Mrs. George Bayer and son, Charles, of Blairstown, New Jersey, Sunday night.

Sunday callers of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bayer, of Poplar Valley, were Mrs. George Colvin and daughters, Diana and Lynn, and Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, all of Chipperfield Drive. The Smiths are leaving soon to make their home in California.

Refreshment Room Helpful

A refreshment closet built into living room, dining room or even the hall is a convenient and excellent space saver and keeps everything at hand for entertainment.

A floor-to-ceiling space 3 feet wide and 18 inches deep is sufficient.

Storage shelves built against the wall are essential, and for a work surface bracket a shelf to the inside of the door 36 inches from the floor. When not in use and the door is closed, this work surface swings beneath a wall shelf. A pull-out slide at comfortable working height can be provided if preferred.

Paint the inside of the refreshment closet a bright color. Enliven plain paint with decalcomanias of freehand designs. Give the shelves a stain-resistant finish. Light the closet interior with a small fluorescent tube hidden in the closet behind the top of the door frame.

D. Of A. To Hold Memorial Rites For Mrs. Kays

The Daughters of Liberty will conduct memorial services for the late Mrs. Martha Kays, a charter member who died Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Fisher, 923 Main St., tonight at 8 p. m.

Services will be held in the William H. Clark funeral home, 1003 Main St., Stroudsburg. Announcement was made yesterday that Mrs. Kays is also survived by seven grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the funeral home at 2 p. m. Friday. Rev. William F. Wunder, Grace church, will officiate. Interment will be made in Prospect cemetery.

Special Meeting Called Tonight By Civic League

Tobyhanna — Regional citizens are asked to attend an important meeting of the Tobyhanna Civic league here tonight at 8.

Session will be held in Coolbaugh township school. Warren F. Nonnemaker, president, said last night a series of reports will be received, all dealing primarily with matters relating to construction of the $30,000,000 Signal Corps depot.

Brotherhood Holds Meeting At Playground

A well attended monthly meeting of the Brotherhood of St. John's Lutheran church was held at the Stroudsburg playground on Tuesday night with Edward Wagner, president, in charge.

Roy Eisler was elected to membership and welcomed by the men. The committee on visitation of the sick reported five men of the congregation had been visited during the past month. It was decided to secure the new evangelism leaflet for use in the evangelism program to be conducted during the fall.

Plans were discussed for the annual ladies' night outing at the playground in August. President Wagner appointed the following as a committee to be augmented by additional workers: Herman Haag and Jacob Altemose, co-chairmen, Howard Marshall, Stanley Heller and Victor Henning.

John Kitchen reported for the scout work and indicated that efforts are being made to secure needed materials to complete the scout headquarters.

The treasurer, Herman Haag reported a substantial balance in the treasury. He also presented the trophy won by the bowling team in the tournament of last winter. It will be placed in a prominent location in the church school room.

Plans were made to complete the register of boys who served in World War Two with the assistance of the Fidelia class.

It was announced that the July meeting will have as hosts: Henry Tucker, J. B. Dunkelberger and Dr. P. N. Wohlsen.

The president appointed the following ushers to serve for the month of July: H. R. DeNike, Judge C. H. Rhodes, J. B. Dunkelberger and H. L. Keiper Sr. Refreshments were served by President Wagner, Parke W. Kunkle and Harvey Burch.

Film Shown To Members Of Kiwanis

A film, "Story of Bethlehem Is the Story of Steel," produced for the Bethlehem Steel Co., was shown at the meeting of the Kiwanis club of Stroudsburg at the Penn-Stroud hotel yesterday afternoon. Joseph S. Wallace was program chairman and Wilmer B. Frisbie operated the projector.

Herbert B. Crane, immediate past president, was in charge of the meeting in place of Harold W. Leininger, who is on vacation with his family. Mr. Leininger attended the sessions of Kiwanis International at St. Louis, Mo., last week.

Lawrence M. Ross introduced Max Stadfeld, of Canton, Ohio, who will succeed him as manager of the Penney store here this week. Mr. Ross is being retired by the company after many years of service.

Notice has been received by the club that the traveling register will be brought to Stroudsburg Wednesday, July 11, by a delegation of members of the Allentown club. The Stroudsburg unit will then take it to the Bethlehem club Thursday, July 12, at noon. This is an inter-club relations project inaugurated several years ago. All members of the clubs visited sign the book at their meeting.

Frank S. LaBar was given greeting on his election as president of the board of directors of the Monroe County General hospital.

The Kiwanis club will meet with Rotary next Thursday, July 5, the regular date for the former falling on the national holiday. The new officers of Rotary will assume their duties at that time headed by Gerald Anderson as president. Herbert B. Crane will be the speaker, discussing the subject of taxes.

A. W. Williams gave the invocation yesterday. Kiwanians Earl S. Evans, Bethlehem, and P. J. Rawson, Scranton, were welcomed.

The regular monthly meeting of the Coolbaugh Township Volunteer Firemen will be held on Monday night, July 2, in Flaherty's Mountain Fountain. Plans will be completed for the carnival. All are urged to attend.

Marie Scanlon, Newark, N. J., is spending the summer at her home here.

Mrs. Stephen Pohe and children, Larry and Susan, St. Louis, are spending the summer with Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Rhoads.

Dr. and Mrs. Edward Lawless and daughter, Louise, Montclair, N. J., visited Mr. and Mrs. John P. McHale on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hay attended the wedding of their niece, Dorothy Price, Scranton, on Saturday.

Mrs. Fred Pope and son, Thomas, Joseph Regan Jr., visited Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clark, Easton, on Saturday.

Mrs. Paul Henning and daughter, Kay Louise, returned from the General hospital, on Wednesday.

The Tobyhanna Civic league will hold their regular monthly meeting in the Coolbaugh Twp. school on Thursday night, June 28, 8:00.

Couple Seeks License

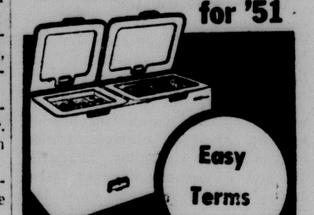

Albert A. Transue and Lydia Courtright, both East Stroudsburg area, applied for a marriage license here yesterday at the office of Prothonotary Claude E. Metzgar. Theirs was the thirty-ninth application filed in Monroe county this month.

ESHS Students Not Involved

Three juveniles, who testified at hearings on Pennsylvania liquor law violations in East Stroudsburg on Tuesday, were not students at East Stroudsburg High, it was learned yesterday.

Information advanced at the time of the hearing by the Liquor Control board indicated that the three youths were students at the east borough school. A check yesterday showed, however, that the three attend another area school.

Prosecution Says Homeyer Beheaded Wife

Tunkhannock (AP) — District Attorney Robert W. Trembath indicated to the jury for the first time yesterday how he believes Charles E. Homeyer, lonly hearts lover, killed his fifth wife, Anna.

"Drawing a knife across one's throat and slashing off the head must signify an intent to kill," Trembath said in his closing argument of the nine-day-old trial. "And," he added, "we have shown by experts that there was not one bit of evidence that she was poisoned.'

The district attorney called for a first degree verdict with the death penalty "For this vicious crime," waving in front of the jurors a picture of the woman's skull found buried in concrete in the cellar of the Homeyer home at Factoryville, near here.

Trembath spoke after Davis R. Hobbs, chief defense counsel, told the jurors "the Commonwealth didn't prove even that Anna Snellman Homeyer was murdered let alone that he did it." Hobbs asked for an acquittal.

Judge Edward P. Little told the jury he will deliver his charge when court convenes this morning.

More tragedy came into the court room yesterday when State police called from among the spectators Mrs. Howard Salsman of Laceyville to tell her that her 10-year-old son Lyle had drowned in the Susquehanna river. She had left him playing with the son of a friend while she attended court. The youngsters were playing with a ball on a high rock overlooking the river. The stone was slippery from rain and the boy, who couldn't swim, slid off into deep water.

When Homeyer entered court yesterday morning he had a bandage on his throat. Sheriff James Wynd Jr., said he had cut his throat with a razor blade which had been hidden in a pack of cigarets. However, before he had done serious damage he "changed his mind," the sheriff said.

Homeyer breathed heavily and his lips quivered as he listened to the arguments.

Jury Calls For Lawrence Indictment

Pittsburgh, (AP)—The special State grand jury probing official corruption in Pittsburgh yesterday recommended that Mayor David L. Lawrence be indicted on a charge of misdemeanor in office.

The special grand jury also recommended indictment of eight other persons as a result of its probe into city coal and street lighting contracts.

Broadway Maintenance Corp., of New York City, which recently entered into a contract with the city to install a street light system, also was recommended for indictment.

The presentment stated:

"The mayor's relegation of duties to departmental heads does not insulate him from legal responsibility for the full discharge of his and their duties."

The special grand jury does not have the power to indict, but merely makes recommendations for the regular Allegheny county grand jury to act upon.

Mayor Lawrence was not immediately available for comment. The mayor, his wife and son, Jerry, are vacationing in Europe.

President's Statement Criticized

Washington (AP)—A Senate Labor committee majority yesterday indirectly criticized President Truman for saying last February that railway labor leaders had gone back on an agreement like a bunch of Russians.

The majority also declared Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman "became involved," in a rail labor dispute "in a manner which compromised his (Steelman's) effectiveness and placed the President in an unnecessarily difficult position."

The views of the seven-man majority were contained in a report to the Senate on the committee's investigation of the long-standing dispute between the railroads and four operating railroad unions.

Much of the inquiry dealt with a so-called "memorandum of agreement" announced at the White House last December 21 by Steelman, carrier representatives, and officials of the four unions.

Union leaders said at the Senate hearings that the provisions were only tentative and local officers of the unions later refused to approve it.

It was to that development Mr. Truman alluded on February 8, when he declared the union leaders had broken an agreement like a bunch of Russians.

The committee's majority report, accepting the contention that the agreement was only tentative, said without mentioning Mr. Truman by name:

"The committee is compelled to find that later statements to the effect that the brotherhoods had repudiated a binding agreement were unjustified."

Involuntary Manslaughter Charge Faces Engineer Of Train In Fatal Accident

Norristown, (AP)—The engineer of the Pennsylvania railroad's Red Arrow express which crashed into another PRR train killing eight persons six weeks ago was arrested yesterday—and charged with involuntary manslaughter.

The engineer, Francis B. Yentzer, 62, of Harrisburg, was held in $12,000 bail. Justice of the Peace Charles Gorman explained the bail was $1,500 for each of the persons killed in the wreck at Bryn Mawr May 18.

A coroner's jury found that Yentzer was responsible for the collision of the Red Arrow into the rear of the Philadelphia night express, which had halted to check equipment shortly after dawn.

The coroner's jury verdict was in line with findings reported by both the Interstate Commerce commission and the State Public Utility commission. Both issued reports blaming the wreck on the failure of Yentzer to obey signals. Yentzer denied blame for the wreck.

The engineer sat in a front row of the hearing room while witnesses testified that the railroad's signal equipment was in perfect working order immediately after the crash in which the Red Arrow engine telescoped the last two cars of the Philadelphia night express.

Capt. William Shaffer of Lower Merion township police testified at Yentzer's arraignment yesterday afternoon that the engineer told him shortly after the collision that he was going 45 miles per hour under a medium approach signal.

Shaffer said the locomotive should not have been traveling faster than 15 miles an hour.

State's Highest Tribunal Affirms Divorce To Phipps

Philadelphia, (AP)—The Pennsylvania State Supreme court yesterday affirmed a divorce granted Dean H. Phipps against Alethea D. Phipps by the Lackawanna County Common Pleas court in November, 1948.

Phipps sued for divorce on the grounds of cruel and barbarous treatment and indignities to his person. However, at the trial, he abandoned the charge of cruel and barbarous treatment and won his case on the ground of indignities.

Phipps is a Scranton auto parts manufacturer.

The trial judge entered a decree of divorce after counsel for Phipps proved an act of adultery on the part of Mrs. Phipps. She appealed to the Superior court which upheld the lower court decision.

It was from the Superior court decision that Mrs. Phipps appealed to the State's highest court. Mrs. Phipps contended that she could supply new evidence.

Justice Charles Alvin Jones in the court's opinion, said "the Superior court was fully warranted in not granting the prayer of the petition for a remission of the case to the court below for the purpose of taking the testimony of Mrs. Phipps' son, Bradford Sweet.

"His knowledge of the particular subject did not in any sense qualify as after-discovered evidence.

"What he knew and his whereabouts in Auburn, N. Y., where he was living with his natural father with his mother's permission, were, of course, well known to her at the time of the divorce hearings. If she desired his testimony, it could have been taken by deposition when he refused to come to Scranton to testify."

Senate Okays Stop-Gap Funds

Harrisburg (AP)— New stop-gap appropriations totaling $50,000,000 to pay for State operations until regular funds are provided were passed unanimously by the Senate yesterday. They previously had passed the House.

Passage of the stop-gap bill was necessary yesterday since the assembly previously had passed the first one for the month of June only and the Legislature will be in recess until July 9.

Of the total $40,000,000 was allocated for State salaries and other departmental costs while the remaining $10,000,000 was listed for relief costs.

Fine Proposes Pay Hike For State Workers

it. In addition, members of the Legislature are paid $3,000 for the two year period.

The two proposed increases in expenses of the State government came as the Legislature, especially the embattled Senate, continued deadlocked over the question of whether new taxes should be imposed. Both branches of the Legislature late in the day declared a recess until July 9.

The Governor proposed the salary boost for State employes in letters to Rep. Norman Wood (R-Lancaster) and Sen. LeRoy E. Chapman (R-Warren) of the House and Senate Appropriations committees.

To keep the budget down, Fine wrote, provision for a general salary increase was eliminated when it was prepared.

Since then, Fine said, the cost of living has increased and State employes' salaries have been lagging behind "the inflationary increase" with the result that private industry and the Federal government have been hiring the State's "most efficient and experienced employes."

"It appears to me," Fine wrote, "that not only are the employes deserving of this cost of living increase, but it is important that it be granted in order to keep trained employes who can efficiently perform the necessary governmental activities."

Rep. Edward S. Swartz (R-Dauphin) who led the GOP fight against the income tax when it passed there, said he voted against increasing expense allowances of legislators to be consistent with that stand.

Swartz said he felt then that "we did not need an income tax and that State revenues and expenditures were increasing too rapidly."

Others voting against the expense allowance boost were:

Former Resident Of Columbia Dies

Columbia, N. J.—Mrs. Susie S. Phelps, former resident of Columbia and widow of Rear Adm. William W. Phelps, died late Monday night at the Parkway rest home in Allentown.

Mrs. Phelps moved to Columbia from New York in 1948. An accomplied pianist, she had appeared on numerous radio programs emanating from New York from 1933 to 1948.

She is survived by a son, Southwick Phelps, of Columbia, and three grandchildren. Private funeral services will be followed by interment in the naval cemetery at Annapolis, Md.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your keynumber. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

County Notes Four Deaths On Highways

The first four months of 1951 produced three traffic accident fatalities in Monroe county and one pedestrian death, T. Elmer Transeau, director of highway safety in Pennsylvania, said yesterday.

Mr. Transeau noted that the three fatalities from January 1 to May 1 were two more than the total for the same period a year ago.

Two of the three fatalities occurred in rural sections of the county and the third in urban regions.

The single pedestrian death was one more than for the same period a year ago.

On a state-wide basis the first four months of 1951 produced 450 deaths compared with 431 during this period of 1951, an increase of 5.8 per cent.

Jail Releases Philadelphian

Emil Buroweic, 30, of Philadelphia, was released from Monroe county jail early yesterday after being committed seven hours earlier by Chief James McConnell, of Stroudsburg police, on a charge of disorderly conduct.

An investigation was also continued during the man's detention, but he was ultimately released in custody of Officer John Tretheway after Buroweic's brothers came here from Philadelphia for him.

Police Regulate Traffic At Main, Second Streets

Regulation of traffic at the intersection of Main and Second Sts., Stroudsburg, is eliminating the block which prevented traffic on Second St. from moving out onto Main St. during the afternoon heavy travel hours, Chief of Police James McConnell said last night.

The chief pointed out that he has been regulating traffic at the intersection between 3:30 and 4 p. m. each day this week. Present plans call for continuing the practice at least until the situation is remedied.

Complaints about the congestion on Second St. has come mainly from employes of the Worthington Mower Co., police said.

They leave their plant at approximately 3:30 p. m. and converge upon the intersection at a time when workers from several East Stroudsburg industries are crossing the State bridge into Stroudsburg.

Periodic stopping of the westbound line to permit cars to leave Second St. "is working out well," Chief McConnell observed.

Lawrence Tibbett Appears At Playhouse Next Week

Mountainhome—Rowena Stevens, producer-manager of the Pocono playhouse, will present the famous star of opera and stage, Lawrence Tibbett, in Somerset Maughan's powerful drama "Rain" beginning Monday night, July 2, for a week's run.

Lawrence Tibbett

Mr. Tibbett, one of the most popular baritones the world has ever known, has a record of 25 consecutive years at the Metropolitan and was the first American artist to be recognized in operatic circles. Born in Bakersfield, Calif., it was not until he was 24 that he decided to go to New York to become a singer. In his first job as a singer in a choir, he came to the attention of Frances Alda, who interested her husband Gatti Cozazza in giving the young singer an audition. The first one was not a success, but he fared better in a second one and was offered a contract of $50 a week—which he managed to raise to $60—and signed.

His debut was as one of a duo off-stage voices and attracted so little attention that he was the only person who noticed that his name was misspelled on the program. One week later, he was called on to substitute for Vinconte Ballister as "Valentin" in "Faust" and was very favorably received. Curiously enough, his big chance came the next season when Ballister was again indisposed and Tibbett substituted for him in the role of "Ford" in "Falstaff." His performance literally stopped the show and ushered in a new era in operatic history for American artists.

Since then, Mr. Tibbett's triumphs have mounted steadily. At the Metropolitan he has sung more than 70 roles, including "Emperor Jones" which was especially written for him and in which he obtained one of the greatest successes of his career as the Pullman porter who became king. He is equally great in either French, German or Italian repertoire and was the first Metropolitan artist to ever appear in a full length musical, "Rogue Song" which ran for more than six months at the Astor theater

In the dramatic smash-hit "Rain," Mr. Tibbett in the role of Rev. Davidson the fanatic missionary, will bring his talents in both acting and singing to the audiences.

The play, made famous by the late Jeanne Eagles in more than 650 consecutive performances, tells of the inevitable conflict between a wanton girl marooned at the port of Pago Pago, and a missionary who is an implacable enemy of sin. Elsbeth Hoffman will be seen as Sadie Thompson, the easy-going girl from the bad lands of San Francisco.

Performances will be given every night through Saturday, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday afternoon. Reservations for seats may be made by calling Cresco 8401.

Navy Enlists Three County Young Men

Chief Petty Officer Lyman N. Price, in charge of the local U. S. Navy recruiting station, has announced the recent enlistments of three boys from the Stroudsburg area. They are:

Installation Of Officers Of Women Of Moose Order

Mrs. Ruth Smith was installed as senior regent of the Women of the Moose for the 1951-52 term at impressive ceremonies held at the Moose home, Washington St., East Stroudsburg, Tuesday night.

Gladys Mink, of East Stroudsburg, was installing chairman. The officers in charge of the inductions, all members of the Allentown lodge, were: Installing regent, Mrs. Lottie Moyer; installing chaplain, Mrs. Meda Yeager; installing guide, Mrs. Maggie Ross.

The other officers installed were: Graduate regent, Mrs. Josephine Shafer; junior regent, Mrs. Violet Palmer; chaplain, Betty Smith; recording secretary, Mrs. Emma V. Knob; treasurer, Mrs. Romaine LeBar. Each of the new officers was presented with a corsage of yellow carnations and deep purple sweetpeas, the colors of the lodge.

The new senior regent, Mrs. Smith, presented the members of the visiting installing team with lovely gifts. Mrs. Hazel King Gage was presented with her senior graduate regent pin and responded with brief remarks.

Mrs. Shafer thanked all the officers of the past year for their cooperation and assistance in securing 33 new members during her term of office as senior regent.

Mrs. Smith, the new senior regent appointed these committee chairmen: Kitchen, Mrs. Gage and Mrs. Jane Price; delinquents, Mrs. Shafer and birthdays, Mrs. Knob.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

You know, if we could just convince ourselves that as adults summer time doesn't necessarily mean vacation time anymore, we might settle down a little more happily to the work that has to be done, come summer or winter.

Somehow with school out, you keep feeling that you're on vacation, too. And your mounting irritation as the teen-agers sleep later each morning, and follow through the day with a magnificent disregard of clocks and timetables is sort of intensified by your desire to go and do likewise.

Clothes get dirty in summer, dirtier in fact; the family gets hungry, even hungrier; and the fact that breakfasts seems to be lasting until lunch time doesn't help any.

Oh well, next week the children will both be in camp, the house will be all straightened up, and I'll probably get my sleep out the first day and spend the other six missing them.

Discuss Plans St. John's Picnic At Playground

The teachers and officers of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church school last night discussed final arrangements for the annual picnic which will be held at the Stroudsburg playgrounds on July 18.

Ted Meyer, co-chairman of the committee of arrangements, reported that plans were making for the observance of the event, one of the outstanding events of the summer season of the school.

It was reported that the school would be represented at the summer sessions for teachers at the Lutheran ministerial camp, the former Turn place.

Add a little finely ground tongue, corned beef, or ham to potato puffs; serve with asparagus and broiled tomatoes. To prepare the tomatoes mix mayonnaise with a little prepared mustard and spread on the tomato halves before broiling until lightly browned. This menu makes a delightful summer luncheon.

Fidelia Class Meets At Home Of Mrs. Green

The Fidelia class of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church school met at the home of the teacher, Mrs. Miles Green, Phillips St., Monday night with 10 in attendance.

Mrs. Dorothy Drake led in the review of the Book of Joshua and the discussion which followed. Games were enjoyed, prize winners having been Mrs. Ethel Meyer and Mrs. Mildred Renninger.

Refreshments of fresh strawberry shortcake and sundaes were served from a table the centerpiece of which was spirea and water lillies.

Those in attendance in addition to those mentioned above were: Mrs. Ladora Bolcar, Mrs. Daniel Lyons, Mrs. Goldie Marsh, Mrs. Mildred Miller, Mrs. Mitchell Stackhouse, Mrs. Dorothy Rupert and Mrs. Green, the teacher.

Miss Strait Is Canasta Hostess

Mrs. Bennet Strait, of Delaware Water Gap, entertained friends at her home last night. Canasta was featured. Refreshments were served.

Among those present were: Mrs. Frank Cote, of Paulsboro, N. J., sister of Mrs. Strait; Miss Elsie Headley and Mrs. Keziah Hurff, of Swedesboro, N. J.; Miss Elmira Lippincott, of Woodstown, N. J., and Miss Edna Shoemaker, of Bridgeport, N. J.

Pocono Grange Plans For Busy Season Ahead

Tannersville — Pocono Grange No. 1415, met for its regular meeting and many worthwhile things were accomplished at that time. The grange extended their thanks to the supervisors of Pocono township in providing the much needed dumping ground for this community. The grange has worked many long hours on this project under the direction of Mrs. Charles Van Sciver, the past Lecturer and it was very gratifying on Friday evening to all the members to realize that at last this very worthwhile project has been accomplished. Information concerning rules and regulations for use of this dumping ground will be furnished all residents as soon as possible.

The master, Charles Van Sciver read an article and led a discussion on the state Trucking bill and the Oleo problem.

On Sunday, July 1, the grange will attend in a body the services at the Methodist church in Tannersville, at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Irene Hartman was installed as lecturer to succeed Mrs. Van Sciver, who resigned. Mrs. Hartman acquitted herself very well on the first night of her new office as lecturer.

Two members of the executive committee were present to discuss the new roof. Estimates were submitted by Frank Mooney. All members are urged to attend the next meeting on July 13, as the question of roof must be settled at this time. The executive committee members present were John Montgomery and A. J. Christmann.

Much discussion was held in reference to raising funds to pay for this roof and a traditional penny march was held. Plans will be completed at next meeting to arrange bazaars, suppers, card parties, etc., to pay for the roof.

The ladies of the grange are all very busy on their sewing projects, street dresses and square dance contest dresses, all of which must be judged and prepared for the State Grange.

Pocono Grange is going forward and with all the projects lined up and the increased membership in the past year a bright future looms.

Always cook vegetables in the shortest time possible in order to conserve nutritive values. Get your family used to the taste and texture of them when they are still tender-crisp rather than over-cooked and limp.

Miss Oxford, E. J. Lachner To Wed Today

Bangor—Miss Kathryn Mary Oxford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Oxford, of 129 Market St., this place, and Edgar Johann Lachner, son of Mrs. Otto Lachner and the late Mr. Lachner, of Tuckahoe, N. Y., will be wedded at Trinity Lutheran church, this place, this afternoon at 1:45 o'clock. Rev. Dr. J. Frederick Stolte, pastor, will officiate.

The bride will be attired in an ivory matakasse cocktail suit with blue accessories. She will carry a colonial bouquet of starlight roses, delphiniums and Bristol fairy.

The bride will be attended by Mrs. Leonard Van Horne as matron-of-honor. She will wear a lilac suit and violet accessories and will carry a bouquet of Briarcliff roses and delphinium.

The best man will be Leonard Van Horne, of Bangor.

A reception will follow at the bride's home. They will tour the Poconos and Rockport, Mass., on their honeymoon and will be at home at Tuckahoe after Aug. 1.

The bride is art supervisor of the Bangor public schools having received degrees at Kutztown State Teachers College and Penn State College. She is past president of the Junior Woman's club and B. P. W. She was the organizer and past president of the Slate Belt Artists Guild, member of Lehigh Art Alliance, Penn Guild of Craftsmen, Kittatinny art group and adult advisory board Bangor Youth center.

The bridegroom was graduated from Cornell University, and is employed as mechanical engineer of Foster-Wheeler Corp., New York City.

Aux. E. S. Pres. Church Hears Panel Talks

The Women's Auxiliary of the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian church held the final session for the season at the church last night with Mrs. Ella Flory, the president, in charge of both the executive board and regular meeting.

Mrs. Mary Dunning was in charge of the devotions during which she used the flowers mentioned in the Bible to illustrate her remarks. The offering taken at the meeting will be donated to the cause of medical missions both foreign and national.

Announcement was made that a bake sale would be held at Wyckoff's department store Friday afternoon of this week starting at 1 o'clock. Those having donations for the sale are to contact Mrs. Paul Dellaria.

The auxiliary has four boxes packed and ready for shipment to Germany filled with varied supplies, particularly those which can be used in the schools.

The theme of the meeting was "Christian Education Builds—Tomorrow—Today." Mrs. T. J. Brietwieser was in charge of this portion of the program which was divided in four parts.

Mrs. Horace Walters discussed the phase covering American Christian Colleges. The second was covered by Mrs. Nathan Meyer who discussed social education and action in the orient.

Mrs. Lynn Lantz spoke on the third part in which she took up the subject, the minister, the rabbi and their church of God. Mrs. Charles Schaller concluded the talks, dwelling on the Allied youth movement, telling of the excellent results achieved in the Barrett township project.

The Esther circle members were hosts for the meeting and served refreshments from a table decorated with spring flowers and candles.

Zion Sunday School Class Plans Meetings

The Faithful Workers class of Zion Evangelical Reformed Sunday school, Mrs. Fred Quig, teacher, met last night at the home of Mrs. Bertha Vallerschamp, 79 Monroe St. Mrs. Harry Hoffman, the president, was in charge. There were 14 in attendance.

The July meeting will be held in connection with the annual Sunday school picnic which will be held at the Stroudsburg playground. Mrs. Floyd Butz invited the class to hold the August meeting at her home, Chestnut St., East Stroudsburg, when a doggie roast will be enjoyed.

The Christmas card samples were displayed and selections made for handling the same, one of the projects of the class.

The hostesses for the night were Mrs. Vallerschamp, Mrs. Frank Blatt and Mrs. Walter Leckebusch, who served refreshments. It was also Mrs. Leckebusch's birthday which brought congratulations.

Those in attendance in addition to those mentioned above were: Mrs. Carrie Pipher, Mrs. Richard Scheeley, Mrs. Mary Vough, Mrs. Walter Hoffman, Mrs. Ruth Bossard, Mrs. Ernest Setzer, Mrs. Clementine Croasdale and Mrs. D. W. Frankenfield.

For a Coffee Milk Shake, shake together a cup of cold milk, a half-cup of cold strong coffee, a tablespoon of sugar, and a dash of cinnamon. To make this into a Frosted, add a small scoop of vanilla ice cream and shake again until well blended.

Baseball School At Giffels Field Today

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Washington, N. J., top team in the Tri-County League, came to town with the reputation of being one of the best amateur and semi-pro baseball teams in this part of Pennsylvania and quickly lived up to its advance billing by beating Pocono A. C. handily, 16-9. In fact, the charges of Manager Ken Riley added insult to injury by sending Riley's very young son to center field in the final inning. However, proper support behind Russell "Lindy" Transue, second A. C. hurler, might have made the outcome close or even a victory for the home team.

The crowd attending the season's initial night game was disappointing and the future of the arc-light sport in Monroe County isn't any too bright at the present time. However, an increase in patronage could keep night baseball in operation for the remainder of the summer. The A. C. contingent is slated to play Stockertown under the lights on the W. Main St. field on Friday, the same night that Joie Chitwood makes his appearance at Delaware Valley Speedway.

Jack Ryan, a member of the Shawnee Inn golfing staff, made a hit with the people at Glen Brook Country club the other day, when the popular professional toured the local 18-hole layout in 71 strokes, while paying a visit to Mike Rubish, popular Glen Brook pro. Ryan went out in 35 and toured the back nine in 36. This column was informed that if a couple of hanging putts would have dropped, Ryan would have completed his tour of the course in less than 70 strokes.

Ray "Pike" Fredericks is the low qualifier for the Glen Brook Club championship at the present time, touring the course in 75 strokes during his qualifying round. Augie Lockwitch, defending title holder, qualified recently with a score of 77. Lockwitch, Fredericks and Harold Storms played in the foursome with Ryan the other day. Storms and Ralph "Pete" Arnold are becoming popular choices to bag the Glen Brook title this year, on the strength of their play in recent weeks.

Charley Schneider Jr., North Hills, Pa.; Rod Munday, Yorktown, Pa., and Henry Williams, Jr., Kutztown, are three pros currently playing in the PGA tournament that make annual appearances at Shawnee. Barney Lutz, former manager of the Carbondale Pioneer Blues, North Atlantic League, recently singled for the only hit of the game, against Charley "Chuck" Hagy, Springfield, Lutz is managing the Lima, O. entry in the class "D" Ohio-Indiana League this season.

Easton is still technically a member of the Tri-County league, but the ax will apparently fall at any moment. The league is trying to find somebody to run the club, but at the latest report there were no takers. Jack Stehlin, popular catcher with the Stroudsburg Poconos in 1949 and part of 1950 is now a member of the air corps and is currently managing the baseball team at Sheppard Field, Wichita Falls, Texas. George Sente and outfielder with the Poconos last season, recently hit a grand-slam home run for Eau Claire, Wis., class "C" Northern league, against Grand Forks.

Ed Varhely, ace southpaw hurler for the Poconos in 1949, is now chucking them up for Dallas, of the class "AA" Texas league, a Cleveland farm. Ed, who won 20 and lost only two with the Poconos, is currently sporting a record of four wins and two defeats, having pitched in 23 games, faced 71 batters and struck out 26, for an average of .667. Harry Schaffer, southpaw hurler with the Poconos in 1946 and 1947 and a graduate of ESSTC, has a mark of ten wins and five setbacks for Beaumont, a Yankee farm, in the same league. Schaffer has appeared in 16 games, faced 133 batters, fanned 57 and is currently sporting a mark of .667.

Frank Radler, manager of the Poconos in 1948, 1949 and 1950, now has his DeLand, Fla. club in first place by two and one-half games over Orlando, in the class "D" Florida State league. Evansville, Ind., has pulled into third place in the class "B" Three I league during the past week. Harry Warner, a resident of Reeders in the off-season, is holding down first base for Evansville.

GOING OVER—Action of the type pictured above will be commonplace tomorrow night, when Joe Chitwood's Thrill Show makes its first appearance at the Delaware Valley Speedway, located near the Stroudsburg-East Stroudsburg airport.

Roll-Over Contest To Feature Chitwood's Daredevil Show

World's championship roll-over contest with the nation's greatest stunt stars rolling speeding stock sedans end-over-end and side-over-side in a furious battle of men and machines will be staged as an added attraction when the Joie Chitwood World's Champion Auto Daredevils appear at the Delaware Valley Speedway tomorrow at 8:30 p. m.

In this unique contest, a group of Chitwood's stuntmen are selected to roll stock sedans end-over-end and side-over-side until the automobiles are completely demolished. The daredevil rolling his car the most times in front of the grandstand is declared the winner. Points are awarded each stuntman, however, and these are totaled at the end of the season. The "crash" artist with the largest number of total points is declared the season's winner and world's champion. A purse of $1,500 is awarded the winner by Chitwood at the season's end.

Interest

This championship roll-over tournament creates considerable interest among the daredevils themselves and results in a "great show" for the spectators as these wild-riding motor maniacs deliver these slam-bang roll-over and batter their machines into a pulp, rolling the cars until they refuse to budge an inch.

Chitwood will bring to the Delaware Valley Speedway the same troupe of stuntmen who staged the thrilling and spectacular film sequences in the MGM movie, "To Please a Lady" which starred Clark Gable and Barbara Stanwyck.

Phillies To Hold Camp Three Days

A large contingent of boys between the ages of 16 and 23 are expected to be on hand today at Gordon Giffels field, when the Philadelphia Phillies present the first of three baseball school sessions to be held at the local ball yard. There will be one session today, the same number tomorrow and another on Saturday.

Instruction will be given each day from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., with Cy Morgan, veteran scout of the National League champions, in charge of the entire affair.

Staff

Marty Baldwin, well known local sportsman, and Jack Kist and Jerry Stulgaitis, baseball and football coaches at East Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg High schools respectively, will be included on the clinic staff.

Boys in the above mentioned age group are required to have their own gloves and shoes and are asked to be uniformed if possible, although the latter isn't absolutely necessary.

The Phillies will supply bats and balls for the school.

Any diamond hopeful signed to a contact in the Phillies' system will be repayed for any expense incurred while attending the tryout school sessions.

Cardinals Run Over Cubs, 14-2

St. Louis (AP)—With Enos Slaughter pacing the drive with four hits, the St. Louis Cardinals swamped the Chicago Cubs 14 to 2 last night behind some fine relief pitching by Harry Brecheen. Five Chicago errors helped the St. Louis scoring along.

The Red Birds punched across enough to win in the first inning then kept adding runs except for the second, fifth and eighth innings.

Joe Presko started for St. Louis but was pulled for Brecheen after three innings when Manager Marty Marion decided the young rookie didn't have it. A home run by Phil Cavarretta in the third helped form the decision.

Early Runs

Walks to Tommy Glaviano, Stan Musial and Del Rice, a single by slaughter and errors by Bruce Edwards and Eddie Miksis accounted for the first-inning tallies.

The Cubs other run came in the second when Randy Jackson tripled and scored on Miksis' grounder.

The Redbirds' biggest inning was the sixth when they scored four times. A walk to Glaviano, a wild pitch, a safe bunt by Harry Lowrey and single by Musial finally spelled the end for Cub Starter Bob Schultz. The count was 9-1 at the time.

Reds Gain Nod Over Pirates

Cincinnati (AP)— A walk followed by a barrage of three singles drove young Bob Friend to the showers in the seventh inning last night and brought the Cincinnati Reds a 2 to 1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. Bill Howerton's ninth inning home run with two out gave Pittsburgh it's only run.

Willie Ramsdale, winning his sixth victory as against seven defeats, was within one strike of a shutout when Howerton blasted his round tripper. Howerton also had a double for the Pirates.

Anxious Moments

The Reds had some anxious moments after Howerton's wallop. Bobby Adams' error allowed Joe Garagiola to reach first and Jack Phillip's towering drive went all the way to the left field wall before Lloyd Merriman hauled it in to end the game.

Friend allowed only two hits in the first six innings but the Reds got to him in a hurry in the seventh.

Favorites Bow Out Of Tourney

Surprise

Ross Mitchell, 20-year-old Southern Methodist junior who ambles his 200 pounds around slowly on any occasion, scored the first surprise. He defeated medalist Sam Kocsis of Detroit, 32-year-old father of three children, two up.

Tom Crabbe, 19-year-old University of Iowa sophomore who weighs only 140 pounds although he's six-foot, one-inch tall, counted the matching upset. He downed medalist runner-up Billy Maxwell of North Texas State, one up in 19 holes.

Murphy Gives LaMotta Savage Beating As Bout Is Stopped After Seven Rounds By Ring Doctor

Yankee Stadium, New York (AP)—Irish Bob Murphy slashed Jake La Motta's face into a bloody pulp last night to stop the ex-middleweight champion on a technical knockout after seven rounds of head-to-head battering. Dr. Vincent Nardiello stopped the blood letting with Jake spouting red from slashes around both eyes and mouth.

Although announcer Johnny Addie announced the bout was stopped when Jake was unable to come out for the eighth no bell ever rang. Referee Ray Miller said it was an official round knockout under New York rules.

Everybody was as confused as LaMotta, who now has been stopped three times but still never knocked off his feet in 97 pro bouts.

Bleeding Badly

Bleeding badly from the cuts of his eyes and lip, LaMotta told Dr. Nardiello he "felt weak" when he questioned him in his corner after the seventh. He had been taking a savage beating from the Irishman from San Diego in the last three rounds.

Heavier than he ever fought before at 175 pounds, Jake was slow. The extra 15 pounds he picked up since February 14 when he lost his title to Ray Robinson at Chicago obviously did him no good.

Murphy, on the other hand, was sharp at 175 and one-half about his best fighting weight.

That swinging right uppercut that the ex-gob poured at LaMotta's chin from his southpaw stance chopped Jake down round by round.

Wading past the raking hooks of almost stationary Jake, the tousled red-haired slugger conducted an effective head-hunting expedition. Seldom did he stray to the body.

For a time in the third it looked like the eight and one-half to five odds on favorite Murphy might be out of line. Time after time LaMotta hammered hooks past Murphy's porous defense. It was all at close range with pal Jakey hooking in a good flurry at the bell.

Easter, Rosen Lead Indians To Nod Over Browns

Cleveland (AP)—Homers by Luke Easter and Al Rosen paced a 12-hit attack with which the Cleveland Indians beat the St. Louis Browns, 8-1 last night to sweep a two-game series with the last-placers.

Johnny Bero's third homer of the season was the only St. Louis run.

Easter, who won Wednesday night's game with an eleventh inning home run, drove in four of the runs last night with his homer and two singles.

Long Smack

He belted his tenth four-bagger in the seventh off Bill Kennedy, the second of three Brownie chuckers. The blow over right field came after Harry Simpson had forced Bob Avila. Al Rosen, next man up, smacked his eleventh homer over the left field fence.

Vets, American Legion Clash

Donkey baseball fans of Monroe county will have an opportunity to see their favorite act on Monday night, when the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion Post get together in a real old-fashioned diamond draw. The contest will begin at 8.

Local Posts

The game will feature the George N. Kemp American Legion Post, East Stroudsburg, against the Thomas P. Lambert, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post, Stroudsburg, at Gordon Giffels field. The game will be played under the lights.

Dalton Serfass' Spartans will go all out to take Frank Weller's Warriors into camp, while the Vets will be attempting to turn the tables.

The game, usually as funny as a circus, will pit two rival service organizations against each other and each club is expected to have a large delegation of supporters on hand, while a still larger crowd of impartial fans is also expected to watch the action.

Swim Meet Listed For Shawnee Pool

Shawnee-on-Dlaware— The annual Shawnee Invitation championship swimming meet will be held at the Shawnee Inn and Country club pool here Sunday afternoon, July 15.

With acceptance piling up rapidly this year's meet will, according to Charles Roeser, chairman of the National AAU swimming committee and coach of the U. S. Olympic swimming team, be one of the top events in the country.

University of North Carolina's Jimmy Thomas, who was a member of the U. S. team which made a successful tour of Japan a few months ago and who is now training at Yale University; Mike Daly, junior Olympic diving champion from Baltimore; and Ralph Trimborn, mid-western intercollegiate diving champion from the University of Michigan, are a few of the men who already have accepted invitations.

Women

Maureen O'Brien, women's national backstroke champion from Red Bank, N. J.; Eleanor Toy, senior New York women's diving champion; Mary Croake, senior New Jersey freestyle champion; Mary Ann Walsh, Scranton, Middle Atlantic freestyle champion; and Kitty Carney, Middle Atlantic District backstroke champion from Philadelphia are some of the women already entered.

This year's meet will be the final event for most of the swimmers before they compete in the national championships at Detroit later in the month.

The Invitation swimming meet heralds the opening of a full week of competition at Shawnee. On Monday, July 16 "Golf Week" starts with a diffrent tournament scheduled for each day until Sunday. The golf events will include a pro-ladies, pro-member, and the Shawnees vs Delawares team championships.

Shawnee opened its outstanding array of sporting events for the season last week, when the annual Invitation Golf Tournament was held over a four-day period.

Tom Robbins, Larchmont, N. Y., won the tournament and medalist honors that go with the first day of play.

Tigers Come To Life In Late Innings To Gain Verdict Over League-Leading White Sox, 3-2

Chicago (AP) —The Detroit Tigers bunched two singles, a sacrifice and a long run scoring fly in the eighth inning to edge out the pace-setting Chicago White Sox, 3-2, before 12,696.

Virgil Trucnks, coming to the rescue of starter Ted Gray in the seventh, received credit for his second victory of the season. Harry Dorish, who replaced Saul Rogovin in the eighth, was charged with the loss—his second against three victories.

The start of the game was delayed 53 minutes because of a noon time downpour. An hour after the start of the game, black clouds settled over Comiskey park and it became so dark that plate umpire Jim Honochick ordered the field lights turned on.

Stops Foe

Gray, with a record of three victories against seven defeats, shackled the White Sox with two hits until the fifth inning. Then two singles, plus a base on balls, enabled the Chicagoans to score. Rogovin, facing his former teammates for the first time since he was traded to the Sox six weeks ago, held the Tigers to three hits through the sixth inning.

With one out in the seventh, however, the Tigers blasted into a 2-1 lead on a walk, two singles and a sacrifice that went for a fielder's choice with all runners safe. After Pat Mullin flied out. Dick Kryhoski walked and Hoot Evers dropped a single into right.

Charley Keller, batting for Aaron Robinson, also singled to right, scoring Kryhoski, and sending Evers to third. Gray bunted and when Rogovin threw late to second base, Evers scored with the lead run.

The Tigers forged into their 3-2 lead in the eighth off the pitching of reliefer Harry Dorish. George Kell singled to left and was sacrificed by Vic Wertz. Pat Mullin scratched a single past Carrasquel, sending Kell to third. Dick Kryhoski flied to center, with Kell scoring the lead run.

Red Sox Stage Rally To Triumph Over A's, 6-5

Boston (AP) — The Boston Red Sox overcame a 13-hit attack, including homers by Lou Klein and Gus Zernial, yesterday to pull out a 6-5 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Triples by Dom DiMaggio and Billy Goodman, plus singles by pinchhitter Charley Maxwell and Ted Williams, enabled the Red Sox to come from behind with a three-run rally in the seventh inning.

Injured

Ray Scarborough, the starting Boston pitcher, was struck on the back of the head by a pickoff pitch after he singled against righthander Carl Scheib in the third inning.

Scarborough was removed to a Cambridge hospital which reported him suffering from a bruise near his right ear.

Dodgers Run Over Giants

New York (AP)—Two big blasts, featuring three-run homers by Andy Pafko and "Duke" Snider, carried the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 10-4 triumph over the New York Giants yesterday and increased their National League lead to six games over their interborough rivals.

Big Don Newcombe recovered from a rocky start to finish in a blaze of glory. He retired the last ten batters as he recorded his tenth victory of the season.

Good Stuff

Newcombe really had it yesterday in sharp contrast to New York's Jim Hearn who was slugged for eight of Brooklyn's 11 hits before he was derricked in a six-run sixth inning. The Dodgers' other runs came in the fourth after Hearn had held them scoreless through the first three frames.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

THURSDAY, JUNE 28, 1951

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Don't take the wrong meanings or inferences, which mislead both you and others. Smile and assist the underdog, IF he is right. Sympathy should be wisely used. Aim to know the facts.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)— You may have little encouragement from others, especially in financial or business matters. You can likely make easier headway in personal contacts, planning of future efforts.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—Generous aspects that could be used in many ways to advance your status. Heart interests also favored along with family matters. Courtesy and kindly answers are top-raters.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Should not be very tricky period from which you versatile, industrious natives can reap results. Be an early bird, and consistent and you can advance appreciably.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)—With steady pace, cheerfulness in business you can go ahead to good gains. Caution highlights essential matters, says bypass non-useful endeavors. Hold disposition in check.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo)—Today may test your knack for finding ways of making something out of little. Hold to a sound, healthy schedule well planned and you can achieve. Give heed to others' suggestions.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Excellent planetary outlook for most efforts well presented. Don't let influences sway you from high objectives. You have foresight, use this, all your gifts and attain.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—A word to the wise is enough to you apt, clever folks. Stay away from contention and unscrupulous people. Be a careful onlooker and be better off spiritually, mentally, all ways.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—Learn to say "no" and stick to it in questionable propositions, deals that can't stand close study. Be sanely conservative. Don't take a chance with your reputation.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Your path may be obstructed with things that do not concern you. Treat them that way and you can achieve more goals. Don't force issues and injure health. Watch habits.

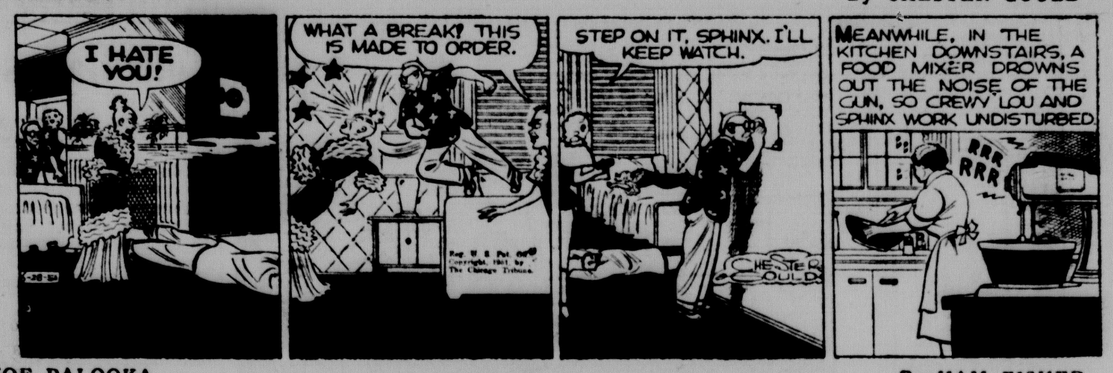

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Planetary aspects fine, use everything to best advantage. Honorable effort begets just reward, but maybe not immediately. Keep within your sphere of capability to deliver well.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Even if you feel sure you are right, do not start without rechecking, especially in money and character matters. News helpful if you analyze rightly. Don't over-extend.

YOU BORN TODAY: have plenty of tenacity and business grit to put over difficult propositions. Try not to be too sensitive, to pay too much attention to others' chatter and you will have less of nervousness. Bearer of an excellent memory, you are naturally industrious, domestic; can be wise saver. Many fine assets, can make especial headway in art, music, in Government or as manager of business employing many people. Be wise about health needs, especially regarding stomach. Don't take on more than you can handle.

Reynolds Hurls Third Straight Shutout, 2-0

Washington, (AP)—Allie Reynolds pitched his third straight shutout and lifted the New York Yankees within one game of the league-leading Chicago White Sox by beating Washington, 2-0 on five hits last night.

Reynolds, who hasn't allowed a run in 28 and two-thirds innings or a base on balls in 34 and two-thirds innings, won his eighth decision and his fifth in a row.

Don Johnson and Tom Ferrick, both ex-Yankees, held New York to seven hits, but the run the Yankees gave Reynolds in the first inning proved sufficient.

Phil Rizzuto opened the game with a double to right, moved to third on Hank Bauer's grounder and scored on Gene Woodling's single to center.

The Yankees obtained their other run in the sixth inning with some luck.

The Senators moved only one man to third base, when Gene Verble tripled with one out in the fifth inning.

Rain Halts Four Games In Local Area

Rain and wet grounds raised havoc with the baseball and softball scene in Monroe County last night, with all four contests on the agenda being postponed until a later date.

Penn-Stroud Hotel held a 2-0 lead over Stroudsburg Security Trust with two runners on base and one out in the second inning when the rains came and knocked the Stroudsburg Little League tilt off the books at the Stroudsburg playground.

Tonight's agenda in the same circuit sends the First Stroudsburg National Bank against the Security Trust club, on the same field.

East Stroudsburg

Cramer's Lumber Co. and the National Bank were deadlocked 1-1 in the bottom of the second inning when the rain forced postponement of the contest until a later date.

Tonight's schedule in this league will find Peter-Arnold-Howell opposing Cramer Lumber Co., at the East Stroudsburg playground.

Both Monroe County Softball League contests were also postponed last night, when showers hit this area.

Tonight's schedule in this loop will send Kulp's Foundry against IAM, on the junior high field, while Worthington Mower and Union Printers come to blows at the playground. Both tilts are listed for 6:15.

Blue Mountain League Lists Four Tilts On Tonight's Slate

A full schedule will be featured in the Blue Mountain league tonight, when all eight clubs are scheduled to move into action, on four fronts. In all cases, games get under way at 6:15.

Pocono A. C., a half-game off the pace being set by Roseto A. A., will invade the home domain of the Tatamy Indians, with Chet Lucki slated to be the starting hurler for the number two club in the circuit at the present time.

Outfield

Another important struggle on tonight's agenda will send Roseto against Stockertown, on the latter's home field, as the first and seventh place teams in the loop come to blows

West Bangor, in fourth place, will play host to sixth place Portland, on the former's home diamond, at Bangor's Memorial field.

Third place East Bangor will be at home with cellar-dwelling Johnsonville, with the former interested in moving closer to the top rung of the standings.

Ferrier Leads PGA Field In Qualifying

Oakmont, Pa. (AP)—Jim Ferrier, the stoop-shouldered Australian native with the kinky swing and seeing-eye putter, wove a pattern of birdies over hazardous Oakmont yesterday to take the first round qualifying lead in the Professional Golfers Association Tournament with a three-under-par 69.

The big San Franciscan out-putted ten greens, sinking four nudges of from 16 to 40 feet, and planted a total of eight birdies on the spacious, marble surfaces. He had only 26 putts for the day.

Low Scores

Ferrier's remarkable round gave him a two-stroke advantage over defending champion Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., and four others—bracketed at 71 — going into day's final 18 holes of qualifying.

Tied at 71 with Harper were the host professional, lantern-jawed Lew Worsham, Lloyd Mangrum, the tough little battler, from Niles, Ill., Ed "Porky" Oliver of Seattle, and 32-year-old Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., getting his baptism in the PGA.

Foes Of Tax Still Maintain United Front

Harrisburg— Reaffrming his personal position that "new taxes are unnecessary," Sen. Montgomery F. Crowe (R-Monroe) said here yesterday that all of the eleven other GOP senators opposed to further taxation" have adopted that phrase not only as a slogan but a firm principle."

"When we say no taxes are necessary, we mean sales tax, income tax or mercantile tax," Senator Crowe asserted.

He said he did not attend the breakfast meeting called by G. Mason Owlett and that any reports than any single one of the 12 senators "is wavering" is without foundation.

Senator Crowe said all members of the Senate are deeply incensed over a statement made late yesterday before adjournment by Sen. Newell Wood (R-Luzerne), spokesman for Governor Fine on the income tax, repudiating the leadership of Sen. John M. Walker (R-Allegheny) as floor leader in the Senate.

Senator Wood, according to Crowe, said the Governor is repudiating Walker's leadership, thereby severing relationships between the executive office and Walker.

"The entire Senate is incensed," Crowe said. 'After all we are a separate entity—the legislative branch—and as such we have every right to elect and support our own officers and leaders without the dictates of the executive branch.

"It is just a bit more evidence of the single purpose of the executive branch to force taxes on the people regardless of the desires of a majority of the Senate and a vast majority of the people," Senator Crowe declared.

"We intend to stand by the leader we have selected — Senator Walker—and to maintain our stand that economies and upward revision of revenues will combine to save the people from taxation without in any way harming appropriations to education, teachers, hospitals, welfare and other services," he declared.
